FOREWORD

Let us firstly clear any confusion with the title of this book. What do we mean by ETs and aliens? This use of two terms for extraterrestrials is becoming less of a redundancy as we observe that the tendency is occurring to designate a benevolent extraterrestrial by 'ET', but use the term 'alien' for a negative, unenlightened extraterrestrial.

What is happening on this planet at this time is beyond the imagination of any science-fiction writers. The orthodox system and control mechanism denies the average public access to this knowledge and this is achieved essentially by manipulating the belief system of the naive population.

Let us briefly examine the state of mind and information regarding what is believed or not believed, in particular, concerning this subject of extraterrestrials.

Imagine a civilisation such as ours in which everyone knew that an advanced ET had visited us and had written a book, published by a major publisher, about matters that previously would be regarded as science fiction to us. Assuming this was believed then we can say with some confidence virtually everyone would be interested in reading this book; to contemplate and maybe absorb the wisdom from more advanced thinking, read of advanced technologies which are possible and to experience an expansion of one's consciousness.

The point we are making here is that this is happening today—there are many such books (also ones to be wary of) but people are being steered away from them. And the basic reason is to hold back their awakening. Amongst all the interacting elements and complexities of our civilisation is the principal purpose of change from a third-dimensional spectrum to the fourth-dimensional spectrum of energies and frequencies; this is what ascension (and evolution, ultimately) is all about. Many 'tools' are being used to prevent this transition: science and technology, art, music, education, films and publications, and in fact the media in general.

Let us now add the following scenario to the above. This civilisation has developed a society with highly organised education, entertainment, religion, healing practices, law enforcement and government. Nevertheless it perpetuates a relatively mundane existence amongst its members; is even regimented; and small talk is the norm. Minds are only allowed to be structured from censored information. The population is programmed to receive, believe in, accept, only information through the media, major book publishers, scientific works, government, education, films, etc. and most of the regular sources of information and entertainment are formatted to create a brainwashed society that began its mind-manipulation programs virtually at birth.

Now simultaneously there is an equally expansive existence of knowledge that does not fit into the controlled format. There are effective alternatives to healing practices, spiritual teaching, even books by advanced extraterrestrials with superior advice and invaluable information in general. This latter category of 'unorthodox' information is filtered off from the regular by thorough programming, which formats the mind so that it can only accept mundane everyday, limited information.

There is a huge amount of valuable knowledge flooding this planet at this privileged time from other dimensions. Anyone can realise that selected information from this vast field is much more intelligent than human-based material, not to mention the fact that a human could not remotely speak as fluently as do many of the channeled sources. The public is being deliberately brainwashed to avoid these sources since it may cause them to wake up from the hypnotically-induced focus imposed on our civilisation.

Nevertheless all belief systems are valid but they may not be equally practical or valuable for one's learning and survival. You can have one person disbelieving in UFOs and ETs, no interest in the meaning of life, is incorrigibly sceptical about any healing technology apart from orthodox medicine, believes a government could only be benevolent, thinks the presence of ETs is a rarity, believes only the fiction of mythology, ancient gods, etc. And this person could have a neighbour whose viewpoint is the other side of the coin on all these issues.

One might consider the above-described overview of this civilisation to be improbable and not a reality. But it is precisely the state of affairs on this planet today. The reality that individuals and groups focus on will determine the nature of their existence, and the mind will filter off anything which is not within their belief system.

Today this represents an enormous amount of valid but discouraged or suppressed material that is outside the controlled and official knowledge. This manipulation alone is sufficient to perpetuate a condition of ignorance, achieved by deceiving the public to believe that only objective knowledge is reliable—that which has been proved by so-called scientific methodology.

There are other ways of knowing, some of which are more dependable than objectivity. We have known for thousands of years on this planet that the condition of objectivity, separating the observer from the observed, creates an interdependence, not an independence. In other words, the observation is contextual—it is dependent on the observer. This knowledge of the observation process is elementary in Buddhism and has been proved in quantum physics, but oddly is not being scientifically applied to everyday, macroscopic phenomena.

Thus we can go with the suppression of knowledge and believe only what a few scientists can ‘prove’, discarding 99 percent of possible facts extending into very advanced levels of thinking or potential science, or we can use our right brain to evaluate the ‘unproved’ data and obtain some certainty on its validity; thus then covering a much more vast field of useful information. Tests of truth in physics can be used, in particular, generalisations and consistency of a construct or theory.

The sources of information in this book, mainly channeling, have been examined closely. In certain major areas where there is a discrepancy between different sources, any incongruity is pointed out.

For the sceptic, the material of the book could be looked upon as providing a service—making available the main body of ET information on this planet in one easily-read volume. And, in addition, enabling the reader to become an expert on ET information in a matter of a few hours reading.

CHAPTER 1

THE DRAKON MENACE

Are you afraid of reptiles? Almost everyone is afraid of some species of reptile. One may wonder why this is. Some people will comment in agreement with this that naturally one is uncomfortable with them on the basis of their appearance. But is this really a justifiable reason?

We tend to cringe from spiders but not flies. Spiders are basically no more fearful or ugly in appearance than flies, or many other acceptable insects. Perhaps the reptilian fear connects with our past and the alien entities that have controlled us for so long. Notice the extent to which serpents are used by us as symbols, for example, the medical association logos consisting of two coiled serpents referred to as the caduceus, and the dragons of royalty emblems, viz: Imperial and Royal Court of the Dragon Sovereignty; not to mention the alignment of many ancient monuments with the Draco (dragon) constellation. Some further and positive examples of reptilian associations are: 1) that the Sirians used symbols to depict themselves and this is why Noah received information about the ark from a 'serpent', 2) the kundalini energy at the base of the spine, described as a coiled serpent ready to strike and rising up the spine in a snake-like manner, aligning the chakras in enlightenment and activation of the 12-strand DNA (see appendix), and 3) the Mayan Great Calendar, based on the ratio 13/20 (serpent fangs regrow every 20 days and there are 13 scales to a side in the diamond pattern of interlocking squares on the serpent's (Ahu Can's) skin). The calendar aids the awakening serpent (kundalini) and is an archetypal guide for transmutation, and demonstrates that the future creates the present. As a further point, channeling has indicated that our blood would be green if we didn't utilise oxygen, say, nitrogen instead, as some ETs do. Thus the skin would be greenish, resembling the reptile colour.

Once upon a time, about a million years ago actually, planet Earth was invaded by the Drakon. Yes, this is spelled correctly but you're right it does relate to dragons and presumably the origin of the term 'dragon'. More specifically Atlantis was menaced by the Drakon. And yes, there's little doubt that Atlantis was real—a large continent in the Atlantic ocean.

The Drakon came from reptilian extraterrestrials far within the galaxy and are now higher dimensional (not within our frequency spectrum). This original ancient race consists of highly intelligent and benevolent beings which are now said to be located in harmonic universe number 3; we are in harmonic universe number 1. We can think of these universes in layers, that is, tiered but connected by portals—like black holes or worm holes. Now, as appears to be fairly common amongst many races, a digressive strain developed within this civilisation. The Drakon is the name given to this deviant strain, which separated from the dominant race of benevolent beings—presumably the Drakon were banished or simply left behind as the parent race ascended; this is not unusual. This group has caused the most disruptive contamination of the human DNA. Amazingly, even Darwinism is in accord with a reptilian-origin theory and academics have recognised similarities between the reptilian brain and the human brain. The R-complex (reptilian complex) component in the brain functions to give dinosaur-type traits: aggressive behaviour, territorially oriented and a need for social hierarchies.

Thus the Drakon are a reptilian race fragmented from the original civilisation, endowed with a negative character and evil purposes due to a blocked heart centre and inability to feel compassion for others. They are highly intelligent beings, upright in physical appearance, with war-like and aggressive natures, and they came to inhabit a star system in the Orion constellation.

The ancient reptilians, in attempting to bring some organisation to this area of the galaxy, have become scattered throughout many systems and originally came to Earth 225 million years ago. We are now approaching a complete time cycle of this period in which Earth's position is now in the same location spatially it was in the galaxy 225 million years ago. Thus this is the start of a new stage in biological evolution. The name Draco has been used in literature for a planet in this Orion system, plus references to Draconian Alliance, and that these particular Ori- ons wish to bring Earth under the Draconian Empire.

To continue, about one million years ago the Drakon came to Earth from Orion. They were expert geneticists and scientists and experimented with the human genetic code, creating hybrids. These hybrids are known as the Dracos—a combination of human and Drakon traits achieved by contamination of the human genetic code. The Dracos consider Earth their birthright and have been manipulating this planet to a large degree for about half a million years from underground. The Dracos are tall, around seven feet, with human-looking bodies but with scales and reptilian faces. In addition to facial appearance they also resemble the Drakon in temperament. Moreover, their overall appearance is more lizard-like than dragon. The reptilian races are also called the Lizzies.

It might be of interest to mention that the Drakon tampered with the DNA of the dinosaurs at this time (about one million years ago), which according to extraterrestrial information were a creation from other ET experiments about 375,000,000 years ago. (The reader should not get bogged down with orthodox historical time periods since all such education is based on the context of a single human civilisation on this planet—there were many. Time estimations can be very confusing, in particular, since spacetime is basically nonlinear.) Note that most of the Drakon information here was obtained from the extraordinary books, Voyagers, volume 1 and 2, by Anna Hayes transmitted from the Guardian Alliance. (Anna Hayes' material is not channeled.)

The result of these new experiments by the Drakon on the genetic code of the dinosaurs, into which their own genes were spliced with traits of an aggressive nature, was the creation of the carnivorous dinosaurs, for example, Tyrannosaurus Rex. These fearsome monsters referred to as Drakon monitors were used to subdue and control the human populations.

For those readers interested in satanic information the Dracos possessed a genetic configuration known as the '666' —a mutation imposed by the Elohim (advanced beings from higher-universe dimensions) on certain species to prevent interbreeding. The '666' refers to disabling of the 6th overtone in each of strand one, five and six. That is, three 6s. See Appendix for 12-strand DNA description.

Now the Drakon and the hybrid Dracos also created the chupacabras that some readers will have read about in magazines and foreign newspapers recently, with claims of dinosaur-type appearances of these small (human-sized) lizard creatures.

The genetic distortion of human DNA created by the Drakon threatened the continuation of the human species. With the assistance of the Anunnaki ETs from the star system Sirius A, plans were made to dispose of the Drakon problem on Earth. (Note that this is not the Anunnaki resistance that is an ally of the Dracos.) They devised a method for utilising the power from the Earth's grid to destroy the underground habitats of the Drakon and Dracos. The plan failed, however, creating an explosion within the Earth's crust, causing climactic upheavals, earthquakes, slight pole shift, flooding, and land-mass destruction. This resulted in a small global ice period but lasting several thousands of years, causing unhealthy climactic effects and many humans to go underground, and the Dracos to leave or fail to survive.

Humans eventually returned to the surface and endeavoured to rebuild their lives but the interbreeding with the Drakon had contaminated the genetic lines. Several other ET groups that came to Earth exploited these negative circumstances to conduct further genetic experiments. As a result of the distorted human blueprint some primitive man varieties were created and also more ape-like forms. Thus on this basis these particular species of primitive man and ape came from intelligent man not the other way round.

In case of any confusion, one may wonder if the Dracos and Drakon came from the astronomically recognised constellation named Draco. Not unless this is an amazing synchronicity. The pattern of stars of the Draco system is in fact a Dragon but these creature symbols and images for constellations normally have no significance; they are just a method of identifying stars and they act as a mnemonic.

Now humans were very vulnerable to being controlled. According to the Voyagers volumes the civilisation at that time consisted of Atlanians and Lamanians which, due to the initial Dracos/Drakon DNA contamination, from which further mutations were created, the races fragmented and became warring. The Atlanians began to disregard the Law of One.

At this point the Anunnaki, a race with reptilian traits and friendly with the Dracos, came to earth bringing a creed that was a distortion of the Law of One. The Anunnaki created teachings that would make them appear as Gods to humans, promoting easier submission. Their teachings were also designed to disempower women and to inhibit their resistance to the Anunnaki advances.

The Anunnaki thus created a hybrid human-Anunnaki, who was referred to as the Nephilim, around 950,000 years ago—see Chapter 2.

CHAPTER 2

THE NEPHILIM/ANUNNAKI

Most extraterrestrial species have deviant offshoots and the Anunnaki (from Sirius A, mentioned previously) were no exception. The name of these advanced beings, ‘Anunnaki’, presumably derived from their king or god Anu. The Anunnaki lineage apparently goes back to the Elohim, who in turn are a digression from the Elohei—beings from a higher-dimensional universe who very much oversee and monitor the human race’s development.

Now this strain of spiritually-deficit beings eventually inhabited the planet Nirbiru. This planet has been written about by Zecharia Sitchin in his books and also channeled sources. The planet Nibiru is apparently larger than Jupiter and unexpectedly is a member of our own solar system. It could be called the twelfth planet if we accept that the planetoid Chiron is included in the tote and also the asteroids between Mars and Jupiter, which are fragments remaining after the break up of Maldek, an earlier planet of our solar system.

Astronomers have now corroborated the existence of the body named Nibiru— though there is still speculation as to whether it is a planet. Nevertheless there appears to be agreement on its wide elliptical orbit taking it out towards the Pleiades system some 400 light years away with a period of 3,600 years to orbit our sun once. There is contradictory information regarding this planet’s orbital position at this time. It is probably some 1000 years distant from our Sun. Other information states it is close to penetrating the outer known orbit of our solar system. Though further reports indicate this is some other body, comet, etc. Energy-wise the planet links our sun with the Sirius system.

Nibiru used to be the outer most planet of Sirius A but is now the outer planet of our solar system. It was captured about half- a-million years ago and Nibiru now links our sun with the Sirius system. This planet is inhabited by the Anunnaki, which will be a resistance group from Sirius A and the Elohim, mentioned above, from higher frequencies. In addition to the name Anunnaki the designation Nibiruans is also used, and occasionally the name Nephilim (we shall see, however, Nephilim is the name given to the hybrid human/Anunnaki). Note that the Nephilim is referred to in the Bible as the 'gods' who interbred with the 'daughters of men'.

We shall adhere to the more commonly used term Anunnaki. These resistance Anunnakis are on favourable terms with the reptilian Dracos and have some common genetics. Thus the Anunnakis are also of reptilian strain but, in addition, are said to have a metallic biology. They apparently thrive on nuclear radiation and did introduce uranium to planet Earth thousands of years ago. They think rather than feel, much as many humans do today. Thinking is a linear process and combined with lack of feeling will engender a predator race. People on Earth have served them well. They learned the science of alchemy when on Sirius A from the Pleiadians, enabling them to manipulate base metals into precious metals. With this alchemy and its knowledge of subtle vibrations they thought they could convert their metallic biology and become more flesh and blood while on Earth. Note the energy relationships of Nibiru, which is male, and Earth, which is female, and the not-so-surprising abuse of Earth—the typical theme of masculine energy dominating over feminine energy.

Owing to the great extent of its orbit and the variations in energies and climate, which result from this, the Nibiruans/ Anunnaki also varied somewhat in their mental and physical outlook as the orbit was traversed. Preparations were made long before the entrance into the solar system, in particular, since its motion in orbit is counter to the other planets of this system.

Thus every 3,600 years there is the potential for disruption of one kind or another as it enters into the vicinity of the Sun. The following disasters have been attributed to the impact of Nibiru entering our solar system. The break-up of Maldek, which now is evidenced as the asteroid belt between Jupiter and Mars. This relates to the knowledge that the 'fallen angels' of Maldek failed to rehabilitate their spirituality, resulting in the karmic destruction of the planet. The surface of Mars was destroyed by the disturbance of the passing huge planet. The civilisation at that time knew some hundreds of years beforehand that they were a 'target' of this wayward planet and built cities underground. On another occasion Jupiter was either struck by Nibiru or wrenched violently by the turbulent fields, causing a large fragment to break off Jupiter, now known as Venus. Another example of the effects of Nibiru's counter orbit within our solar system was the creation of the year for planet Earth as 365 1/4 days from its previous period of 360 days, which occurred 104,000 years ago.

There was, however, an example in which Nibiru's arrival into our system was beneficial to us. Sirius very much relates to the origins of our energy and planet— sustenance for Earth is apparently received from Sirius. Sirians appended a core crystal to Nibiru to act as carrier to bring this crystal to Earth's core— presumably at the nonphysical level—for the transference of codes required for humanity's evolution. (However, could this have been from negative Anunnaki Sirians, and that this is the diodic crystal placed at Stonehenge to block a principal grid line, and correspondingly block our DNA development? —see Anna Hayes' material.)

Let us go back prior to the habitation of Nibiru by the Anunnaki. A group of the Anunnaki visited Earth from Sirius A. Interbreeding took place between the male Anunnaki and female humans. Their electromagnetic energies, however, were incompatible, resulting in mutations, deformities, etc.

To digress for a moment here, we might mention that eventually these malformed entities were destroyed in the Great Flood (or a great flood— there were more than one), except for one physical type, which we discovered and named 'Neanderthal man'. The spiritual reason for this was to allow such a body with appropriate limitations and handicap to be used for souls to incarnate into who required lessons that such an experience would fulfill. Thus Neanderthal man existed concurrently with advanced Atlanteans. Now, at that time, cremation was the method of disposing with dead bodies, but some of these Neanderthal mutant hybrids, who did not wish to mingle with the city group and preferred a more rural existence, failed to continue this practice, resulting in the present-day discovery of Neanderthals but not Atlanteans.

The material from the Guardians of Anna Hayes' tapes states that Neanderthal man was the genetic combination of ape, human and Anunnaki. It was a slave race created to mine gold for the Anunnaki.

Returning to the breeding program and the formation of Anunnaki-human hybrids around 950,000 years ago, they were successful and possessed greater intelligence than humans but lacked in spirituality giving rise to a heavily materialistically oriented society. These hybrids are the Nephilim (as indicated earlier, the pure Anunnaki have also been called the Nephilim).

As a result of this undesirable contamination of genetics, the Elohim, more spiritually evolved beings, created gaps in their DNA to facilitate transplants to erase the destructive Anunnaki strains. These gaps, which we have inherited, are termed 'junk DNA' by our scientists today. The gaps still contain all the information—the cellular memories and the silica matrix, etc.—but the units are unplugged.

It is important to understand that to tamper with the genetic code it is not necessary to address each person individually—a gargantuan task. The DNA codes are also formatted within the Earth's grid system and can thus be reconfigured holistically and collectively at this level. (The grid system is a form-holding energy field; a template.)

This 'interference' from the Elohim upset the Anunnaki on Sirius A, resulting in a 1,200-year war, during which most of the Anunnaki relocated to planet Nibiru. From Nibiru they visit Earth every 3,600 years—the period of their orbit around our sun. The planet is within our system and sufficiently close to Earth for about 125 years, during which their technological capabilities are sufficient to traverse the distances by spacecraft. This, note, is not a very advanced form of propulsion but is in keeping with the principle of symbiosis between technology and consciousness. If consciousness is not benevolent and sufficiently spiritually advanced it cannot create advanced harmonic propulsion systems to travel great distances rapidly.

They apparently visit Earth as though it were a grand hotel. They have considered that they own us and have a particular liking for Earth energies, though now regret the stern and negative measures they used to manipulate us, giving rise to a corrupt society matching their own—like the child picking up the bad habits of its parents. They are at present apparently infiltrating our world. This may be conducted astrally but they do have the ability to mask their reptilian appearance.

The Anunnaki clearly were one of the types of god of our mythology. They wished for a harmonious relation with humans but at the same time exercised negative control. The rule over man was one that gave limited freedom, ranging up to satanic suppression when necessary to keep humans in their subservient role. According to the book The Pleiadian Agenda, silica based elements were used by the Anunnaki in their genetic experiments with humans, giving greater potential for mind control. As an aside, our silica-based technologies, for example, computers, will assist our evolution into 4D. Also the Bible's statement that we were made in the image of God is referring to the Anunnaki gods. The silica-based experiment apparently failed though since we were designed for a carbon base.

The present attitude, however, of the Anunnakis to humans is much better, as with other negatively inclined aliens, such as the Zetas, who are all realising the great role each is playing in the infinite.

Humans at that time lacked high mental development but were apparently much more right-brain attuned than today. That is, they were in harmony with nature to a great degree and feelings and perception were more 4D—the heart chakra was more open. The interbreeding from these gods of Nibiru with the Earth females and the consequent disharmony of energies 'knocked the women into 3D' and the resonant aspects of language sounds in communication degenerated into pure identification— words merely representing objects in a detached manner (as is the case today). This led to a split into many tongues, and further, a split amongst ourselves.

Thus the incompatibility of the electromagnetic energies in the breeding experiments caused deterioration of the human race. The Anunnaki discovered that the nuclear radiation from uranium 'infiltrated' the emotional body of humans causing implantation of belief systems—a powerful tool for programming.

The Anunnaki were experts in the science of genetics and took great interest in DNA splicing of different species, including humans, creating human-animal mutants. The original intention was to upgrade the human race genetically but the Nibiruans became carried away with curiosity at the extreme forms of creatures they could create.

According to Hilarion's material they soon lost sight of their positive purpose to advance the genetic stream of the human group and created varieties of human-animals with massive distortions of the human genetic blueprint. Amongst the more notable and successful of the mutants or 'monsters' that were created was the half-horse, half-man beings known in our mythology as centaurs. The experiments succeeded in altering the genetic codes of humans and horses and mixing them to produce a viable creature that was capable of reproducing itself. That is, it could not only survive but procreate its own kind.

Now these centaur forms were strong and fast and were chosen spiritually by a race of beings from another star system for incarnational purposes. They were from a highly advanced civilisation which had evolved into higher realms, leaving behind a relatively small group, a few thousand, which had failed in this ascension process. Their numbers were too small to handle their complex civilisation and they volunteered for what was referred to as the centaur experiment.

Thus even though they were stragglers of the advanced group they were quite advanced relative to humans and volunteered to embody this human-horse form, in particular, because karmically they had lacked a proper appreciation of their previous physical forms and had neglected the body.

Thus the Pan kingdom of fawns evolved existing in harmony and cooperation with the humans race. Since that time, however, man has sunk to a lower level through greed, selfishness and ego development, resulting in man's blindness to the Pan kingdom or any of the numerous other kingdoms on planet Earth. These beings can see us, our worlds interpenetrate, but man's increasing shortsightedness prevents even an acknowledgement of the presence of these other life forms—in effect we have degenerated into a lower-frequency band.

The original reason for the Anunnaki visits to Earth and their considerable interest was their need for a new genetic matrix. Since Earth was a by-product of the implosion of Sirius B, creating the fragments Earth, Nibiru, Sirius C and the remaining Sirius B, our planet and Nibiru are consequently related. About half-a- million Anunnaki began landing on Earth with repeated visits every 3,600 years. Around 3,500 BC they apparently founded the Sumerian civilisation.

At the present time the Anunnaki are the main threat to mankind on planet Earth. Their goal is to reverse the DNA code sequence by blocking the Earth grid time matrix form-holding the 12-dimensional spectrum that corresponds to the 12th strand DNA (see Appendix for description of the 12-strand DNA). The Anunnaki have 11 strands but in reverse sequence—hence their planet enters our solar system in reverse orbit. If they can block the frequencies above 11D (eleven dimensions) and reverse the code sequence up to and including 11D they can live permanently on Earth. Our planet, however, would then orbit in reverse.

Now if the time matrix is reversed up to 12D (and with 12D frequencies severed) it creates a system within a system. This means assistance from higher frequencies, universes, realms, is blocked, and Earth becomes isolated from higher sources. The more advanced beings above 12D cannot enter their consciousness into a matrix of reversed codes without causing distortions in their consciousness.

The Drakonians (Drakons, Dracos), although also requiring 12D to be blocked and who are less of a threat to us, are 10- strand DNA and do not want the grid codes operating at 11D for their compatible environment. Thus they wish to destroy the Anunnaki. (See Anna Hayes' material for full details.)

One of the purposes of the human race is to re-align the planetary grid system, which is part of what is called the Universal Templar Complex — this is the real quest for the Holy Grail; clearly it will require a sufficient number of people to wake up to the deception of a re-written history and what is happening now.

UNDER DRACOS-ZETA CONTROL

We have explained that the Dracos are hybrids of humans and Drakon, and that their appearance is reptilian: six to seven feet tall; green/brown scales; clawlike four-fingered, webbed hands; snakelike faces, a cross between human and dragon, with a central ridge from top of the head to the snout; and eyes with vertical slits and golden irises. They can survive for weeks on one large meal. Ones higher in rank have appendages like wings and are said to attain a much greater stature.

The original reptilians, or Lizzies—from which the Drakon, mentioned in Chapter 1, originated—were introduced to our system about 225 million years ago. It is of interest to note that the Nibiruans were taught life sciences by the Lizzies. Our solar system is entering the same place in the galaxy that the Lizzies obtained control of, 225 million years ago. This cycle (end/beginning node) will coincide with the year 2012 in the harmonic convergence of several cosmic cycles.

Members of this group, along with the Greys/Zetas and the hybrid Dracos-Zeta, have formed an alliance with the secret government. The MJ-12 has become well-known as consisting of the government members who interact with the aliens, and are familiar with the alien/government agenda for this planet; though the aliens are in fact secretly manipulating them.

The Dracos, even though part human of the Drakon-human hybrid, have chosen the path of separation from Source and in opposition to the Law of One. Their aim is domination by force with subsequent control and enslavement of the human race in complete violation of the universal law of non-interference of free will of other species. Their justification for this negative action is that being a human hybrid, planet Earth is their birthright, in addition to the basic context they have, that the reptilian race is one of the oldest in the galaxy and has overseen the human race since its inception.

The reptilians are known for their infiltration methods and for masquerading as Light beings, and seemingly siding with the benevolent influx of knowledge, but creating and channeling false data, subtly presented to give enough truth to create deception.

Their planet in the Orion sector is sometimes referred to as Draconis, which comes under the Reptoid Federation, a source of much conflict and wars prior to their invasion of Earth as the Drakon a million years ago. Then, as mentioned, they created the Drakon-human hybrid under total influence of the Drakon violent and aggressive character.

The Dracos are now behind much of the satanic rituals and widespread black magic, which have been on the increase for sometime and is acknowledged in much literature, including government reports and books. The Dracos can apparently infiltrate and manipulate the human race by either taking on the human form when it contains sufficient reptilian genetics, and shape-shifting this form between humans and Dracos, or can as a detached being control a human body with the requisite proportion of genes.

Nevertheless, let us emphasise that the basic reptilian race is benevolent and, for example, they contributed towards the plan for the human species on Earth, even if they did present challenges, and were present as observers at this time for thousands of years. In fact an anti-reptilian prejudice runs through our solar system. For example, on Maldek they interfered with society and government, replacing leaders, etc. but much of it was 'police' work with positive intentions; nevertheless not always appreciated and sometimes feared.

According to Anna Hayes' material we can trace the Dracos lineage to the Seraphim who digressed from the Seraphei. From this Seraphim ancestry both the bird and reptilian lines developed and also this made its particular contribution to the human DNA.

Now the MJ-12 (secret government group that liaises with the aliens) was formed when Truman was in power and prior to that presidents knew of the alien situation. After the formation of MJ-12, however, leaders were given information on a need-to-know basis—limited and often erroneous material.

The Greys, becoming better known as the Zetas, that is the small aliens with large heads, are a very segregated race and a negative offshoot of the original Zetas; they work under the Dracos. The Greys—and a small proportion of Zetas —are subservient to the Dracos. The hybrids, which are Dracos-Zetas, are particularly under Dracos control.

These aliens are said to operate from vast underground installations and cities; several million inhabitants has been indicated. They have developed extremely advanced mind-control technologies, and are able to influence human minds via television, computers and other electrical devices, even when the appliances are merely plugged in and not switched on.

Now one of the largest dimensional portals on this planet is controlled by the reptilians. It is in the Middle East, and is some 1000 miles in diameter. They have used this area for the creation of underground bases, which they operate. The portal is ideally located to infiltrate negative energies into the Middle East to create chaos and hatred amongst the Arabs and Jews, fostering unrest, strife, and wars.

There are vast installation networks of tunnels and cities within the Earth, housing many civilisations, including native ones and ETs. There is not only a huge amount of space potential in the Earth but other dimensional spaces exist which can be approached via, for example, electromagnetic corridors.

These reptilians consider themselves one of the oldest races in the universe and superior to other species. They live a life based on fear and one which does not honour other life forms. They live off the nourishment of fear in others. They have set Earth up with devices that can broadcast and magnify the emotional turmoil on this planet. The resulting turbulent, chaotic energy is absorbed by them and sustains them.

As mentioned in Chapter 1 the symbolism of the serpent and its connection to ancient gods and reptilian images of ancient cultures are rampant throughout the world. The Reverend John Bathurst Deane wrote that the symbolic worship of the serpent was so common in Greece that Justin Martyr accuses the Greeks of introducing it into the mysteries of all their gods. Also consider the Chinese interest, fear and respect of dragons.

Around 52,000 years ago the Dracos secretly were allowed to return to Earth. They began, however, infiltrating Lemuria and built an extensive network of lairs and tunnel systems between Lemuria and Atlantis. They proceeded to terrorise the inhabitants of Lemuria, which eventually extended to Atlantis. An attempt was made to free Earth of this Dracos menace.

Meetings were held by the various races to end the Dracos problem. Utilising crystal generators they endeavoured to seal the Dracos in their underground lairs using highly focussed beams of energy. The attempt, however, backfired and a massive explosion resulted, involving considerable volcanic activity, and earthquakes upon both Lemuria and Atlantis; though Lemuria suffered severe land-mass destruction. Populations went underground. After returning to the surface it took generations to rebuild and for the Earth to balance its grid system. The Atlanteans never equalled its development before this disaster.

Most of the Dracos were evacuated by their Anunnaki resistance accomplices. The Arc of the Covenant (see Appendix) was damaged and this was realigned by the Elohim. Then as a safeguard the portal connecting to the Arc was moved to Egypt. This is covered in the book Voyagers volume 2.

According to UFO researchers and channeling, Earth populations are apparently manipulated from Dracos-Zeta underground complexes. Thus human genetic traits acquired from the Drakon-human (Dracos) hybrid agenda enable them to infiltrate human society undetected—to use human bodies either directly or indirectly. David Icke's book The Big Secret covers this thoroughly.

Since 1983 to the present the Dracos-Zeta Resistance has been creating hybrids and human clones for their evil purposes. Human clones can be used for infiltration purposes. Women are abducted and their human fetuses removed at around seven months gestation to be infused with Dracos-Zeta genetic material. They are returned but as these humans grow up they are unaware of their ET association and can be subliminally directed by the Dracos-Zeta Resistance via the DNA and neurological structure. We might add that the Guardian Alliance also in turn abducts these people to disable these gene codes and return them to normal life.

Now the alliance between the Dracos and Zeta is one without allegiance; it is not based on harmonious cooperation—merely one of exploitation and self-serving needs. As the Guardians foresaw, this proved an added danger to Earth. The main goal of the Dracos-Zetas at present is to create a frequency fence (see Appendix) on the planet, which would become effective after 2003. A combination of the infiltration scheme and the frequency fence would interfere with the plans for Earth's ascension into new dimensions and the necessary DNA changes. (The frequency fence relates to alien-government experiments, including the Philadelphia Experiment—see the chapter ET/Government Interactions.)

The drastic problem became apparent to the Guardians in 1984 as they traced this outcome by examining future probabilities. The future path showed more danger than anticipated. This probability revealed that in 2976 AD Earth would be destroyed.

It was perceived that the reduced Earth's grid vibrations, due to the Dracos-Zeta project, in the presence of the ascension portal (called the 'Sphere of Amenti' by ETs—see Appendix) would explode the grid (a holding pattern, formatting Earth's energy fields). Thus in this future probability, the Guardians removed the 'Sphere of Amenti' (referred to in the Bible as the 'Pearly Gates of Heaven') but as a result of this subsequent setback (removing the sphere), any further hope of ascension was prevented, and the Dracos-Zetas took control over the Earth's population, in which the human's collective came under the control of the Zeta mass-mind.

Moreover, once Earth came under Dracos-Zeta manipulation, the Dracos in this probability attacked and dominated the Zetas. The Dracos then took over Earth and used Earth (at a lower-dimensional level) for storage of photo-nuclear waste, resulting from the manufacture of photonic energy). This procedure, however, caused a massive explosion in 2976 AD, destroying Earth.

Upon discovering this, the Guardians informed the resistance Zetas of the Dracos betrayal, offering them assistance and relocation if they would give up the plan for infiltration and control of Earth. Nevertheless, the Zetas refused. (As we shall see later this seems typical of the Zetas' failure in matters of communication and understanding of other beings.)

Although the Guardian Alliance could easily overpower the Dracos and Zetas, a forced confrontation would cause damage to Earth's grid and the collective fields. A further plan has been devised, involving many ETs throughout the galaxy, known as the 'Bridge Zone Project'—see the remarkable book Voyagers, volume 2.

The group of ETs—Pleiadians and others—channeling B. Marciniak's book tell us that ten of the DNA strands of our original 12-strand DNA were unplugged by the reptilians, leaving us with the two biological strands. Conversely the Voyagers books tend to imply that this 'unplugging' was due to the 'fall' of man (these apparently incompatible concepts could still be reconciled though). Now in addition to the obvious reasons for this (disassembling the DNA to prevent man's ascension), a specific purpose given in Alex Collier's website material was that according to the Andromedans, humans are related to a group known as the Paa Tal—a name used by the reptilians. The Dracos apparently have legends about 'Paa Tal'—a warring race from the Draconian point of view that was creating human life forms opposed to Draconian philosophy. In fact the Paa Tal created life forms with full expression contrary to the purposes of the Dracos; hence the need for these particular reptilians (reptoids/Dracos) to limit man's abilities.

THE MASSIVE ZETA PROGRAM

Of the countless extraterrestrials that have visited this planet or interacted with it, the Zetas would seemingly have had the greatest direct contact with humans and are thus probably the most active alien culture on Earth. These are the familiar large-headed ETs with huge black eyes, and stature about four feet. They appear to be responsible for the majority of abductions comprising a massive program on planet Earth. Nevertheless, human abductions by the Dracos-controlled group of Zetas would be the most dangerous, in which captives are taken to underground bases where horrific experiments are conducted, much of this apparently under secret government complicity and security. Abductees of the pure Zeta groups are generally taken aboard their spacecrafts.

The Zetas are named as such since they are from Zeta Reticuli—a double star, 39 light years away—in the constellation Reticulum of the southern hemisphere, though some reside in the Orion and Sirius systems known as the Greys, and in general are now somewhat spread around, having cloned bodies that can tolerate varied environmental conditions. Countless varieties now exist.

Though the Zetas can operate as a single mind they paradoxically have split up into numerous groups varying from benevolent to the highly negative and treacherous Zeta-Dracos hybrids. Their mass mind has been compartmented, though they can still access the mind of other groups within the Zeta mind.

The more negative groups appear to have a notoriety for lying. This was noticed and commented on in the early days of the captured single entity by the government referred to as an EBE (extraterrestrial biological entity). This alien, which was apparently a Dracos-Zeta, known as the Rutilia by the Guardian Alliance, was confined—following the Roswell crash in 1947—until 1951 when it became ill and died in 1952. It was found that a zoologist rather than a medical practitioner was the most helpful in assisting this sick ET. Its body functioning had a resemblance to plants regarding its method of absorption of nutrients, which was apparently through the skin.

Moreover, the Dracos types are said to bathe in blood to absorb the valuable life-giving hormones and enzymes.

These Zetas/Greys (and presumably the hybrids) tend to turn bluish in skin colouring when hungry but can fast for many days without food. The reptilian Dracos can similarly go for weeks after one large meal.

Many Zetas have channeled information through humans. It cannot all be relied upon. We are not referring to the channeling unreliability, that is, errors occurring, but to the possibility of the source deliberately falsifying information in channeling. We are told they began regular visits to Earth around the 1940s (though the earliest was in the '20s), initially contacting the human collective, requesting help in handling their problems. They were apparently suffering from cell deterioration and inability to experience spiritual inspiration, with very low adaptability and virtually no instinct. In return for providing human medical information, Earth people would learn to understand their weakest emotion, that of fear, and how to turn it to a strength.

According to this Zeta information, agreements were made at the human collective level. That means there were soul agreements, the soul level of each individual agreed to avail themselves for genetic information. We now know, however, that some abductions, which would be by the more unenlightened Zetas and Greys, were made without agreements. (On the basis that the soul level is inviolate, these disagreements must have been overridden by enforced agreements (Zeta trickery?) based on karmic needs.) As a result, many of these poor individuals are in mental institutions, though the final straw was provided by friends, relatives, and professionals who disbelieved their experiences.

Now it is important to realise that the Zetas existed in a higher-frequency spectrum and were not visible to humans, and there was no possible adequate communication at the physical level. Hence initial abductions were done astrally in dream states.

Nevertheless the Zetas, for practical purposes, created an altered state. In fact there were three forms of Zeta in our midst. There was the basic Zeta in its natural condition of higher frequencies, very high energy, and could not interact with humans; only in dream states (astrally). Then there was the Zeta that has been altered to enable it to interact with us. This was achieved by placing the alien in a denser environment to step down the frequencies to the physical level with a change in consciousness. This could be permanent or temporary. Finally there was the Zeta/human hybrid, of which some of the earlier lines were unstable and few could communicate with us. In addition, human DNA was cloned with the altered Zeta in an attempt to find a physiological condition that might trigger emotions.

The hybridization was achieved by abducting a suitable female, implanting the hybrid embryo, and again abducting the female and removing it from the womb after a gestation period of a few months. There are documents to prove this. Such hybrid children, whose parents were said to be a Zeta male (the fact that we are told male and female were the same isn't actually a problem) and a human female, could not survive on Earth and were kept aboard the ships. Further research utilising different scenarios and altered DNA has been successful, enabling a child to survive on Earth—and has apparently been done. See the next chapter for information on hybrids.

The Zetas/Greys have been watching us throughout history for millions of years—they found themselves strangely drawn towards us. Prior to their existence in Zeta Reticuli they were of human-Vegan lineage inhabiting a planet named Apex in the Lyra constellation (according to Zeta information). In the Voyagers book writings the planet was apparently called Apaxien Lau.

The planet was similar to Earth with a genetic mixture of races. A civilisation of diverse viewpoints and individuality was emerging even more pronounced than has occurred on Earth. They increasingly digressed towards an imbalance of technology and consciousness with over-emphasis on technology and science, as in the human case, but the Zetas did this to a greater degree and blamed their wars on their emotions and passions.

Now much of the above is corroborated but regarding the actual destruction of the planet and their cellular deterioration we have two more versions from the Voyagers series and the Explorer books. In the Explorer series the Zeta, Joopah, admits that the word 'war' is not completely accurate. Joopah is a Zeta, one of only three evolved into the 9th dimension, in effect is from the future, supplying information to Earth about the Zeta agenda and aiding the Zetas in their struggle for survival.

We are told by this source that millions of years ago the presently-named Zetas were not unlike humans but with even greater displays of emotion. Their government scientists unknown to the population conducted an experiment to observe the emotional effects of excessive breeding. The drive for procreation was stepped up by lacing foods with drugs, but creating permanent effects on the mind, resulting in insanity. Civilians killed to obtain resources, becoming scarcer as the population expanded. No mention was made of birth control to arrest the over-population but considering separate information that their females were allowed to die when giving birth to babies with excessive sized heads since hysterectomies were unthinkable, then it seems possible that birth control was an unacceptable custom—it is all a matter of society's programming.

Many scientists and government officials either left the planet or hid in bunkers and planned a new design for the species. This was the beginning of the idea of cloning a new genetic type.

Now the informative book Voyagers, volume 1 gives us another explanation for the destruction of the planet. The Zetas were experimenting with dimensional locks to expand their knowledge by draining energy from parallel versions of their planet and combining these reality fields with their own. But they destabilised the time portals and dimensional bands of their own system. A linear-time sequence would not take hold and a black hole was produced. They closed it but the black hole fragmented. Apparently black holes cannot be closed until all the information, material, etc. which has gone through is recovered and realigned in time. They observed that they had sealed it and forgot about it, but since the matter hadn't been aligned it shifted to another location that took them years to find again. During this time the dimensional imbalance which had now trapped them was causing mutations.

The dangers to the local universe region was recognised by other ETs and an intervention occurred from the Guardian Alliance. They handled the black hole but the Zeta planet was 'sucked in'.

More generally available information on the Zetas, including what they have told us, refers to their planet becoming highly toxic following a war. The planet's atmosphere began to deteriorate from pollution and radiation. Plants could no longer produce enough oxygen, and over many generations preparations were made to move underground. Many resisted and died from diseases caused by the toxicity. Some of these beings have since reincarnated throughout the galaxy with the purpose of warning others to prevent them from falling into similar dangers.

Finally they all were moved underground. They had to learn how to adapt. It became a combination of evolving characteristics through living underground plus cloning and genetic alterations to achieve better survival. This involved restructuring their bodies so they would absorb certain frequencies of light beyond the visible, and changes in body functions so that nutrients were absorbed in a different way—apparently through the skin.

They built cities underground and gave great thought to the problem of emotion. As a result, they cloned out all physiological responses to emotions; they took out the neurochemical reactions. The result was there was no varied response—it was the same to everything. They estimated feeling by different degrees of curiosity. (Nevertheless, Joopah, mentioned above, stated that they did not experience curiosity as we know it. One must realise that their understanding of emotions was virtually nonexistent and thus disagreements would be expected.)

They state they do not have any understanding of the concept love, or even vulnerability, and have extremely poor survival instincts compared with humans. They state they do not have the right chemicals in the body for emotions. And this is why they put organic implants in humans to absorb neurochemicals in our brains secreted by emotions. Later the implants are removed and processed in their laboratories. They are trying to change their brains to simulate these chemical responses and understand the spiritual nature more. Humans are extremely individualised, whereas they function as a mass mind—the whole motivates them. This factor difference, however, enables each to learn something from the other.

Earthman is now exhibiting similar problems to what the Zetas created in their early history, that is, secreting similar chemicals. The Zetas have apparently lost their records of the genetic information gathered in their past when they cloned themselves. Nevertheless, with their time-travel technology they could have recovered such knowledge. Unfortunately it was genetic information derived before their crisis, and it would not resolve their problem now. This procedure and material did not have the answers.

Before humans were abducted, the Zetas experimented with animals from Earth such as cattle (but note that the majority of cattle mutilations were done by the negative Sirians and the secret government—see later chapters). Further to this they used human corpses. but the results were unsuccessful and the abduction program was commenced. They thus sought out races with Vegan DNA of sufficient development. Humans on planet Earth satisfied this condition. We in fact have both Vegan and Lyran (the particular Lyran group) ancestry; thus we represent the Zetas's survival and future. Furthermore, we are told that what we are getting out of our interaction with them is much more valuable than we've ever realised.

Note that the Zetas do not use the word 'abduction'. They claim they only detain humans. This will invite very varied viewpoints depending on the experiences of the abductees. Many insist they have benefited from the experience spiritually—even if it is only a greater reality on past lives—in spite of the extreme trauma in many cases of the abduction process. In fact there was an unfamiliar interaction between the aliens and the human abductees. In almost all cases there was fear. Ironically, although the Zetas had no reaction or understanding of emotion, such as fear, they were affected by this energy from the human. In fact they realised it could destroy them.

They handled this problem by surrounding the abductee in an electronic field. This prevented effects of the fear energy on the aliens but unfortunately concentrated it around the human— also preventing proper outgoing communication from the human to the alien. It was a one-way communication from alien to human. This sometimes intensified the fear into terror for the abductee. The field is only visible to the human by its effect of creating a more grey appearance of the alien.

Each alien mission, however, apparently has a Zeta over- seer—the 'friendly one' as noted by abductees. This seer would come over when the person was in fear and pass its hand over the human's third eye, bringing instant release from fear.

They eventually discovered the neurochemicals responsible for emotions. This information combined with the sterile condition caused by the radiation encouraged the project of cloning. Such techniques were gradually introduced and genetic modifications were conducted to produce a species better suited to the underground conditions. After countless years of genetic experiments there are a great many varieties of Zetas/Greys, brown, grey, and blue in colour; even blue-eyed in the case of the very benevolent ones.

It appears that their overemphasis on intellect and science had created enlarged skulls, even prior to the cloned bodies of which we are familiar—the Zetas as we know them today. As the skull increased in size it became increasingly difficult for the female to give birth. Since hysterectomies were unthinkable, even sacrilegious to them, many females died.

Thus the cloned body program was a solution to all this. They stated they cloned them small to give more relative space in their underground cities and would then, in general, require less resources for easier survival. The cloned eyes were large (though they were larger than human's previously) to let in more light, since even bright, artificial light is inferior to sunlight. Furthermore, the eyes would evolve still larger to accommodate more light and their pupils dilated to the whole eye after thousands of years underground.

They were now suffering from cell deterioration and a blockage between the spiritual self and the physical self, with inability to receive spiritual inspiration, which they seemingly began to realise was due to removing all emotional reactions. Cloning had created a weak cellular structure and there was poor adaptability.

They do not experience any form of pain, mental or physical. All emotional effects were foreign to their thinking. Nevertheless, curiosity was apparently strong and different degrees of this were used to evaluate certain experiences. It is interesting to note that in more recent times they had the cognition that curiosity was an emotion and this seemingly became a confidence boost to encourage them to continue to strive to recover their emotional reactions, which, as we have stated, they had recognised to be the principal factor in their deterioration and limitations.

The fragmentation of their society occurred over hundreds of years underground. Various groups had no communication with one another (and presumably didn't make the effort to connect up underground). Thus during this period of adaptation very different cultures developed, resulting in the many variations of the Zetas and Greys we know of today. Note that the Greys had slightly different genetic structures from the Zetas—the latter more insectoidal and the Greys more reptilian. Although the abductions are mainly associated with the beings from Zeta Reticuli, the Greys are reported to have been manipulating Earth much longer. Motivations towards humans from one group to another is quite varied. The Greys tend to be subservient to or mercenaries for the reptilians.

When the Zetas eventually returned to the surface of their radioactive planet, their astronomers discovered something amazing, according to Zeta sources (this is not stated in the other two versions of the destruction). They looked at the stars in the night sky and realised they were in a different region of space. Somehow the planet had been transported to the Zeta Reticuli double-star system. Fantastic though this may appear to us, new physics theories are not so incompatible. Also the highly intelligent version of the destruction of the planet in Voyagers, mentioned above, did say the planet was sucked in.

Proceeding with an explanation of the previous version, we know that radioactivity destroys atoms. It is a reaction taking place in the nucleus of atoms where exists a powerful 4D node. This is a black and white hole—mainly a white hole (energy coming out of the centre) giving the positive charge, expressed by the protons.

When an atomic explosion occurs, a neutron splits the nucleus (fission), which tears the 3D matrix at this point, causing 4D energy to rush in (that is, from beyond /inside), which then pressures out of the centre into our 3D reality with enormous explosive force before the tear is sealed and stabilised. This was happening with radioactivity, only gradually.

Thus intense radioactivity will cause myriads of these effects, and it is not inconceivable that one big tear from the accumulation of small ones was the result. (Imagine making many pin holes in a piece of taut tissue paper. It could result in a large tear.)

This large rift in spacetime would bend spacetime. It would be a dimensional vortex with the properties of a black hole that, as has been speculated by physicists, connects to other universes or other parts of our universe.

Consequently it is not an impossibility even with our limited thinking that the Zeta planet fell through this dimensional portal and ended up elsewhere. Of course, the energy shift would have to retain balance. Our present science, however, knows nothing of the inner-interconnecting energy network throughout the universe (even the proton and the electrons are interconnected internally—that is, 4D wise). Though quantum physics does speculate on this network.

Thus the Zetas' planet had apparently shifted to Zeta Reticuli. From there, with their new bodies, they eventually segregated into groups, though ironically they operate via a single mind (this would of course be a separate mind for each group, although the full species collective would still be functional on a higher- dimensional level).

The negative Zetas built spacecrafts and relocated to other planets in the Constellation Reticulum. Others ventured into the universe for exploration purposes establishing colonies in Orion and Sirius.

It appears likely that much of this is true but that it is deceptively presented (a Zeta viewpoint) to steer recipient human's thinking in the direction of sympathy and help towards them.

For example, the more negative Zetas would enslave this planet if circumstances were favourable for them.

Now the cloning procedure was surprisingly sacred (according to channel Zoosh). They had what looked like a test tube sliced down the middle, tilted against a wall in which the cellular development occurred.

Once the body was fully formed, a liquid (crystal) was drained off. At this point it was only a body with closed eyes. A ritual was conducted in which three-to-five sacred seers stood around the body, and further out were members of the general population standing in this forum.

The sacred seers performed a ceremony to invite the soul personality to inhabit the body. The body would then begin to move as the soul personality entered and the eyes would open. Members of the population would approach and communicate very benevolently. When carried out in this fashion the ceremony ensures that the personality is appropriate (for example, not an evil spirit—clones will not generally attract normal souls).

The cloned body remains the same throughout its life cycle. It does not age but eventually just 'crumbles' and the heart just stops. They obtain a warning of the body expiration about three days before, though a seer will know a month before and the council will be warned if a replacement on a particular project is required.

The Zetas cloned only a neutral body, neither male nor female. They are generally between three-and-a-half, and four-and-a-half feet tall. They are hairless with grey skin, have large, slanted black eyes, seemingly lidless, in a disproportionately large head, with virtually no nose, and small inoperative slit for a mouth. No marked ear appendages are apparent. Their gait is quite robotic due to their propensity for design efficiency. They can diffuse through walls, etc. The material of their bodies is not biological but more plasmic. Joopah explained this as like 'compressed light' or if that is a difficult concept, like ‘compressed electricity’. And if it was sufficiently compressed on Earth it would turn to liquid.

Abductees have complained that when looking into the large black eyes of the Zetas it is as though they are being swallowed up. The data on this is that when looking into these eyes the subconscious of the human is brought to the surface. That is, any past experience associated with their current experiences rises to consciousness. This then amplifies the emotional effect on the Zetas.

The Zetas have a moderate ability to shape-shift into animal forms, etc. but are limited by their lack of emotional body and will invariably resort to interference with the perception of humans. This is achieved by scrambling the brain-wave patterns of those viewing them. This perceptual interference process, giving distorted data, is processed through the neurological system, causing strange odours to arise. This is thus an indicator that scrambling is taking place.

The question may arise as to why a large head is necessary; in other words, a large brain. There are many extraterrestrials equally as brilliant and even more advanced, with normal, humanoid-type sized heads—or without bodies at all.

A somewhat unexpected explanation was given in the Explorer series of books but quite logical. The Zetas deliberately focussed on technology and philosophy at the expense of other subjects, particularly as this was compatible seemingly with their unemotional mental state. They desired to filter out other distractions. This was achieved by the overdeveloped brain, which enforced formatting of consciousness for intellectual pursuits. In general, ETs will develop higher abilities through the mind and spirit but there will not be an automatic selection of material being absorbed—one would not be able to prevent attention on and interest in other subjects. The brain, however, is a formatting mechanism and acted as a filter for a specific channeled ability but enabling that ability to reach great heights.

What is the Zetas’ motivation in coming to planet Earth? We have explained the viewpoint that it is to obtain help from Earthman: to acquire genetic material in their search for a solution to their deteriorating physical and spiritual condition. The viewpoint of the unenlightened Zetas is to take over Earth; preferably to retain humans but only in so far as they would not get in the way and act as obedient slaves.

This viewpoint may be accurate for the Dracos-Zeta groups but not for the more benevolent and enlightened, who have recognised that they need humans and for humans to succeed for the resolution of their problems. In general, they realise that human mass consciousness agreed to aid them and permitted them to conduct medical experiments on humans. They are operating on the basis that every human abducted has agreed at the soul level to cooperate.

In fact, ETs unfamiliar with humans may not understand the soul/personality paradox. The Zetas, on detaining, as they call it, a human for research purposes, claim they were puzzled at the resistance that the human offered in this agreed-upon (at the soul level) interaction. And in fact, one Zeta, in channeled communication, claimed it was like hitting a brick wall of understanding.

The human was agreeing at the soul level but disagreeing at the human personality level, and was reacting in fear. We might note, however, that there was initially an inability by the aliens to recognise fear since it did not exist for them. In addition, as mentioned previously, unenlightened Zetas are involved in abductions not agreed upon.

Nevertheless, we cannot accept that with their intelligence they would deliberately not quickly grasp what was going on. It seems that they would turn a blind eye to the suffering, and as mentioned earlier, use electronic fields, justifying all this by the importance of the needed information, and, we presume agreement by the human at the soul level.

It is of interest to mention though that there have been examples where a woman has been abducted and she spoke firmly and overtly to them, pointing out that they were violating the person's rights and God's laws by taking people against their will. The result, as stated by these people, was that the abductee was immediately freed and returned home. Note, however, that they do not acknowledge a god, but Universal Law.

We might also add that whenever the Zetas completed an abduction of this kind, the individual was returned home safely and where appropriate, made comfortable in bed. Furthermore, the Zetas, in their defense, assert that without any agreement from the human (soul) they could not 'find' the (preselected) person.

Let us keep in mind, however, that the Dracos-Zeta kidnapping carries the greater danger to humans. There is abundant references to underground vats of human parts and grotesque experiments in which varied species, animals, humans, insects, etc. are genetically combined, creating horrific and pathetic monsters.

Our secret government has also its own programs of a similar nature. There are reports of armies of clones of different genetics: computer-like human-type beings, cloned ETs of the Zeta type, and, in particular, a lizard-like species with reports of not infrequent escapes from the underground bases. Contact newspaper related such incidents, and stated that the locals became used to such appearances and probably saw them as retards. An example was given of a small—presumably underdeveloped and not yet programmed—cloned lizard-like creature that was fascinated by switches and technological gadgets, even the slamming of a car door. Such escapades are short-lived and anxious security men will always bring their brief freedom to an end.

We might add that according to Joopah there is a kind of ‘student exchange’ programme between the Zetas and the secret government, except that Zetas do not study on Earth. Scientists from scientific inner-circles of the government voluntarily visit the Zeta planets where they conduct research relating to their own disciplines. Remember that these are not ordinary academics and probably never were, but would be carefully nurtured and programmed for their roles. Biologists are encouraged to become involved in genetic research, and Zoologists will be directed to physiological areas since there are no animals. There is, however, a zoological library that can be experienced holographically. Prior to visiting the Zeta planets the humans must undergo intensive orientation in preparation for their alien environmental encounter. Suitable atmospheres must be set up. Samples of food are brought by the humans for the Zetas to replicate. Great care is taken by the Zetas to make the humans comfortable and at ease. It is interesting to note that even the human’s trip to these planets, 39 light years away, is manipulated for least disorientation. Instead of rapid transit with the sensation of no motion, the humans are taken via an initial trajectory near Saturn, then instant transportation to Zeta Reticuli, and again another course is taken involving motion to the final destination.

The Zeta group which has repeatedly refused treaties with the Guardian Alliance is the so-called Greys, from a planet Rigel in the Orion constellation called the Rigelians (the Guardian Alliance knows them as Futzhe). This group, however, formed treaties with the secret government and previously orchestrated the Sun manipulation (see ET/Government Interactions). These are the most aggressive and militant of the Zeta/Grey races and are extremely dangerous to humans, and will even present themselves as Guardians.

Let us continue the Zeta story under hybrids in the next chapter.

CHAPTER 5

THE NEW ZETA AGENDA AND HYBRIDS

The Zeta interaction with Earth brings us the most important study of hybrids. One of the main justifiable reasons for the abductions, from their point of view, was because the Zetas feared their own extinction was imminent and that they must create a hybrid as indicated to them by their 'teachers' from the 'ninth dimension'. But the more benevolent Zetas also considered the plight of the human race, which was heading towards destruction, and that they should therefore also reproduce humans.

Unenlightened Zetas were also abducting, but for purely selfish purposes of perpetuating their species and enslaving Earth. This group of resistance Zetas/Greys, including Dracos-Zeta hybrids and Zeta-human hybrids under Zeta and Dracos control, are now numbered in the hundreds of thousands only; successful treaties having been formed by the Guardian Alliance with the others.

The purpose of the hybrid was not only as a durable physical vessel to replace their own deteriorating bodies but one that could withstand the Earth's vibrations and environment; in particular, oxygen and carbon, both toxic to the Zeta body.

In the early hybridisation experiments there was limited success and the hybrids lived short lives. Many abductees claim to have been taken aboard ships to spend time with the hybrid children, with the purpose of providing the children with interactions of human energy so they would not be too energy-biassed towards Zetas. These hybrid children are described as very placid compared with human babies.

After hundreds of attempts, more viable structures were developed, though a short while ago there was still only reference to a hybrid being able to tolerate the human environment for a limited period. The aim was to produce a hybrid, 51% Zeta and 49% human (explanation of percentage not given). The problems have by now apparently been overcome. A relatively successful type was one with jet black skin (Explorer Race books); no hair, or eyebrows or eyelashes. Amongst the many hybridisation experiments was also a 60%/40% Zeta/human in attempting to bridge the communication gap between Zetas and humans, or Zetas and hybrid Zeta/humans.

A more recent version, the 51%/49% type, referred to as the 'Whites' or the 'Borendt' has been successful. This hybrid is created either by egg donor (on the ship) or by fetus transplant. In the latter case, a human female is abducted, given a fetus transplant and returned to Earth. The gestation period in the womb will vary according to the amount of silica matrix in the DNA the female possesses. With more of the silica matrix, or full quota, the gestation period can be about four months. After this period, frequencies of the hybrid are becoming too high for the host and the environment. This would destroy the hybrid and probably kill the woman by drawing too much on her energy reserves. The female is abducted again after a maximum tolerable gestation period and the fetus removed. In some cases the gestation period is only about two months governed by the lack of silica matrix. The longer period of incubation is preferable since this will produce a hybrid which will be able to withstand better the Earth environment and be able to relate more effectively with humans.

When the Zetas began their program of testing and observing humans they did not know the full implications of what they were getting into. The big picture was of course beneficial to both humans and Zetas. It appears that owing to the compatible origin of humans and Zetas (Lyran and Vegan genetics), and furthermore the relationship of their problems—war/emotions; Zeta decreasing population/Earth increasing population; Zeta past similar to our present/future; and also learning of how they have destroyed their race compared with humans heading for similar destruction—the linear time lines (were) merged to cause our present to be a probable past for the Zetas. In other words, the whole plan was overseen by higher ET councils and engineered for the benefit of both species.

The Zetas thus eventually attained the realisation of this bigger picture (inspired from higher realms) and adjusted their program accordingly. They understood they couldn't handle their condition in any short period of time and that their destiny rested with humans. They considered there was little future for their old body form; they needed a new structure to continue their consciousness. They thus directed their attention to contacts with humans more conducive to maximum benefits for them, with a view to perfecting the hybrid human-Zeta.

The hybrids form an ideal bridge between Zetas and humans, in particular, to enable Zetas to understand humans better. But essentially they were created as an alternative in case the Zeta race became extinct. As stated, however, it is now known that the Zeta body is becoming more biological with the potential to recover their spiritual connections through balanced emotional- body development, and they will not require the hybrid.

The Zeta-human hybrid is taller than the Zeta, and is about 5 feet. The female has hair, which is white; the males no hair, as with the Zetas. Their faces are a compromise of human and Zeta, which means the head and the eyes are a little smaller than the Zetas; the nose and mouth a little larger but still very small. Earlier versions had four fingers and a short pointed 'thumb' with no nail but recent types have five fingers; the thumb as long as the fingers giving increased dexterity.

This hybrid is the species, genetically speaking, known as the ET called Essassani. We shall cover this future ET type in the next chapter.

Regarding the agenda for the preservation of the human population, a position was reached in which human babies were sustained on the ships but no one knew how to look after them. They were dying. Women were abducted for the purpose of nursing the babies but the problem of suitable environments arose and the babies needed direct contact with the females. Moreover, a further hope was to extract from the minds of the women information and pictures for infant care. Unfortunately the Zetas came up with chaotic material from their point of view—information from films, abuse of children, etc. They couldn't handle it. Finally it was decided to create another hybrid: about 90% human and 10% Zeta to care for the infants.

This was apparently successful, and women from Earth were brought in to teach the hybrids. Remember all this can be achieved leaving the women with no more than a dream-like memory. At some point the project of preserving the human race via these children was found not necessary and that humanity was not destined to become extinct. In spite of the apparently wasted time and energy on this project something purposive and extremely positive was revealed. These hybrids were discovered to be healers with amazing powers. According to the Explorer series, to be merely touched by these 90%/10% hybrids instantly removed all stress, mentally and physically. They themselves had complete immunity to all mental and physical disease. Furthermore, if contact by them is continued for 20 minutes or so, all karma is erased: diseases healed and mentality balanced. They are now being trained for this purpose and it was said that they are very much looking forward to coming to Earth. Note the synchronicity that these healers of humans were created initially to nurse human babies and save the race—and they have now turned out to be healers for the human race.

These hybrids average over 5 feet, have hair, nose slightly smaller than the average human's, eyes wider apart, but all in all could essentially pass as humans.

We see that both Zeta hybrids were no longer required for their original purpose: preservation of the Zeta and human race. We can also see why the Zeta obtained from the higher realms the motive to create these new species—even though a 'white lie'. They are both a viable and valuable genetic type. They are being given their own planets for the development of their own societies.

From the unenlightened Zeta viewpoint the 51%/49% Zeta- human hybrids, which were being created to safeguard their dying species and into which their consciousness would be transferred, and which although found to be now unnecessary, manifested unexpected gratitude towards humans for their existence and would in no way harm them, except those hybrids under programmed control of the negative Zetas and Dracos.

Let us include a summary from such a hybrid's statement, channelled through O'Ryin Swanson in 1997 in the Shining the Light series of books.

This being offers profuse thanks to Earth people who helped bring their species into existence. The hybrid states that without Earth's contribution their race would not be alive and flourishing today. He then went on to say that the trauma, the pain, heartache, fear and all of the residual emotions in humanity, resulting from the Zetas' lack of understanding of human emotion and the Zetas' scientific approach to beings they did not understand, was not in vain. It brought the awareness that we are not alone; that what we have been told by the controlling Earth rulers is a lie. Earth people who interacted consciously or unconsciously with the Zetas since the mid '40s were pioneers, courageous adventurers, who on a soul level were willing to subject themselves to unpleasant experiences because they cared enough to want humanity to advance. The unnamed hybrid added, “Without your contribution there would be no bridge between our races that creation of this magnificent race had achieved, of which I am a part. All of you, whether you remember it or not are owed a great debt—a great, great debt by our race.”

We now come to the next part in this Zeta/hybrid scenario, which will stretch the readers’ credulity to its limit. The Zetas did not realize their destiny at the time the abduction program began. Now since all negative actions have to be uncreated, or so we are told, the Zetas with their new perspective will conduct a procedure to uncreate unfavourable elements from this period of trauma. They are restructuring their past, which is our present.

Thus even though the experiences will be uncreated, a part of the soul of those humans involved (the abductees, etc.) will always know that when courageous beings were needed to do something beyond human understanding they allowed themselves at the soul level to be subjected to these experiences, knowing the value of what the soul of both races were trying to do.

Certain events in which there was negative government interactions will be uncreated such as providing technologies that the secret government then used negatively against the public instead of for their benefit.

This restructuring of the past will have little effect on our public technologies since the ET knowledge was retained by the government. It will, in particular, erase most alien contacts of a negative nature. Devices implanted in the sinus cavities and brain areas will never have occurred. Zoosh indicates that 87% of these incidents will be uncreated, ‘unbraided’—they will not exist for people.

All this will weaken the hold the secret government has on the population. Further to this, the remaining 13% of the human-Zeta interactions will remain and be sufficient to hold in place the benefits the Zetas gained (and also humans) regarding their emotional plight.

The full relationship between humans and Zetas probably goes beyond our comprehension. Our time lines have been interconnected—possibly due to common genetics brought about during some period in the Atlantis era (where they were then known as the Zephilim), plus the original connections. A result of this is the Zeta viewing and visiting us from the future but reliant on our success in avoiding the disasters they incurred. How well we do, determines the ascension level they will reach. There are already Zeta masters at the higher levels, for example, ones nine-dimensional. This restructuring of their past will finally disconnect these interconnecting lines—we will not be connected.

Another example of how our lives are interwoven with the Zetas is that our oriental race, according to the Zeta named Joopah, is originally related to Zeta Reticuli. In addition, and collectively speaking, the orientals hold the mental body of the human race, which absorbs 40% of their energy/'attention'. The reason, not specified, probably assumed obvious, was to stop us from falling into the same trap—mental development at the expense of the emotional.

A source of entertainment for the Zetas is to utilise their powerful mental ability to create holographic light forms. A member of a group may create a holographic sculpture in space and then others may join in, adding their versions.

We have covered a fair amount of material on the Zeta-human interaction and we can see how the varied human viewpoints may arise. Moreover, there is always a higher level monitoring the lower level, even one 'above' the non-physical dimension of the Zetas.

The Zetas also created other hybrids. There are many strains of the Zeta/human hybrid, each tailored to fulfill certain functions in the Zeta plan. One of the earlier designs produced a tallish, thin and white-skinned body with wispy hair. These have the ability to understand human emotions even better than later versions of a more sophisticated nature. Their biology and psychology is closer to human's.

There are small blue Zetas seen by abductees, and browns for the purpose of providing workers. These species, however, contain other genetic material from animals and other dimensions. These workers are less intelligent and are programmed to serve higher minds as guards or soldiers, etc.

Another category of hybrid is one combining human, Zeta and one other ET's genetic material. One such ET is the Aethien, tall mantis-like being acting as teachers for the Zetas. They are advanced spiritually and only work with benevolent Zetas.

Thus a new hybrid emerged combining human, Zeta and Aethien genes. The Guardian Alliance (Voyagers book) refers to them as the Zionites. This has created a master race, but the genetic material from humans wasn't of the present. It was taken from the distant past by sending hybrids back in time to directly interact with humans (free of mutations) from advanced civilisations.

Apart from hybrids with Zeta genetics it must be pointed out that the human is probably the most diverse hybrid, containing genes mainly from the Pleadians, Orions, Lyrans, Sirians, Anunnaki, Vegans, Andromedans, reptilians and earlier Zeta material, but also from hundreds of other species comprising a few percent of the human DNA. Thus many ETs contributed to the human genome, particularly the reptilians. In fact the reptilians are considered to have created the human 'primate race', which gives them (as the so-called Dracos) a dominant hold over man and potential control over the planet Earth (see Chapter 3).

THE ESSASSANI

As we mentioned briefly, the Zeta-human hybrid genetically is the same as the extraterrestrial race referred to as the Essassani. This means the hybrids are on an evolutionary path to become potentially a successful benevolent race that corresponds to the Essassani. It does not, however, mean they are on the same time line. That is, if, say, we imagine this hybrid species dying out now it will not wipe out the Essassani. The energy is similar and will contribute to the Essassani race which is, in effect, in the future. Similarly the very existence of the Essassani will have contributed to the success of the Zeta-human hybrid. Thus the Essassani is a future version of the mass hybridisation program in which the Zetas have been involved.

They identify themselves by the name Essassani but this is actually the title of their planet. Their race is the Sassani. The Es means ‘place’ and the full name Essassni means ‘place of living light’.

We are told by an Essassani ET, named Anima, that their planet exists about 500 light years in the direction of the Orion constellation but it is no longer in our frequency band and not detectable by us. They live in a future period equivalent to our 23rd century (not necessarily on our time line though). This being reminds us that confusion is a wonderful thing—such as that occurring in the Zeta-human interaction—it leads to new realities.

Their physical appearance could be described as about half way between human and Zeta. They are about 5 feet tall with greyish skin. Only the females have hair, which is white with some exceptions. The head is not as big proportionately as the Zetas; nose is small and mouth is smaller than humans but larger than the Zetas, and is functional. Eyes are large and black due to pupil size, with some grey. The extraterrestrial states that the male and female energies are balanced.

All experience is in the present; they don't judge experiences. They do not cause polarities (which is separating self from the experience and perception) but exist in the unity of all things— and create their own time. They took a path of evolution which was learned from others—Pleiadians, Earth people, and the Ze- tas—and chose 'the play that worked'. Anima added that 'you have all chosen to have us play this role'.

The Essassani using the name Bashar, meaning messenger has been communicating material to Earth for many years through Darryl Anka. A great deal of information has been accumulated, mainly available as audio tapes. Bashar confirms what Anima reports.

Their planet is a little smaller than ours, and gravity is about 85% of ours. Although they do have a physicalised world, as he states, they do not follow the flow of keeping track of time. They do have days based on a single rotation of the planet and slightly longer, about 25 of our hours. Since their planet is about 120 million miles from their star (we are 93 million from our Sun), their year is 454 days. Their star is hotter, compensating for the increase in distance.

There are no major structures on their planet; it is mainly park-like and very green. A population of approximately 250 million exist mainly in city ships, and the planet surface is used for recreational purposes. The tilt of the planet is three to four degrees, giving a relatively constant temperature throughout the year.

The city ships range from one to ten miles in length. They are used to explore galaxies and contacting planets within the Association of Worlds. He explains how the energies of planets and civilisations are related in triads; Earth, Essassani and Sirius is one triad. This is a kind of hierarchy in which just as humans evolve and also individual planets, also whole civilisations with planets move up, so to speak, the same framework of ascension steps.

The Essassani live to around 300 years. They die consciously, even with their eyes open, chosen to be the right time to move on and expand. There is no decay of the body; it converts instantaneously back into universal energy.

They have a synchronistic civilisation typical of all advanced races. No governments are required; they operate more by networks, on an individual and group basis.

Individuals or groups provide a needed service in such a manner that no monetary or barter system is necessary; everything is free. Their lifestyle is always 'very spontaneous, very joyful, very ecstatic'.

They emphasise the harmonic number 'three', even to the point of having three-sided scout crafts, that is, triangular shaped. Bashar's craft is 8 feet thick/high and length of a side is 40 feet. It is powered by light, piloted by computer mind-link with a navigator, and the ship hulls are a crystalline-metallic composite 'grown' on force-field templates. In the centre of the craft is the central power with peripheral control panels and telepathy chamber.

The Sassani's planet, Essassani, is in a star system with six other planets orbiting their star, Sha. There are a total of 27 moons.

Bashar has channeled a complete book, Blueprint for Change, full of remarkable wisdom in simple language. He has communicated many tapes with positive quick-fire unhesitant speech and lucid answers to questions.

CHAPTER 7

THE LYRA CONSTELLATION AND HUMAN ORIGINS

Our origin was not on planet Earth but in the Lyra constellation. There were apparently many colonised planets in the region of the sky we call the Lyra constellation. We don't have the names of these stars. This would date at least hundreds of millions of years ago. Spiritual wisdom was lacking amongst the Lyrans and typically, conflicts arose with subsequent wars. Nevertheless, with the development of space technology, peace-loving Lyrans departed Lyra and eventually discovered Earth, which was uninhabited. Others from Lyra went directly to the Pleiades. (Note that there appears to be some contradiction within the New-Age field regarding man's true origin; however, we are favouring this one. Nevertheless we should also note that this origin is somewhat 'flexible' and refers to the first humanoid format; the consciousness would exist in other forms long before this.)

The journey was a long one, in fact, it took generations. They did not have interdimensional travel. They thus did not return to their own planets. The Lyran races on their home worlds eventually evolved and were transformed into fourth density but not the Lyrans that colonised planet Earth.

Nevertheless, further strife and war developed on Earth, causing yet another split in the population. One group went to the Pleiades system. This group paid attention to their emotionally disturbed condition and focussed their energies on meditation and spiritual matters, as did the existing inhabitants in the Pleiades. They went to great lengths to avoid any negativity.

As a result, these particular beings, or Pleiadians, evolved thousands of years ahead of their counter-parts on Earth, where strife and destruction continued, resulting in some eighteen separate and consecutive civilisations on Earth (as channeled by Robert Shapiro). Since inhabiting Earth, the race has undergone countless interactions with extraterrestrials and subsequent genetic modifications.

Let us now return to the Lyrans, our forefathers. Considerable diversity existed on the planets of the star systems in Lyra, as is the case on Earth today and, according to channel Lyssa Royal Holt, the first Lyrans or 'first expression of physicality' was smaller than the present average human.

As the Lyran culture developed (running parallel with their colonisation of Earth), genetic changes occurred altering these physical characteristics. Many groups formed, exhibiting much greater physical differences than today amongst our different ethnic races.

One giant type of Lyran was said to be from six to nine feet tall. The females were in the lower range. This taller race was the product of continued existence on Lyran planets of greater gravitational fields. The Lyrans (from Lyra) visited their colonised Earth for a period of time, and the worshipping of Gods on Earth has some origin with the giant Lyrans as denoted in Greek mythology. These Lyrans were also Caucasian, of light skin, hair and eyes. Medium brown hair was unusual. They had a predominant trait of being authoritative. They acted like parents, but very strict ones, and humans both loved and feared them. The Lyrans were committed to ruling mankind, whereas the accompanying ETs, the Sirians, were benevolent.

A genetic offshoot from this tall-bodied race was the red-haired Lyrans. Skin was very fair, and eyes light to green, but not all were tall; some were of average human stature. These redheads have been accused by other worlds as being invaders and plunderers. The pure bred was aggressive and violent and to some degree rebellious.

The red hair was apparently the result of colonisation of another planet in which the mineral content and the atmosphere caused mutations, leading to a red hue. Further subgroups were formed but overall we inherited genes from the Caucasian Lyrans, the giants and the red heads.

A further influence is from a more rare darker-skinned Lyran. Features were Caucasian but skin, light brown. Eyes were brown, some green. This group has brought the genetic influence for the Pakistan and Indian races, but none of our races today are pure extensions of these Lyran types.

In addition, this group of Lyrans were very passive and peaceful, with a lack of emotional reaction. This darker-skinned race has similarities to the Vegans described later but they have a different genetic structure.

A lack of contact today with the Lyrans appears to be due to their advancement but they do have difficulties with Earth's disharmonious vibrations. Nevertheless, they have great independence, and ability to adapt to other planetary environments. In fact they have been called the chameleons of the universe by the Arcturians. They radiate light from their head areas but find it difficult to satisfy the heart centres while in the Earth's atmosphere. The 'independence' trait is very valuable—which humans have acquired—for movement into the New-Age. The Lyrans ride on many frequency bands but may settle on one as the occasion arises.

The Lyran types mentioned so far are humanoid in appearance. There are subgroups which are mammals that are bird-like and cat-like. They account for some of our mythology.

The bird-like Lyrans were very thin with sharp, angular facial features resembling a bird. They are intellectuals, scientists and explorers. The cat-like Lyran resembles the feline of our world. They are not cat people but humanoid with cat-like qualities, very agile and strong. The nose is similar to a cat's and ears a little pointed. Eyes are large and mouth dainty. They do not have fur but have a layer of fine hair to protect them from the harsh ultraviolet rays on their planet.

The eyes of Lyrans and also Vegans are pronounced and this accentuation has been depicted in the Egyptian civilisation; it is an imitation of the Gods. Moreover the visiting Lyrans to Earth who were treated like gods by the earthlings wished to retain this altitude and control. As a result, the Lyran gods tampered with earthlings' genes to create the small, simian, ape-like eyes. Thus the human's small eyes are particularly noticeable to most ETs. As an amusing aside, today when the human looks in the mirror they are reminded unconsciously of the ape.

The Sirians, who were present on the Earth at the time and took a more affectionate view of the Earthlings, were not in agreement but it was too late to change it. In fact, the Sirians encouraged the practice of emphasising the eyes so that we would never forget our forefathers, the Lyrans.

Most civilisations which directly concern Earth have originated in the Lyra constellation. The Vegans also have the above-mentioned Lyran influence but Vega is a star within Lyra. It has, however, sufficient genetic independence to be regarded as having a unique genotype. Later this Lyrans and Vegan genetic lineage was disseminated with the colonisation of Altair, Sirius, Antares and Orion.

The Vegan genetics produce a physique of six to seven feet tall. Skin is Caucasian and dark, and is thicker than humans enabling it to withstand high degrees of heat and cold. Hair colour is mainly black, though some Vegan races have no hair. Eyes are striking, with large dark pupils and irises, and possessing a lid in contrast to the Zeta's large dark eyes that have no lid.

The above describes the humanoid type of Vegan with human appearance. Another type exists of reptilian and insect-like appearance. Some of the subgroups have a greenish tinge to their skin. Eyes are very large with small nose and prominent jaw. The latter gives the reptilian appearance when thrust forward, and insect-like when pointed downward.

Eagles were common symbols for many Lyrans, in particular, the phoenix adopted by Earth people, but the myth came from the Lyrans civilisation. It was a symbol for them that their empire would never be destroyed. It gave them power and was used to show their strength in battle.

Most of the above information came from Lyssa Royal's material, in particular, her excellent book Prism of Lyra.

[Note that, as already indicated, pin-pointing the exact origin of humans is probably impossible as it depends on the context, on where we draw the line between the spiritual existence and human material existence. The Lyrans planets could probably be said to be the origin of the soul consciousness relating to human-type bodies of sufficient density to be labelled and identified as humans. If one, however, examined a point of consciousness closer to the Source (further 'up' the hierarchy) one would produce a different result.

The soul level of humans will have been all over the universe—in particular, since, as we have implied, boundaries dissolve as we address greater proximity to Source. At this higher level it is stated in esoteric literature that 60 billion monads were created from Source. Each of these monads then extends to many souls which in turn project again into soul extensions (humans).]

THE PLEIADIANS

The Pleiades is a cluster of hundreds of stars about 400 light years from Earth. Although it is referred to as the Seven Sisters, only six bright stars can be seen with the naked eye in the night sky. Our sun, which is the eighth star of Pleiades and is a twin star to Sirius A, orbits Alcyone, the central star in the Pleiades about every 24,000 years (not to be confused with the major 'New-Age' cycle of 26,556 years).

The Pleiadians are considered our nearest brothers due to the fact that, as mentioned earlier, the race became divided within the Lyra civilisations following conflicts and wars; some went to the Pleiades and others to Earth. Again conflicts caused a division and a section of the population on Earth departed and settled in the Pleiades. Since then, over thousands of years, both the Lyrans and Pleiadians have visited and stayed on Earth, adding further to the genetic pool.

The group which made their home in the Pleiades devoted themselves to benevolent relationships, meditation and spiritual upliftment, with complete avoidance of negativity, contrary to the Earth group. As a result of thousands of years of Pleiadian evolution along these more harmonious lines of development, they became thousands of years ahead of Earth both technologically and spiritually.

Nevertheless, the Pleiadians in their determination to avoid conflict had withdrawn as a civilisation and were not aware of what was going on in the galaxy. They developed advanced technology but kept to themselves and began to lose touch with reality. For example, wars were still waging on planet Earth.

During this time a race from the Orion empire had grown in power and were conquering planets in the neighbourhood galaxy. A galactic war ensued which was essentially the Orions against everyone else. This 'everyone else' eventually formed the first confederation.

The Pleiadians, however, were unaware all this was going on. When they realised it they were compelled to intervene. In fact the violence of the Orions represented a reflection of the Pleiadians' inner suppression. They turned on the Orions vigorously and the Orions retaliated. In fact they destroyed one of the Pleiadians beautiful planets of life. To this day it is still a burned- out lifeless planet.

The Pleiadians eventually became enlightened as to the role the Orions played in their own inner turmoil. Some even reincarnated into the Orion group. By now the Orion's reign of violence had ceased and they came under the Galactic Confederation and Brotherhoods. The next step was for the Pleiadians to confront their own negativity through contact with an unevolved planet such as Earth. They visited Earth but as was the case with all visiting relatively-evolved races they were treated as gods.

They have since visited Earth many times, in fact, they have, as a result of a more recent fortuitous event, a very rapid means of transit in their spacecrafts via the vortex of our Great Pyramid. This occurred as a result of a tilt in the Earth's axis, changing the realignment of the pyramid from one directed at Sirius to resonance with the Pleiades. (The Sirians previously used it for rapid transport to Earth in case of an emergency in which the resistance aliens were tampering with the Arc of the Covenant—see Appendix.)

Now, we are all familiar with the 'prime directive' of the Star Trek series relating to noninterference by extraterrestrials. The Pleiadians are probably the most strict on this rule, which no doubt has arisen because of their no-intervention violation during the last photon-belt encounter. (Our solar system traverses the photon belt—a 'nebula' of electromagnetic energy of light and other frequencies—every 10,000 years or so; see Appendix.)

This particular interaction with the photon belt caused many Earth upheavals. Evacuation procedures were organised by the Pleiadians to save Earth people from the cataclysms. It is reported that this intervention unfortunately arrested the development of our civilisation, interfering with a potential quantum leap in learning and evolution in which this photon belt experience was necessary to catalyse change.

Owing to this destructive intervention, spiritual law decrees that the Pleiadians, in creating these negative consequences of blocking our race's progress must be 'tied' to Earth and not able to evolve until they have aided us in our evolution in a positive manner. In fact it was stated that they must help us to catch up to them before they can progress further.

Thus we can be sure that the Pleiadians, having learned their lessons of their inopportune 'kindness' to Earthlings, will act with maximum benevolence towards Earth. There are six planets in the Pleiades inhabited by advanced Pleiadians though there are variations in the genotype and consciousness expression. (Common sense would seem to dictate that if there are hundreds of stars there must be more than six planets inhabited; this needs further checking.)

Three of the planets are inhabited by human-type Pleiadians, that is, are in similar bodies to humans, and the other planets are inhabited by light and energy beings, where reside a council of twelve super beings who rule the Pleiadian culture. The three planets that are inhabited by the physical type are called Arian, Alderon, and Aldebaran.

There is a collective group of Pleiadians consisting of beings both focussed in bodies and manifesting as light beings, which are channelling information through Barbara Marciniak (these Pleiadians, which could consist of members from all the six planets, are gathering further non-Pleiadian members).

Of the human type of Pleiadian there is a variation in height. One race has bodies around seven feet tall and another smaller, about five to six feet. These typical Pleiadians are caucasian and a combination of several genetic types. In appearance eyes range from blue to golden and slightly almond-shaped in the shorter stature race. Hair is light and in rare cases, dark or are redheads, and ears a fraction lower than human's.

It was the seven-foot Pleiadians who according to the book History of the Universe by the Unarius Educational Foundation, once visited the Orion empire with a view to lifting their civilisation into a more spiritual development. On arrival the Orions' egos were deflated by the taller stature of the Pleiadians and their beautiful sleek and swift spacecrafts. Each race, Orion and Pleiadian, accepted the extended visit as an exchange of culture, though the Pleiadian's intent was rehabilitation and the Orion's was a deceptive acceptance to inveigle better technology from the Pleiadians and further, to attempt to subtly degrade them. Needless to say it was not a successful exchange.

Emotionally the Pleiadians are very harmonious due to the path of development they chose to take, which avoided negativity, even repression, but are now going beyond repression. Nevertheless, emotionally they are similar to humans but wouldn't be happy confronting negative emotions the way humans do. In fact we are informed that advanced ETs will avoid interacting with the negative vibrations of this planet except on special missions. They report that walking, say, in the streets of New York is like walking through solid rock—a high density of fragmented low vibrations—and subsequently is painful. They are somewhat affected adversely by our polluted air but needn't wear protection. In addition we are told from other sources that some Pleiadian races breath nitrogen (oxygen 'rusts'; ages the body). Humourously speaking (and its effect) nitrous oxide would be a common ground for Pleiadians and humans.

Billy Meier states they are keen gardeners and this enables them to maintain contact with creation. Some of their flowers change colour during the day to obtain maximum benefit from the sun. He explains that every Pleiadian must become familiar with 12 to 20 professions. They do not marry until at least 70 and mature in 12 to 15 years, and they have strict mental and physical examinations before marriage.

When a child is born on Pleiades it is soon given spiritual exercises and education. After about eight months it may be taken into large room softly padded for its protection and comfort. It will then be encouraged to communicate. Up to this age, the child is very receptive to other dimensions and past lives, and thus the Pleiadian adult gleans as much information as possible during this time for their benefit as well as the child's. They download information using special coloured crystals and by moving their hands over the crystals. The baby might be crawling about during this time. Play, for the child on Pleiades, has been perfected as a benevolent applied science. Pleiadians as well as humans are at their most spiritual in very early and very late years since they are in communication more with the next dimension.

Pleiadians vibrate on the spectrum of blue which means they speak their truth and demand justice for all. They are particularly advanced in music and dance. Their main contribution to Earth is to bring new forms of music that we are beginning to experience. This music contains higher vibrations, designed to activate the higher vortices, chakras, within humans to transform humans' consciousness into the higher dimensions. They are experts in sound and light creations, and have opened up many channels on Earth for the advancement of science, art, medicine, and the humanities.

They have many bases on Earth; for example, in the U.S. and the Alps. The latter has been in existence for over 70 years. It is in a closed valley between high peaks and has no roads in or out. It cannot be seen from the air. Meier's contact described a mothership. The contact said it took nearly half a day to explain the mothership and they had barely scratched the surface. The mothership is not just a 10.5-mile sphere in space, but an assembly consisting of one such sphere, three smaller, several mile-diameter spheres joined to the central one 120 degrees apart and below the central one, and a smaller control pod one-half to three-quarter mile in diameter mounted on a long extension three to four miles or more above the main sphere. The whole construction is about 20 miles long. It is entirely built and assembled in space and is not dependent on any planet. The three lower spheres contain the manufacturing facilities and the many factories, repair shops, and food production and processing centres for the whole colony. The larger central sphere contains all of the living quarters, parks, recreational facilities, and the spacecraft hangar decks. (See UFO Contact from the Pleiades by Wendelle Stevens.)

The contactee Billy Meier became somewhat of an expert on Pleadians. He was contacted by a female Pleadian named Semjase from the planet Erra. We might note that she was trained in what we would call diplomatic communication skills for initial interactions with other civilisations. This is quite typical that females perform this role the best. In the near future female astronauts on Earth will be common. The feminine energy is more conducive for this duty.

Semjase's age at that time was 330 years, less than half normal age. She explains about space travel, learning alien languages, 10-mile long motherships and teleportation and androids. The Pleadians believe in God, often referred to as the Law of One, and treat humans as equals.

They are members of the Interdimensional Association of Worlds involving tens of thousands of different ET cultures and even more representatives from the higher, spiritual realms.

Billy Meier also refers to female ET astronauts Menara and Alena from the Lyra group, who worked closely with the Pleadians. Another 'young' female ET from the Pleiades is Sasha, 340 years old, petit, about 100 lbs and 5 feet tall with almond eyes. She describes herself as a sociocultural engineer/anthropologist. She would be invisible to us as are all these ETs of greater spiritual advancement and therefore vibration. Though they can lower their vibrations to ours. The Pleiadians are very spontaneous and act in the now.

Sasha states that their digestive system is different from ours: a central organ with millions of capillaries expanding to the rest of the body and skin surface. Nutrition, which is almost entirely juices with occasional bulk foods, is digested by their ‘stomach’, and waste is passed out at the skin pores. Their human-type elimination system, not needed for many centuries, has atrophied. In other words, there are no toilets on this planet. Clothing is generally loose fitting and made of an organic material that feeds off the toxins from the skin, converting them to a healthy lubricant, which goes back into the skin. Their skin has a translucent glow. She states that their brain’s frontal lobes are larger than ours for intuition and rear ones are more developed for seeing multidimensionally. Their skeleton is more cartilage than bone, especially in the pelvic region. Thus they are much less prone to bone breakages.

Note that other Pleiadian races are more similar to humans internally and have intestines 6—8 feet shorter than ours. They don’t digest the same kind of heavy foods, such as meat. The Pleiadian races are the most similar to humans, even with regard to the ease with which we believe something or have faith.

As with the Zetas they enjoy creating light shows mentally, except that the Pleiadians can put this on the automatic and let the emotions control the light show.

As a final comment let us emphasise that not all Pleiadians have the welfare of mankind at heart. In addition, there are Anunnaki sources channeling through human vehicles, including Pleiadian-Nibiruans, posing as benevolent guides but often supporting the Anunnaki agenda for takeover of Earth.

THE ORION CIVILISATION

The Orion constellation is one of the most brilliant. In legend, it represents a mighty hunter brought down by his own pride. He boasts he could slay all wild animals but he was killed by a scorpion. The constellation's most celebrated feature is the huge nebula 1,500 light years away that lies within the hunter's sword. Amongst the hundreds of stars in the system are two super giants, Betelgeuse and Rigel, 430 and 770 light years away, respectively.

Germain, channelled by Lyssa Royal, tells us that Orions are 89% Vegan and 11% Lyran. Note that Vega is a star in the Lyra constellation of stars, whereas the Orions we are interested in are apparently from the Belegeuse and Rigel star systems.

Of the Orions who are Vegan (89%) in nature, most are of the human type—a smaller percentage is nonhuman. Of the Orions who are Lyran stock (11%), most are light-browed skin, and about 10% are Caucasian type with light hair. Although their bodies are water based like ours they have an oily, fatty content acting like a lubricant. Also, as we indicated earlier, the little Greys occupy a small percentage of the Orion population; their origin, Zeta Reticuli, is a neighbour of the Orion constellation.

Thus, overall, the genetic differences are quite marked. Orions have a reputation for possessing an aggressive nature and have been involved in many destructive wars. Note that the masculine energy is associated with the evolution of beings from the star systems of Orion, which are related to Earth, whereas inhabitants of the Sirius star system, also very much involved with Earth, carry the feminine energy or polarity.

Although there is a symbiosis between consciousness and technology, the Orion races probably pushed this principle to the limit and developed advanced technology (of a type) while still war-waging. The typical scenario was the Light against the Dark; peace-loving Orions opposed by self-serving 'aggressive' Orions.

According to Light Network there are three major players in the galaxy: the Intergalactic Confederation of different star systems throughout the galaxy; the Reptoid Federation, a conglomeration of many reptoid species; and the Orion Empire, ruled by one leader. Now within the domain of the Orion Empire, three groups formed, the dominant Orion Empire, the Black League resistance (to the Empire), and the victims of both these groups. Even though this pattern of behaviour still operates it is less widespread and many individuals have been awakened since the incarnation in Orion of a great avatar.

The authoritarian trait, present on Earth, is not typical amongst ET civilisations and has been acquired from Orion. Many Orions, including the Black League, went to Maldek and settled— this is the planet in our system that was inhabited by many of the so-called fallen angels, who were given the opportunity to reform. As is well known, the civilisation failed to turn to a more spiritual path and the planet was destroyed, leaving the asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter. Some sources indicate it was struck (or disturbed) by the huge planet Nibiru as it entered our system in its counter-direction to the other planets. Many of these Dark forces are on Earth at this time; hence the authoritarian nature that pervades this planet, including an enforced reliance on authority.

On the positive side, however, the Orions have contributed their mental powers for the development of smoothly running systems on Earth. They beam the yellow ray frequency to earth for the stabilisation of the intuitive powers within human consciousness. They are the source for many organisational structures of government, business and industry. Nevertheless this energy is only relevant to Earthman's frequencies, which we shall outgrow and then receive other energies from more advanced races, such as the Lyrans.

Of the genetic percentages mentioned above, the smaller group of nonhuman Vegans would cover the Greys and reptilians and accompanying varieties. It is not uncommon for abductees to refer to small aliens (Greys) directed by a single tall alien (reptilian type, or sometimes, Nordic). The Greys tend to be servants or mercenaries for the tall reptilians. These Greys and Dracos are known as the Rigelians (from the Rigel star) and are extremely dangerous.

The Orions, who have Vegan characteristics, have particularly striking eyes. In fact their priests, who live twice as long as the general population —about a thousand years—have bright blue eyes, which change to that colour as a result of strict spiritual training, involving diet and psychic experience. The common colour for the eyes is brown. Their height is usually in the 7 foot- tall category.

The duties of these priests is the education in theory and practice of all aspects of relationships for both marital and premarital subjects, including procreation rituals, in which full intimacies occur during a 24-hour stay in the priest's temples as a normal custom. Appearance remains similar from young to old with no senility. Attraction is not physical; awareness of inner-consciousness dominates.

In spite of the spiritual implications, there appears still to remain within the Orion civilisations the never-ending conflict between the Orion Empire and the Black League resistance. The Empire appears to be run mainly by the Greys working with a Federation of Draconian Reptilians, with the aim of extending their domination to other planets. These Greys are mainly the ones who negotiate treaties and secret deals with Earth governments.

The resistance group have apparently built cities in and within the mountains. The Empire enforces controlled procreation, numbers of children, etc. and also enforces by Orion law that it is 'forbidden to remember'. The resistance group, however, are free from this mental control. The priests would seemingly be either from this category or the victim group. Their customs are bound to rituals; imagination is not very free and children are told of the myth of Earth: of the freedom to be anything.

A civilisation, particularly expressing what we understand by Orion energy—more masculine—would be the race from planet Vivinau nearer towards the the centre of the galaxy. This is the home of the Warrior League. The Warrior League brings order to their society, and is essentially divided into 1) the 'amenable'— people who would not rule and are subsequently trained to be amenable (no resistance, or anarchy, terrorists, protestors)—and 2) the 'omnipotent'—those who would rule.

The interaction of this race with humans was considered by the Orions to have the purpose of bringing a similarly designed order to us claiming this is a duty on their part given by the 'Creator'. They notice now, however, they are ineffective; their last monitors having visited Earth in 1957 with decreasing influence to the present. They accept that the Creator no longer requires their assistance—their energy—on Earth any more, and that the Creator apparently has other plans. These warriors wonder how we will cope. They apparently operate on the principle of destroying negativity, criminals, terrorists, to bring order, not seemingly recognising that ultimately rehabilitation is the only way, or simply not reflecting these 'negativities' into the environment from one's own mind. This latter, is clearly the path for humans, hence the Creator's removal of this Orion influence.

Zoltec of the warrior league answers questions via channeling in the Explorer Race books. He states that the average height of this race is over 7 feet tall. They have a similar body to humans but tougher skin. They consider humans weak, physically, mentally and emotionally—they utilise the power of passion.

Their form and means of help to Earth has been through the so-called men-in-black (MIB). Much has been written about these mysterious 'emissaries'. From the Earth person's viewpoint more negativity seems to be associated with these MIB than positive. But they insist that they have protected us from the negative Sirians and also (ironically) from all such races as the Pleiadians, who are 'trying to get you to imitate them . . . they are chaotic.' Also the MIB influence government decisions by advocating adherence to their successful societal model and that societies which have used that form of government on Earth have survived the longest. Note that they praise and respect the Roman Empire.

The MIB are of human size and roughly similar appearance but contain the Orion soul essence. The bodies are cloned by the little Greys who are also in the Orion system. These clones with Orion souls are the MIB. They are sent in small space capsules to Earth; a journey taking about seven years. On arrival they are trained for a year or so in Earth customs, etc., at an Orion station. They apparently cannot stand our weak energy.

Zoltec refers to the anarchy from the Black League, which he states originally brought down Atlantis, and he likens them to our terrorists. Prior to Atlantis they were chased from the Orion planets to Maldek, a small planet in our solar system with an ordered civilisation according to Zoltec, destroyed by the Black League, now a cluster of asteroids between Jupiter and Mars. According to Zoosh a propulsion fuel was developed to accelerate them beyond light speed for their escape. The fuel, a 'hydrogen-oxygen combinant' was unstable but extremely powerful. It was manufactured in large quantities and was sufficient to destroy the planet. Many of these destructive beings then incarnated on Earth.

When asked how they communicate with the Creator, he describes visitations of the 'All-Powerful' in the form of a female warrior of golden light with armour and sword. She is described as the ultimate female; just to be touched with her sword was 'a wonderful thing.' The above Orion warrior material is taken from the Explorer Race books.

Clearly the only way the Creator could communicate to these warriors was in a form acceptable to them—virtually in their own making. They appear to be totally blocked of feminine energy or a world in which all problems can be solved harmoniously. In spite of their psychical abilities, their experience, intelligence and technology, they are stuck. If they knew, however, what evolution had in store for them they would misunderstand it and reject it—simply because of the necessary feminine energy. Hence it seems they must have more limited perception in this area than humans. When Zoltec was asked about the future of Orion (and they have advanced technologies for seeing future probabilities, etc.) he replied he didn't want to know. They didn't like what they saw; reminded them of humans—weak.

As a final piece of information about the Orions of some interest was the fact that they apparently created the huge cavern under Cape Good Hope. The Shining The Light books describe the size of this as of the order of magnitude as Rhode Island.

Following one of the many Atlantis disasters, in which the surface of Earth was not habitable, the Atlanteans, who survived, sent out signals for help. The Orions apparently immediately responded and shortly arrived in a large ship. According to the Zoosh material their technology was such that they built the cavern about 150 miles under Cape Good Hope and did this in about 16 hours—primarily for the Atlanteans. However, their motivations weren't without self-interest. Any opportunity to preserve a connection with Earth was taken advantage of in case they needed to utilise it in the future, such as for resources. Thus they did in fact examine the probabilities for their future which showed they did need the connection with Earth for the next 100,000 years. They thus set up equipment in one 'corner' of the cavern, and protected it with fields, even of a nature to make Atlanteans sick if they came close. After this they left for their home planet in Orion.

THE SIRIUS CONNECTION

The star Sirius, the brightest in the sky as viewed from Earth, can be found in the Canis Major constellation. It is 8.6 light years from Earth and its starlight depicts the larger of the two dogs of Orion, the hunter. It is a double star with Sirius B orbiting Sirius A every 50 years. Sirius B is 10,000 times fainter than Sirius A.

Earth energies are very much related to Sirius, since Sirius is involved with the genetic project on Earth. In fact billions of years ago the star Sirius B apparently imploded creating the fragments: Earth, Nibiru, Sirius C and the remaining Sirius B (other material states that Earth was formed from fragments in the Sirius system). Our solar system along with Sirius (double star) and the Pleiades revolve around the galactic centre every 225 million years (the reptilian cycle).

About four-million years ago Sirius B played a significant role in advancing humans in the formation of a human-Sirian hybrid called the Kantarians. They were semi-dense physical beings and they founded the Kantarian Federation to serve as guardians and educators for Earth humans; they became heavily involved with old Sumerian and Egyptian cultures.

The Sirians are masters of sacred geometry and control planetary orbits by sound. Apparently a cat's agile and harmonious movements are stated in channeling to teach subconsciously, Sirian geometry. Sirius contains one of the more advanced training centres for higher evolution. The Egyptians and Mayans were to a large degree originally Sirians.

Sirians play the role of grounding on Earth advanced information, such as from Alpha Centauri, which is so high in vibration that contact with Earth is difficult. Sirians bridge the gap between their theoretical knowledge and its practical application on planets such as Earth. They created methods for grounding and integrating knowledge, and built the pathways and tunnels to inner worlds and to the stars. There are many Sirians on many levels and they are mostly in the light realms.

We on Earth are so much related to Sirius that it is the last place we were before incarnating each lifetime onto Earth, that is, we spiritually pass through the vibratory realm of this star. Sirius is where the Great White Brotherhood and other spiritual councils and authorities convene to discuss the many missions and concerns that effect all within this galaxy.

Many ETs apparently had a hand in the building of the Great Pyramid: the Sirians, the Pleiadians and the Anunnaki. The Sirians were much more benevolent and sympathetic towards Earthlings as opposed to the suppressive rule of the Anunnaki from Nibiru, and the more spiritual Sirians were able to reach Earth from Sirius A by spacecraft instantly through the aligned vortex of the Great Pyramid. This facility was available in the event the Anunnaki resistance group interfered with the Arc of the Covert, which was secure in the vault of the pyramid base. Note that since then major wars, the so-called electric wars, disturbed the pyramid's alignment, placing it out of resonance with Sirius but in alignment with the Pleiades, facilitating their transit to Earth.

According to the Explorer Books, the third-dimensional Sirians came to Earth as the Mayans and created the Mayan civilisation. Even though they came by advanced spacecraft technology they were very basic and in tune with the Earth. They travelled very much on foot, were runners and could cover considerable distances. The equipment they brought wouldn't work in Earth's environment.

Thus the Mayans were part Sirians. They had a mission in coming to Earth that they became aware of about two to three- thousand years ago. The channeled information from Zoosh states that their mission was to torque the pole through the Earth and unbalance it (this was apparently done by mystical means). The purpose was to speed up our evolution and test us to see if we were ready. (If Mother Earth makes the correction to this contrived distortion instead of us it could be a disaster for surface dwellers.)

Once Earthman develops a spiritual science the pole can be realigned. The original landing of the Sirians consisted of about 10,000 of them. The natural expansion increased their numbers to around 90,000. When they left and returned to their original planet a thousand or so stayed behind, who added to the gene pool and to the wisdom.

We have mentioned that Earth originated from Sirius, both the planet and to some degree the inhabitants. In terms of race, however, the Sirians strictly were not the originators of the human species. When they set foot on Earth they did not recognise the advanced race accompanying humans on planet Earth. These were the Andazi (see chapter on other ETs). The Sirians had escaped from a highly negative planet, named Arvahda in the Sirius star system, and considered technology was a measure of advancement. They misjudged the Andazi beings, who were living in grace and in a ‘Garden of Eden’. They lived simply and were totally telepathic. The Sirians viewed them a little like we view our animals; not fully appreciating their abilities. The Andazi could in fact be regarded as founders of our planet.

At this time (at least hundreds of millions of years ago) the Sirians were thousands of years ahead of us technologically today, and came to Earth to a forgiving planet, one in which they would receive allowance, based on the ‘loving law of allowance’.

They would not be resisted. The Andazi particularly had this ability to allow. Note that not all humans would agree with the ethics of this ‘allowance’.

Now Sirius is said to originate from the Vegans; as did most of the ETs associated with Earth’s history (of Vegans and Lyrans). These Sirians thus have a darker skin. In fact the energies from Sirius nurture and sustain Earth through the African race, which has its genetic origin in Sirius. The original race on Earth were dark-skinned prior to further breeding from other ETs. The Explorer books explain that the male and female energies were provided by Orion and Sirius respectively. Sirius is feminine but Orion, masculine. Women had 100% Sirius energy and men 50/ 50, but later a fraction more Orion or masculine.

The Sirians vary from very light brown to very dark brown. They have many Vegan qualities: very striking eyes, large and slightly angled. The Lyrans influence (other star systems in the Lyra constellation besides Vega) became more significant with further interbreeding—skin became light, etc. In spite of similarities arising between Sirians and Lyrans their belief system remains different.

Some of the advanced Sirians having inherited Vegan genetics, consequently acquired the more nonhuman traits such as reptilian or insectoidal. There is great diversity amongst the Sirians not only with the lower third-to-fourth dimensional realms but over the range negative Sirians (to be covered shortly) to Sirian Light beings of the higher dimensions.

Sirius encourages the development of all talents usable for the benefit of others. Realms within the Sirius system can act as way stations and a meeting place for those having mastered their own planetary systems and are preparing for further missions and spiritual development.

Lucifer, an advanced spiritual being, came to Earth from Sirius. According to channel source Zoosh he came with Jehova and other Sirians. Lucifer possessed some different characteristics in addition to the fact that he had more masculine energy from Orion (his father was Orion; mother, Sirian).

The cetaceans—whales, dolphins—relate to Sirius. They are expressions of Sirians. On Sirius they are more akin to us. In effect they are like animal-form extensions on our planet from other planets—as is the case of other creatures, dogs, cats, etc.—of more advanced consciousness from other planets, though deliberately giving the appearance of being inferior to man on planet Earth to retain the function of man being the dominant race. The basis and reason for this is that man—the explorer race is aiding the resolving of the karma of other ETs. This is a more difficult concept and there is not the space to deal with it here. In addition, this connection of Sirius with the ocean enables a check and study to be made of the condition of the water-creatures in relation to Earth changes.

Amazingly, amongst the advanced civilisations of Sirius, the university of higher spiritual paths, the great diversity of races includes a small planet inhabited by what we have come to name the negative Sirians.

One's immediate reactions to these Sirian warriors is the recognition of the similarity to the Orions of the Warrior League (see chapter on Orions). Nevertheless, this would be a huge insult to the Orions, who in fact, according to them protected us from the negative Sirians.

The purpose of these negative Sirians is to cause disruption and disorder on our planet. They genuinely believe that as humans ascend into the fourth-dimensional spectrum and they in turn move into the third, from their lower spectrum, referred to as second dimensional, it will destroy them. Apparently no amount of persuasion from advanced ETs will convince them it is to their advantage. They are stuck in their thinking and suspicious of everyone. They are simply trying to survive.

Owing to their limited belief system and negatively oriented consciousness they only have a rudimentary form of space travel— though advanced relative to us. It is a form of atomic energy; they cannot teleport over stellar distances. They can, however, utilise a window (dimensional portal which has been allowed for them) to bring them to our present time (they cannot access our past and future as can the renegade and pirate ETs). Note that they are being monitored from higher realms—as indeed we all are—to come to Earth to interact with humans for mutual karmic resolution and evolution. The window was specially allowed but they could not use it for return. In fact it is stated that the small Sirian planet has recently imploded due to excess negativity. The only compatible place for the negative Sirians was planet Earth. They come in at dimension 3.0, which means they are not readily detectable to us (probably underground) and furthermore Light workers, in their astral bodies (this is generally unknown to the human personality) are aiding the negative Sirian's transition.

The negative Sirians can clone other species to put blame on them for the Sirian's misdeeds. They clone the Zeta body and have used this to take the blame for the cattle mutilations, conducted by the Sirians—also involving the secret government. These 'Zetas' are, however, a little larger — 4 to 5 feet tall—than the genuine Zeta body. They contain some human genes to facilitate their fear-mongering and they can be programmed to carry out orders.

We mentioned the MIB (the men in black) and that they were created by the Orion warriors with positive intentions towards humans—though generally frightening to humans. The Sirians created a cloned version of these human-like MIB with the purpose of corruption and negative control on this planet.

Sometimes the cloned Greys operate and are seen with the cloned MIB—even disguised as humans (big floppy hats, turned- up collars, etc.), creating a ludicrous spectacle. But the MIB very much have this reputation and more so, as given in many reports and books of encounters with them.

These MIB at this time are becoming less of a harassment since they are moving into the third-dimensional spectrum as we move into the fourth. It has, so far, influenced their dreams, which are more peaceful compared with the previous ones of fear and turmoil.

Now these Sirians have underground bases in Arizona, new Mexico, Colorado, which are beginning to link up with California. They are generally not located at the greater depth of the Zeta bases owing to inferior technology. The nine-dimensional Zeta, Joopah, states that their negativity is over 95% (but notice that they thrive on it and don't know anything else, whereas humans are aware there are better states). They interact only with Earth owing to compatible frequencies (we reflect them and viceversa). As we evolve, leaving the third-dimensional Earth, they will inherit this but think they will be destroyed by this dimensional process. In spite of Earth's pollution, etc. it is, according to Joopah a 'Garden of Eden' compared with their planet, before it was destroyed. But it is sufficiently negative for them to feel at home. They believe that they must take over the planet by force—as mentioned, their planet has now imploded.

Channel source Zoosh states that these negative Sirians don't do a great deal of harm (though they try) apart from intimidating and lying to the government, even to the point of threatening them with a weapon which will destroy our planet (true, but apparently it won't work on our planet—our negativity would have to rise to about 75%).

They can clone Zetas and humans to serve their needs. They offered technology to the government in exchange for allowing them to have bases for their experimentation, and they agreed not to interfere with the population. They provided a technology involving focussed-proton radiation (the Sirian's name for it) that the government developed into high-energy lasers. The secret government has since become aware of the Sirian's deceptions.

They are apparently cold-blooded and cannot stand our weather conditions. They believed that with the aid of the cattle blood and various organs a body could be synthesised that would pass as human, into which to transfer their consciousness. They actually apparently succeeded in creating such clones, programming them with negative orders and released them into our society. It was a failure owing to the universal laws of soul/body relationships. The negativity could not take effect in a society that had a much lower level of negativity, where at least positive and negative are fairly well balanced, that is, we also have high positivity.

PIRATE ALIENS

It is not uncommon for extraterrestrial civilisations to spawn rebellious members which are ostracised from their native planet. We mentioned in the first chapter a digressive strain from the reptilians race called the Drakon. Here we shall concentrate on small pirate groups, in particular, from the relatively advanced civilisations of Orion, Sirius, and the Pleiades.

These comprise not more than a handful of pirates who revel in plundering planets like Earth and exploring time travel in such linear 3D highly objective realities. Different aliens seek different resources whether it is sea water, sand, quartz, minerals or genetic material, etc. But they have apparently learned that generally it is to their benefit to exercise cooperation with our secret government and negotiate deals with them. Over the years the government has acquired advanced technologies from ETs as a result of these negotiations.

A particularly notorious renegade cabal are the Xpotaz. In the Shining The Light books they are referred to as particularly dangerous time travellers. They no longer have a home planet.

An example is given in which the Xpotaz, which had established itself by force as go-between for other alien pirate's deals with the secret government, would warn all other rebel parties approaching Earth with a view to acquiring resources. They would threaten them with their 'time beam weapon'; a dreaded device with which few would argue—unless they were contacted first.

Nevertheless, along came the Zetas; their first mission to Earth, seeking genetic material. This took place in the 1920s. There were nine Zeta aliens in their spacecraft, which was a product of hundreds of thousands of years of advanced technology. Their intention was to contact Earth's governments, which would be the secret government or One World

Government and negotiate a deal for the acquisition of genetic material from humans. A combination of some degree of etiquette or ethics, and cooperation for cover-ups from the public made government contact logical and wise.

The Zeta ship's approach to Earth was intercepted by the Xpotaz pirates. These Zetas were given the standard warning that unless they cooperated and conducted negotiations with the government through, and to the benefit of, the Xpotaz they would be subject to the time-beam weapon.

It had never been necessary to use it as no aliens were foolish enough to defy the Xpotaz. Nevertheless the Xpotaz were quite ready to use it to set an example to others.

Needless to say the Zetas ignored them. One must keep in mind that the Zetas had developed unsurpassed intellect. Their ships were constructed of the same material as their cloned bodies (compressed light, which was a little like plastic), and could—as they did with their bodies—bilocate: appear in two places at once.

In addition, on entering their ships, one apprehended that the interior of the craft was greater than the outside dimensions permitted. They were exceedingly advanced, but highly specialised, resulting in an inordinate failure to understand others, combined with a certain naivety and arrogance. Thus they rejected three warnings from the Xpotaz.

The time-beam device was directed at the Zeta spacecraft. The ship was transported back in time half-a-billion years at a location better described as the other side of the universe. Channel source Zoosh referred to this as a sad state of affairs. There was no hope of them finding their way home. To this day since the 1920s they are still lost and in fact are not expected even to be rescued within their lifetimes of another 200 years.

Underhand deals with the secret government were also negotiated by other pirate aliens such as ones from Orion and Sirius but the most treacherous are the Xpotaz. According to the Shining The Light series of books the Orions contacted our secret government around 1910 and in return for a small laser device, obtained government agreement to turn a blind eye while they took over human bodies by force —this was as per the well-known 'walk-in' procedure, except that most walk-ins are benevolently arranged. This means that the soul entering has agreement with the soul leaving. Generally the departing soul is leaving a dying body and the exchange mechanics are quite complex. The new personality is rarely aware immediately that they have taken over a human body. They have the same memories, karma, ailments, etc. The Orion's purpose in controlling human bodies was of course negative.

Thus the government obtained laser technology from aliens. It took them about 30 years to understand and duplicate the laser, culminating in the development of a laser gun.

Regarding the Orion renegade's intention to take over (a few) human bodies, it amounted to nothing more than an attempt. The energy for humans was incompatible and the plot failed. Needless to say the government obtained their end of the deal.

Now regarding deals from the Sirians, the renegades originally from this planet were few in number, much less than Orion and Zeta Reticuli. Also remember that these pirate aliens in general are outcasts from their home planet—in particular Orion and Sirius but also even a number from the Pleiades (in the case of the Sirians though, these were probably the so-called negative Sirians).

The few negative Sirians apparently planned to set up conditions to harness the Earth's core. The government allowed them to utilise their technology involving a very small amount of the core, and in exchange the Sirian pirates gave them a medical chamber which was claimed to heal all ills. The problem was, in using it discreetly in the underground bases, it required an antenna extending above ground level, directed at the sun. The extreme secrecy that the government required prohibited its application. As a result it was used very little.

The Zetas themselves did many deals. It is difficult to categorize them as negative or positive since as we have seen in the chapter on the extensive Zeta program there was a higher purpose.

The basic arrangement with the secret government was that the government turned a blind eye to the abductions to enable the Zetas to obtain genetic material. The Zetas were also given quartz, which is abundant on planet Earth, but scarce in Zeta Reticuli. In return, the Zetas were apparently almost naively generous. The government would have accepted much less. Again this is an example of the Zeta's over specialisation, resulting in a failure to evaluate relative importances and the nature of other beings.

The government were given a complete space drive.

The Zetas also gave the secret government a crystal technology that would give free energy. Free energy or over-unity energy means the device harnesses not mechanical and chemical energy, but energy from space, cosmic energy or sun light, etc. Every point in our space potentially contains an unlimited amount of energy and certain systems will extract this by resonance. This Zeta system of free energy was achieved by internal reflection of the Sun's rays. As is typical, however, the secret government did not make it available to the masses and kept it for themselves. The government gave them quartz and sand in exchange.

The government in fact utilised the device for nefarious purposes. The crystal technology could be used with the secret government time machines (see Montauk material) and genetic experiments to enable them to synthesize the DNA of the Zeta aliens.

This technique was successful, resulting in the creation of a slave race of cloned Zeta-type aliens. A method was used to prevent normal souls from entering the bodies—only degenerate beings and consciousness were attracted (note that as stated previously, normal souls wouldn't enter clones anyway).

ET/GOVERNMENT INTERACTIONS

One evening around 1986, the sky of Los Angeles was lit up with a kaleidoscopic display of colours. Millions of people, including the author, witnessed this unique light show during dusk at a great height. Streaks and patterns of zig-zag- ging oranges, reds, greens and yellows could be seen high-lighted by a flash of white light cast by the sun, even though the sun was below the horizon as viewed at ground level. Citizens were remarking, Is it a UFO?

Typical controlled media coverage duteously told us it was a malfunctioning missile from the Air Force Base (probably Vandenberg). Later it was revealed in a radical newspaper, Contact, that it was indeed a missile but with a few additions.

The military were preparing to send up a rocket which had a nuclear warhead (reason unknown). Extraterrestrials who are in a constant state of vigilance regarding the military and governments on this planet sent out a warning from a spacecraft, high in the sky above the clouds, that the rocket would be disabled if the military followed through with the plan.

Communication of ETs with the military and of course the secret government is not uncommon. Needless to say the military were not deterred, and determined to execute their program, began preparing another rocket which normally does not carry warheads, but this one did. However, the ETs were fully aware of this ruse and sent another warning that the rocket would be stopped if they proceeded. By now an irrate military had located the spacecraft and they sent up a heat missile. This type of missile has been known to upset the field of some crafts causing them to land. In this case, however, the ETs were ready and they ‘toyed’ with the missile, causing it to zig-zag over a considerable region of space, and then they destroyed it.

One of the first recorded examples of military confrontation with ETs was the well-known Mantell case in 1947. A pilot, Captain Mantell pursued relentlessly a UFO as reported by him via radio. It was clearly visible above him and moving away. He remained in radio contact with ground as he followed the 'huge' spaceship. The next thing we know is that his radio ceased and his aircraft was found crashed on the ground. The nature of the damage, in particular, the crumpled wings, was not compatible with the expected damage as a result of impact with the ground.

Many years later this example arose in a channelling session transmitted from a so-called Ascended Master who explained that it was a highly unfortunate incident in which the pilot was determined to get as close as possible to the spacecraft, combined with the ETs' unfamiliarity with the frailty of earthman's aircraft. Such a vehicle with protruding parts would be exceedingly vulnerable in the vicinity of the powerful antigravity field of the spaceship. As a result the wings folded, plunging the craft and pilot to Earth.

From around 1947, UFO encounters were becoming frequent, and United States security forces were alerted in order to bring some control over UFO sightings and understand what was happening. During this period, president Truman established the MJ-12 in 1947: a secret government agency which would handle the alien contacts that were occurring and liaise with the ETs. Prior to Truman, presidents were cognizant of military ET and UFO information but since the formation of MJ-12, presidents are given information on a need-to-know basis and often given false data.

William Cooper's material is extensive on the subject of government cover-ups, some of which we are referencing here. The formation of the MJ-12 was apparently particularly prompted by the Roswell incident in 1947. Shortly after the Roswell crash of a UFO with crew, followed shortly by another one, a great deal of attention was given to the UFO problem; in particular to understand space-craft technology, what has now become known as reverse engineering. The NSA (National Security Agency) was created to protect the secret of any alien encounter. The various departments: CIA, OSI (Office of Scientific Intelligence), ONR (Office of Naval Research), R&DP (the Research and Development Board), and the NSA Scientific Intelligence only received limited information from MJ-12; none knew the whole story. Through the NSA all forms of communication can now be tapped and monitored.

J. F. Kennedy's involvement with the MJ-12 was no doubt instrumental in contributing to his assassination. Kennedy repeatedly pressured the CIA for information on UFOs. This unnerved several prominent figures, needless to say the information was denied the president.

According to Timothy Cooper's article in Nexus magazine, this needling of the CIA could have had sensitive repercussions, since MJ-12 included other projects that were equally classified, such as Parasite, Parhelion, Enviro, Psyop, Green, Spike and House Cleaning, but also MK-ULTRA (mind control operation).

Further to this, Marilyn Monroe, friend of Kennedy, made a telephone call to a New York art dealer, which was wired, revealing her discussion with Kennedy regarding his secret visit to an undisclosed military base to see alien artifacts; no doubt fuelled by her broken relationship with Kennedy.

The FBI already maintained a security dossier on her because of her previous marriage to a well-known writer, suspected of having communist affiliations. Thus according to Cooper, Marilyn Monroe was the victim of a national security management hit by the CIA and the Mob. Following this, Kennedy threatened to share classified UFO data and other sensitive material with the Russians through the director of NASA, coinciding with his peace overture to the Russians via joint space exploration. Thus Kennedy was requesting the CIA—the Agency he swore he would break into a thousand pieces—just to hand over the most guarded secret ever. The consequence of this we all know only too well.

Contacts with the Greys and Dracos aliens between 1947 and 1951 led to the agreement that underground bases in the U.S. would be provided in exchange for certain alien technologies (usually archaic from the alien point of view but very advanced for the government). The aliens would also be allowed to carry out abductions, and mutilation experiments without interference.

The government apparently did insist that the Greys provide a list of activities, abductions, etc. presented to their NSA Council. It gradually became evident, however, that the aliens were deceiving the government and military and that their motivations were more nefarious: to ultimately infiltrate and control the planet. Note that the aliens continue to deceive and manipulate the secret government to this day. By this time the aliens had established themselves on Earth and were well-positioned for unfolding their plan. They interacted with private factions within several Earth governments. It has been rumoured in articles that there are over a million Dracos in underground bases and cities, and according to the Dulce Papers, over 18,000 Greys at Dulce, New Mexico.

It has been reported that the crashed UFO at Roswell contained four dead aliens. Between 1947-52 the U.S. government obtained about 16 crashed alien crafts and 65 alien bodies. One live was captured.

It is said that the CIA was originally created by presidential executive orders for the purpose of dealing with the ET situation. The U.S. government has delineated over 70 species of aliens trying to make contact and has in its possession over 40 flying discs and over 100 alien corpses. Alien spacecraft technology is being used by the Government.

Relevant to utilisation of alien technology for spacecraft propulsion is the unfortunate incident related by Dr. Michael Wolf in his book Catchers of Heaven. He served as consultant to the President and the National Security Council on ET matters and was a member of the Majestic Twelve (MJ-12) and the UFO secrecy management agency's Special Studies Group.

Dr. Wolf was probably one of the most academically qualified people on this planet, possessing several doctorates and other qualifications. He had worked on many secret government projects and had been a prominent participator in the ET interactions. He even had his own liaison agenda with ET friends, much to the frustration of the authorities. He referred to his ET friend Kolta, a type of Zeta, as 'the most lovely person in the universe.'

In his book, Dr. Wolf recounts an incident in a security government underground base in which a single Grey alien was demonstrating to 41 military and a couple of scientists an antimatter reactor. The alien asked the colonel to have his men remove all bullets and guns from the room for safety reasons. The colonel, however, refused. This led to an altercation culminating in the Grey being fatally shot by one of the troops. Dr Wolf stated that immediately all military men present except one, and both scientists, dropped dead instantly. It was discovered they all had brain damage.

Dr. Wolf said that they left one person alive to witness their power. Also he said that at a later time one of the aliens apologised to him stating that it wasn't necessary to kill the scientists.

Dr. Wolf, after his retirement, represented the typical threat to the authorities of a man holding a wealth of secret information. For example, he developed a clone for the military which had ethical judgement much to the annoyance of the military, who ordered a killing machine. According to Dr Wolf it would not destroy a dog when commanded.

Owing to the elite knowledge which he possessed he became a target. 'Terrorists' forced his car over a cliff, killing his wife, unborn child, and 16-year-old son. Dr Wolf survived, but knowing it was meant for him. Since then he has incurred three terminal diseases.

As a further piece of relevant information, when anyone works for the secret government and ceases for whatever reason, they become a major threat to these elite controllers. The steps to handle this problem are varied in methodology 1) assassination, 2) induced terminally ill diseases by disease-modulated EM waves, 3) memory erasure with appropriate substitution or dub- in, 4) when possible, drugged and interned in an institution, 5) residence at 'Elephant Farm' in Washington State, where all town folks have been employees of the secret government, or have needed handling for some reason, and where drugs are issued freely and the most advanced programming techniques are applied. Visitors are not welcome.

Dr. Wolf cites several confederation of ETs visiting us: the Alliance, from the Altair system; the Corporate of Greys, from the Zeta Reticuli system; the Federation of Worlds, of unspecified races from many star systems, and the United Races of Orion. Dr Wolf also refers to a 'cabal' renegade organisation within the UFO cover-up, with the purpose of deliberately subverting the peaceful negotiations with the ET visitors. This group utilises attack strategies on spacecrafts.

Another example of lethal conflict between aliens and the government is given in the Cooper material. A Dr Bennewitz, through UFO-related contacts and information gained by hypnosis of abductees, identified an underground secret facility a kilometre below the surface beneath Archuleta Mesa on the Indian reservation near Dulce, New Mexico—an area prolific for mutilations. The installation was said to be operated jointly by the U.S. government and aliens.

Bennewitz revealed that the base was 2.5 miles northwest of Dulce. One can see telemetry trailers and five-sided buildings with a dome. To the north there is a launch site with two wrecked spacecrafts which are 36 feet long.

The base is 4000 feet long and helicopters can be seen entering and exiting on a continuous basis. Apparently when it became known that Bennewitz was aware of this, the mutilations in the area ceased and the base closed temporarily. This appeared related to the fact that the Greys and government officials fell into serious conflict over weapons, and the humans were removed by the aliens, killing 66 government personnel; 44 escaped.

One of those that escaped was a CIA agent who took secret documents with him and went into hiding. Every six months he contacted five people with whom he left copies of the classified material. His instructions were that if he missed four successive contacts, the people would do whatever they wanted with the material.

Now the infamous Roswell crash that occurred in 1947 was of a spacecraft which was apparently brought down by magnetic radiation from radar experiments conducted by the military. It wasn't realised that the radar could be used as a weapon in this manner. According to Zoosh, the aliens were from Sirius and have some similar traits to the Zetas. The second crash shortly after this was also of a spacecraft from Sirius but the beings were more human looking, though small in stature—around 3-4 feet. (Note that the negative Sirians had the habit of cloning others, such as the Zetas to take the blame for their misdeeds.)

In 1948 there was reported to be a crashed disk in New Mexico in which were found human body parts. It was apparently a medical ship possessing a medical laboratory and it was not unusual to find such things. The ship had a self-destruct mechanism, but apparently failed to destroy the human parts.

The EBE (extraterrestrial-biological entity) that was caught by the government following one of the crashes around 1947-48 was confined and died in 1952. A colonel who was also a telepath obtained some accurate information from the alien but the channel source, Zoosh, points out it was simplified—as in the case of an adult talking to a child.

It was revealed that a broadcast into space was made in an attempt to save its life. Official sources indicated it was not responded to but the channeled source states it was, and the response was to return it. But the alien was not released.

Many ETs are living within the Earth. Generally it is necessary to gain access to their domain through spiritual doorways. The secret government, with a technology hundreds of years ahead of our known orthodox science, which was obtained from aliens, have created dimensional portals to literally snatch ETs from the security of their inner-Earth society. These beings are experimented on and utilised for cloning purposes. As a result of conflict, however, within secret government authorities, in which ethics has been questioned, a lessening of controls has occurred over the captive ETs.

On one occasion three escaped to the surface through dimensional doorways. Two were possibly killed and the third was seen and reported by humans.

Mass evacuation of ETs from underground cities has occurred because of these violations by the secret government, intending to return in the future. The secret government, however, has ceased all such raids as they now realise these ETs could be their future customers. The captured ETs were of varied races: Pleiadians, Orions, Zetas, Antares, Sirius, etc.

In addition to this particular deterrent to living underground, many inner-Earth races have left because of the massive mining operations underground in the U.S. from half a mile to much deeper. The mining is for minerals and the technologies used are high-energy laser and high-energy ultrasonics. Sound techniques can be highly dangerous to all life, in particular, low frequencies such as ELF (extremely low frequencies) that the government utilise for transmitting signals through rock and water and for navigational purposes for all kinds of transportation.

In spite of the above-mentioned evacuations there are many inhabited cities underground including ones housing government families—see the Shining The Light books. Tunnelling has been constructed from Williams to Black Mesa and under Hopi Mesa close to their sacred site. In fact this particular one, explained by channeled source Zoosh, is guarded by spiritual beings and is a vital vortex centre linking to the North Pole, keeping the planet in balance. Interference with this site could result in the polar caps melting.

The purpose of acquiring all these minerals is business with the ETs in exchange for technology, which although not negative in itself is utilised by the government—even converted to negative technologies—for nefarious purposes, and the further enslavement of man on this planet. The Xpotax, mentioned earlier, act as go-between in the deals the government make with aliens.

Contacts between ETs and humans of a friendly nature have been reduced in recent years due to the technological ability of the secret government to know the existence of any UFO contact with Earth and the location anywhere on the planet.

They have a device—no doubt ET technology—which emits a sound and light frequency that acts as a matrix. It strains all ET interactions with Earth enabling them to detect any UFO landing whether an actual contact is made or not.

If really necessary, however, ETs can beat this system by going far back in time and coming forward on a different time line, but one that intersects with our present. This makes the ET contact with Earth almost impossible to detect with the device, except by examining an almost infinite number of possibilities.

Another system discouraging the presence of ETs on Earth or even at a distance is that comprising the HAARP (High Frequency Active Auroral Research Project) transmitters of the secret government/military which, amongst many other capabilities, can map a mothership at considerable distance. In addition, these electromagnetic waves are harmful to the ET crews at such distances that they have had to move well beyond the Moon. The ETs could use the ship's shielding to protect them from the EM waves but if they do, such a field enables HAARP to map the ship in more detail—giving photographs.

A particularly significant government/alien interaction was one that is well known as the 'Philadelphia Experiment'. In the 1930s the military began the secret project with the purpose of attaining invisibility of objects, such as ships, aircraft, etc. Some of the best brains were involved: Einstein, Von Neumann, Tesla, etc.

The public are told that radar invisibility has been accomplished but not told that the stealth technology also gives light invisibility. The Philadelphia Experiment of 1943 was the culmination of this research and although the results of this were top secret, even when this was leaked out it was still not known that the Zetas played a key role.

These aliens, following their offer of technical information that helped the allied government to win WW2, gave the government the rudimentary knowledge to create invisibility of objects. Nevertheless, there was a deliberate deception on their part—a hidden purpose to cause a rift in space.

Information on the now commonly known aspects of the Philadelphia Experiment is plentiful so we won't reiterate them other than to say it was 'successful'; meaning invisibility was achieved but with unexpected teleportation and time travel of the battleship USS Eldridge. It was, however, a disaster for some members of the crew. In the first attempt at invisibility, the ship—fitted with electromagnetic coils, etc.—was without crew. This was apparently successful but there was lack of data as to what happened. Consequently, without more definite knowledge of success, and safety, the military ordered an attempt at invisibility with crew on board. It has been stated that at this point Tesla backed out.

Either he was fired for attempted sabotage/disagreement or resigned. The ship disappeared and eventually reappeared with crew members lethally embedded in the hull or wandering about insane.

The nefarious deception by the negative Zetas was to utilise the experiment to create a tear in spacetime that would enable their spacecrafts to enter Earth's domain undetected. Approaching the planet normally would alert many sources, for example, as mentioned, the government has an ET device which registers the arrival of all alien crafts on Earth. In addition, rival alien groups would be alerted, such as pirate and renegade ETs.

The dimensional portal enabled fleets of Zeta ships to enter Earth through the actual physical body of the Earth—underground. This of course was achieved via astral frequencies; the natural frequency range of the Zetas. From this location they could broadcast from a great many ships specific electromagnetic pulses to the Sun to realign the electric and magnetic fields of the Sun to cause misalignment of Earth's grid (with the Sun and parallel Earths). There was no awareness of this by the secret government when treaties were signed during WW2.

This interference of the Sun/Earth electromagnetic alignment was apparently the cause of the scientific concern during the abnormal solar activity between 1949 and 1972. In addition to this plan of the Zeta/Draco to take over Earth, there was an unexpected imbalance in the electric and magnetic fields of several dimensional bands of the so-called Merkaba fields. According to the Guardian Alliance this would have caused solar energy during 1972 which would have vaporised the human population. Earth's scientists calculated that the anomalous behaviour of the Sun's activity, if continued, would cause a huge explosion on the Sun in 1972 wiping out humanity by 1984. This was of course kept from the media.

The Interdimensional Association of Free Worlds through the Sirian Council of the Guardian Alliance used holographic inserts to correct temporarily the imbalances while the Sun's electric and magnetic fields were gradually re-aligned.

When the aliens realised they had been foiled they agreed to a treaty accepting help from the Guardian Alliance and to be relocated on another planetary system. Nevertheless, there was a group that resisted, which we still have to contend with. This group, mainly the Dracos-Zetas, have continued with the long-term plan in which three spacetime tears would enable them to set up a frequency fence for enslavement of humankind and prevent DNA assemblage. The Voyagers books give a more complete account.

The second spacetime rift, created in 1983, enlarged the first one in 1943. This has been covered in detail in the Montauk books from the viewpoint of the humans involved. This was another experiment deceptively manipulated by the aliens. The ships were brought in again for manipulating the Earth's grid system by means of EM pulses with a view to furthering their plans for the frequency fence and the Zeta-Dracos takeover of Earth.

As stated, three rips were necessary at dates: 1943, 1983, and 2003 (involving 20-year electromagnetic field cycles). With the 1983 experiment, the 1943 tear was enlarged as planned and the subsequent time portal link between these periods was formed, and also a link to the Dracos-Zeta dimensional-time period. From 1983 to the present moment the aliens are preparing to influence the government again for the creation of the third spacetime manipulation. After 2003 the frequency fence will gradually become effective. The purpose is to stop the fifth DNA strand (and above) from activation. (The human DNA has 12 strands; 3 to 12 are electromagnetic and disconnected—see Appendix.)

This setback for the human race would prevent man's evolution/ascension during the period 2012 to 2017 when dimensional portals are aligned at the completion of the 26,556 ascension cycle, trapping man for another such time cycle.

The secret government think the aliens are helping them with mass control of the population through this frequency fence. That is, to scramble selected brain-wave patterns, mutate the DNA, block out frequencies from enlightened ETs or any outside government control and even further, block the information from the soul and collective levels. But the Zetas are not just working towards creating a docile and obedient populace; they have plans of a genetic nature. While the government create the distractions for the masses and the general suppression, the Zetas have been full intent on preserving their species. This involves creating the hybrids and segregating the population into those with desirable genetic material and those without. The best would be used to create various strains of hybrid beings to strengthen and re-colonise their settlement on Earth. (See the Voyagers volumes for more detail; also the Montauk books, and Shining the Light.)

A spectacular incident observed by humans in the early 90s involved several UFOs, one enormous in size, and military jet planes. It occurred over Secret Mountain in Sedona; the location of a secret government base. A large column of smoke was observed but no sound—no explosive sound—and an exchange of weapon fire between the UFOs. The military appeared to be observing.

Channel Zoosh explained that the secret government were leaving the base, probably because it was becoming well known, but they carelessly were leaving it open and still in possession of alien secret devices, with the threat of terrorists entering and utilising them.

It was essential that the Guardians stepped in and prevented this. Positive ETs, however, cannot use force on Earth to achieve these ends (it is against spiritual law and will result in karmic repercussions). Fortunately there are apparently ETs who are incorruptible in this sense; they can be used for forceful operations where necessary, with efficient action and keeping damage to a minimum.

For this mission the Guardians went back in time to contact the so-called Pleiadian warriors, who were able to efficiently handle such problems without incurring any negativity. They accepted the task and came in a 10-mile long spacecraft (within which was a 3-mile ship and many smaller ones). They ‘dropped’ a sonic bomb on the mountain top over the secret base, which silently went through the cliff entering the base and engulfing the equipment, causing severe disruption of all machinery. Unfortunately killing and injuring several personnel. It was essential that such technology did not get into the hands of terrorists.

Another very secret base of huge proportions is under the Cape of Good Hope according to Shining the Light material. Zoosh describes its size as about 250 square miles less than the area of Rhode Island. It is 150 miles down and approached either via underwater methods such as submarine or through a maze of complex tunnels—some 400, designed to confuse.

Not only humans from the surface work in these bases but there are apparently about 150,000 humanoids specially developed for security and police work underground. Zoosh says they are not exactly clones. They are grown in a chamber and emerge with, in appearance, an age of about 20. They are suitably aggressive. A crystal matrix is used at the base of the skull and spine to deflect mature souls from entering, but allowing the entrance of a somewhat lost, inferior species of spirit.

The Cape of Good Hope is the headquarters base and consists of cities for the aliens and government personnel. Surface personnel have duties of about three months then their memories are masked. This is not necessary with the underground human type.

The secret government, up until recently, had also acquired a huge alien satellite about three and a half miles long. It orbited over the poles and acquired energy from them. All waste was recycled so that no debris was detected. The satellite was like a huge laboratory for creating advanced technology and was brought to Earth by the renegade Xpotaz about 100 years ago. There were nine renegades accompanied by 180 androids, though more machine-like, but too advanced for robots, states Zoosh.

This huge factory ship contained a secret not revealed to the government. It was essentially alive, spiritized and designed originally by early Xpotaz, who were more in tune with God. The purpose of its design was for spiritual fulfilment, which would become apparent when the Xpotaz evolved further and would discover the method of converting it. Anyone present at the time of conversion would also be converted spiritually. Prior to the removal of the satellite, a few descendent Xpotaz were present along with the original 180 androids and about 150 government personnel. Government scientists were and still are trained by 'inculcation' techniques which enable vast amounts of information to be absorbed quickly, but uncomfortably—it is a shock to the system.

Many extraterrestrial contacts of a benevolent nature have been made to the major governments of our planet, even written manifestos transmitted from advanced races. Nevertheless, in general the ETs knew that they would be rejected and merely had the purpose of letting the government know they are there and ready to aid Earth when it is ready.

ALPHA CENTAURI

Alpha Centauri is a nearby multiple star in the constellation Centaurus. It is the name of a binary star system with a small additional star called Proxima Centauri.

Extraterrestrials from the Alpha Centauri system are particularly scientifically and technically advanced, possessing great theoretical knowledge that they endeavour to instill by inspiration into Earth scientists. In fact, according to the Explorer volumes this star system is directly involved as a portal from the Creator—life in effect comes forth from Alpha Centauri.

They represent the violet band of frequencies—giving scientific and technical knowledge of the highest quality in the universe. The violet ray is the highest vibration. It is through this frequency that connection to the universal intelligence and the Great Central Mind is made for all. The Alpha Centaurians do have access to this channel of information in their natural state—they are totally empathic and telepathic on their home planet.

Information on an extraterrestrial encounter from the Proxima Centauri star system is well documented in the late Elizabeth Klarer's book Beyond the Light Barrier. This smaller star is the nearest of any star to Earth and is at a distance of 4.2 light years.

An ET by the name of Akon visited Mrs. Klarer on several occasions; she was even taken to his planet, named Meton, in the Proxima Centauri system for several months.

Now this race of beings from Meton originally came from Venus. They are human in appearance; slightly taller. Akon, an astrophysicist, claimed to be several thousands of years old (though this may not have been translated into our years).

Elizabeth Klarer was born in 1910 in South Africa and was trained as a meteorologist at Cambridge, England. She later obtained a degree in music at Trinity College, London. During WW2 she was employed by the South Africa Airforce Intelligence, and during operations did work for the Royal Airforce, decoding German communications. She was also trained to observe uFos for the South African Airforce UFO Division.

Telepathic communication occurred between Akon and Elizabeth over a period of years until finally in 1956 on flying Saucer Hill (as she named it) at Rosetta, Natal, the crew revealed themselves and she was taken up into space and into the vintage mothership. She was apparently originally from Venus in a previous lifetime and she and Akon were spiritually related (referred to as twin flames or soul mates).

In spite of her popularity and recognition, not surprisingly she endured harassment from the American intelligence forces, and was once almost kidnapped by the Russians, who wanted to capture the future space child that she was then carrying of Akon's.

She was eventually taken to planet Meton in the Proxima Centauri system where she stayed for four months and gave birth to and reared her space child, Ayling. Unfortunately, owing to the vibrations of the magnetic field being different on Meton, her heart was unable to adjust to the new pressures, and she was forced to return to Earth. Contact continued from Akon and her son by holographic projection.

In 1984 particular interest was shown in her experiences by the British Ministry of Defence, and they announced that UFOs do exist and are now official (note that this was all soon pushed under the rug). Her story attracted the attention of many countries, in particular, America, Britain and Russia. In 1975 she was given a standing ovation at the 11th International Congress for UFO Research in Germany. She was applauded by a group of scientists representing twenty-two nations where she gave a speech about the secrets of light. In 1983 she addressed the House of Lords, in England, and her paper was also read at the United Nations. Following this she travelled to Switzerland and appeared in a television show. She wrote the book 'Beyond the Light Barrier' which sold out its first edition in two weeks (strange events though: the publisher then absconded and her second book 'The Gravity Files' never appeared in print).

Mrs. Klarer described the spacecraft she flew in as perfectly circular, about 60 feet in diameter, with a flattish dome in the centre around which were placed portholes. The ship's hull had a silvery sheen, but she stated that it wasn't a reflection from the sunlight; it was the ship's own natural glow. It came directly from the skin of the ship, and when the power was switched on, the whole ship glowed, developing a field differential around it that it moved within. Inside it was very beautiful and simple, and the entire floor was covered in a red-rose type of carpeting—very soft and springy.

She stated Akon's ship carried a crew of two. Both were astrophysicists but the other was also a great botanist; a needed ability in understanding the flora and fauna of planets for their protection and in the preparation of planets for human habitation. She pointed out that the ship was created in space from pure light energy into substance and it took naturally the celestial form. They then would bring the shell of the craft to the surface of the planet and furnish it with equipment, etc. The motherships, however, were created in space and assembled in space; components were ferried up to it. This civilisation goes back more than 65 million years when Venus had a more physical existence on its surface than would be possible today. It was known that our sun was a variable star (irregular frequencies) and at certain epochs it expanded with the release of intensified radiation. As a safeguard they built the vast motherships to ferry all the people and as much as possible of the flora and fauna away from Venus to Earth, which was the nearest neighbour.

As a result of this activity and Venus being closer to the Sun, the seas had dried out and what little fauna remained and all flora were destroyed. Also their dinosaurs were destroyed by the intensified radiation. Thus the Venusians made an exodus to planet Earth and its moon for a temporary sojourn.

Following this the Venusian civilisation left Earth again owing to the harsh nature of the Sun and moved to Proxima Centauri, which had a stable sun. They settled on planet Meton since it was similar in atmospheric conditions to Venus and most important, of high vibration. They kept bases on the Moon, Mars and Earth, which they still visit.

A section of their civilisation remained on Earth to aid its advancement. A tall, fair-haired race of beings who lived in the Andes were descendants of the Venusians. Their main work throughout the galaxy is to prepare star systems for human habitation.

The civilisation on Meton has what we would call an ideal society. No illness, no government, no traffic, pure air, complete harmony, even harmony with the animals and insects. It was typical of advanced races, what can be called a holographic, synchronistic civilisation, similar to the Pleiadian's existence that we have described. There is no monetary or barter system. Everything is plentiful and free.

Akon's 'flying saucer' fits neatly on top of his spherical house. One can see out of the house from the inside but not in. There are no roads. Traffic is merely a monorail winding through the beautiful countryside. Their foods are natural and not cooked, apart from the warming of a type of oatmeal bun (to hold it together). They have gravity belts, which the children have fun with.

Another civilisation from a planet called Selo in the Alpha Centauri system has been in contact with Hal Wilcox of Los Angeles for a number of years. Hal Wilcox is a well-known UFO contactee of the '50s and '60s. He was involved in a mission of soul-memory recovery. According to Hal this is based on the information that, whereas Lemuria and Atlantis were destroyed, the civilisation Antila had its negative era arrested by the Creator's decision of occluding full past-life memory.

An obvious purpose of this occlusion would be to protect man from overwhelming reactivation of his negative past-life incidents, and then present an opportunity of handling man's problems on a controlled basis by programming the amount of rebound or karma he would experience in any one life-time; a procedure carried out by the Guardians.

Planet Selo is four-and-a-half light years from Earth, and Hal Wilcox has made several visits—one for three days. Technologically they are about 600 years ahead of us and correspondingly advanced spiritually, living to much greater ages and retaining youthful appearance—25 years of so. They utilise the universal so-called Ino computers; incredible data-processing units that are a symbiotic synthesis of mechanisms and creative life or consciousness. (Both these contactees in this chapter were known by the author.)

The Santinians are another group of ETs from the Alpha Centauri system. They have been referred to as the most technically and spiritually advanced humanities in our solar neighbourhood. They have followed the evolution of Earth and are aiding mankind in its next evolutionary step into the Aquarian <sup>A</sup>g<sup>e</sup>.

The Santinians are from a planet similar to Earth, named Metharia, one of several planets orbiting Alpha Centauri. Owing to the binary star the planets do not experience a period of complete darkness.

Metharia consists of one large continent and many islands. Most of the surface is covered in water, similar to Earth. Life exists in the etheric and higher realms, not in the physical. They are on a similar level to the Venusians and have bases on Venus.

They have nature spirits on Metharia but not stormy weather, due to the perfect harmony. Vegetation is unusually rich, unknown on Earth, and production and supplies are provided by the devas. The Santinians are as one would expect, vegetarians. Animals have reached a high level of intelligence and do not require training.

Population is about 3.5 billion inhabitants, and about 5 million devote themselves to space travel and may spend a significant part of their life on spaceships. Houses are harmonically designed and blend into the countryside. There are no cities and crowded areas.

Knowledge and spiritual laws are uniformly accepted throughout the planet and standards of living and education are consistent. They recognise the Law of One and there is no selfishness. There is no electromagnetic pollution, in particular, since it disturbs the nature spirits.

A typical family on Metharia has two children and marriage ceremonies are conducted. It is said, however, that divorce is possible. Spacecraft technology is very advanced. Motherships are several miles in length and they have interdimensional travel with dematerialisation and materialisation.

The Santinians are here to help man but only when man is ready to accept this; they will not interfere.

(There exists a non-profit club in Germany which has the mission to establish contact with the Santinians for all seeking people. Twice a week there are meetings, and from time to time there are also seminars—shatzer@ubacclu.unibas.ch. This Santinian information is from a website article, signed Laro Schatzer.)

CHAPTER 14

THE ARCTURIANS

Arcturus is a red-supergiant star in the constellation Bootes about 36 light years away and is visible in the northern hemisphere. It is called the 'Guardian of the Bear' because of its position behind the tail of the constellation Ursa Major. The Arcturian's planet is also referred to by them as Arcturus.

It has been stated by more than one source, including Edgar Cayce, that the Arcturus civilisation is one of the most advanced races in this galaxy. (Note that this does not just mean third-dimensional races but ones in embodiment, that is, focussed in a particular body.) In fact Arcturus is in the fifth-dimensional spectrum.

A most revealing contact with the Arcturians has been made by Dr. Norma Milanovich, and her book We, the Arcturians gives a thorough presentation of these extraterrestrials from Arcturus.

They describe themselves as of a form that wouldn't win a beauty competition on Earth. They are three to four feet tall; very wispy and very slender. They all look very much alike. This was chosen since they are past comparisons and judgement, and being different no longer appeals to them. Skin is greenish in colour, but strictly they state they have a colour which does not register on our planet. They have two very large almond-shaped eyes. They have three fingers on each hand which they call projectiles. These may be used to touch and guide objects which they normally move psychokinetically. That is, they can move objects with their mind, and they can float their own bodies.

Even their 'brains' are not actually brains but complex systems of fibres and 'neurons' that 'control frequency patterns of our essence'. They think a hundred times faster than humans and they have an olfactory ability not comprehensible to humans. They can feel the energy and process it through emotions. This additional ability prevents confusion of any messages being received and increases accuracy. In their learning and education they do not note the content learned but the energy effects from this, which are measured.

They have underground bases on Earth and in the mountains, and they state they are on the same dimensional frequency as the fairies. Their starships are propelled by crystals. These are special crystals which conduct light energy from the Great Central Sun (centre of the galaxy). Their main source of power is crystals, which draws energy from the universe.

The Arcturians are beyond computers and utilise other systems. They do not eat foods, but obtain nourishment by ingesting energy. They do sleep but only for a short time once a week when they connect to higher realms.

They state there is no such thing as gravity in the fourth and fifth dimensions of spacetime. They like to exercise their legs in addition to the floating, which is accomplished by tapping their consciousness into liquid Light.

Nourishment is from vital liquids. Their eyes are dark brown to black in order to shield them from the sun which harms their telepathic ability. This latter faculty is their primary way of seeing; eyes are secondary. Their eyes can filter out lower vibrations and are capable of focussing inner and outer vision at the same time which aids the telepathic abilities.

They state that they do have a heart and that the heart holds the answers to the universal keys—contains the balancing of the positive and negative. They have a sense of hearing which transcends their telepathic ability; and can hear sounds outside normal range and from other dimensions. They can sense with the back of their heads.

The Arcturian's life span is around 350 to 400 years. There is no sickness. Clothing when off the planet is functional and can transcend time and space and manifest in other dimensions. It is close fitting; it is not necessary or desirable for them for their skin to breath off planet. The clothing aids information processing. It has no openings in it and it is put on by entering via the fifth and fourth dimensions (presumably they mean a total body- covering garment with apertures for the head and maybe hands and feet).

At their home planet they wear free-flowing garments which will not hinder locomotion and they are used merely for adornment and respect. Clothing is not needed for warmth as temperature is consistently ideal.

When asked about emotions the response was that in fact they were more emotional than humans and were the emotional planet of the universe, but, however, they have mastered the emotions. They add that humans are the weakest and least disciplined of the species.

Only the wisest are given the position of looking after the young in what are called unit structures. Qualification is determined by the colour of the person's aura.

They can immediately determine the weather condition they desire. Even two persons can manifest simultaneously two opposite kinds of seasons, that is, in the exact moment of time and space.

They refer to Arcturus as the teacher—a conceptualisation which can free humans and other beings from their own entrapment. The power from Arcturus (planet or star) comes from both the direct energies of Arcturus and also from the instruments aboard their ships. These two sources of power feed their energy needs while they are away but they need to return periodically for the nourishment of their souls.

They consider Arcturus the sister planet to Earth. They are the caretakers of the fifth-dimensional frequency inhabitants, and Earthlings are the caretakers of the physical third-dimensional realities. They are the inner-world of reality; we are the outer-world of reality.

They were asked about the star ships and told that there were 35 divisions to the starship Athena. Let us describe some of these.

The Remembrance Headquarters reunites them with their home star system of Arcturus. This is visited when the being feels the need. These quarters are located far from the other major functional areas. This function can take the etheric body of the crew member back home to rejuvenate them. Earth has a harsh frequency; it tends to affect their consciousness in ways they do not understand. Thus before using this Remembrance Chamber members must be cleared of all negativity.

Another area having the function of 'kitchen' is called the Energy Transformer Storage and Retrieval Area and is designed to eliminate waste and energy and has the capability of converting it to light energy. It can be used to bring in water from outside (Earth is water-based) and produce pure food supplies. The ship was specially designed for Earth's atmosphere.

The Sleeping Quarters are used once every seven days. In this state they are connected to their higher existence. This keeps them spiritually balanced and enables them to continue with their highest goals.

Another chamber is for manifestation—the Magnificent Chamber for Manifestation—and is stated to be the most advanced that could be imagined. The chamber is designed to compliment and support rearrangement of the molecular structure of the being's central nervous system to experience fifth-dimensional frequencies and higher. It is said to be more than joy and happiness, more than telepathy and being in the etheric form. It is the experience of the All.

The Learning Facility has a complete data bank and information retrieval which includes material on every aspect of Earth life. The method of learning is a simple one and occurs through telepathic abilities and the central nervous system. This is very much like human's ingest foods. They can absorb concepts one hundred times faster than humans. Instruments are used to implant the data within their 'brain' structures.

Another chamber referred to as the Movement Chamber for Locomotion aids the Arcturians when in Earth's atmosphere. Thought processes of Earth's inhabitants have created an energy field that is out of balance—most humans thus can't maintain a state of balance in their lives. The chamber keeps the Arcturians at a vibration above those on Earth. Built into its design is a perfect balance of energy sources—it supports one's physical emotional and spiritual needs. All beings entering the ship are required to use this chamber. Visitors may often be in dream (astral) states, such as humans would be.

The Chamber for the Captives (meaning those caught in earth's vibration, such as us) may be visited in the dream and astral state by even advanced masters who have reincarnated on Earth but are being caught up in the illusions and negativity. The Arcturians bring them to this chamber to set them free, to wake up to who they are and continue their mission.

The Communication Chamber is used like a medical checkup each month. It supports continued growth and development of telepathic powers. It is equipped with a mechanism which absorbs mental thoughts and records their significance and power. It will identify for the subject any difficulties in focussing the mind.

One of the most critical support systems is in the Motivational Storage Motion Area. It is designed to take information about Earth and their mission and place the data in a holistic framework. It will create constructs for operations across the dimensions third, fourth and fifth. For example, handling distortions when thoughts, words, actions and emotions are transferred from one dimension to another. This function keeps the holistic motivation of plans in focus and stores data, then puts in motion the integration of it for action and purposes outside the ship.

The Information and Communication Information Area contains the most powerful information of the universe and is shared only with appropriate individuals.

The Integrative and Supportive Area is like the 'mess hall' or 'lounge area'. It is for socialising, rest and relaxation. However, frequency sensors keep a check on the telepathic transmission of 'non-classified' information which may apply when visitors are present.

The Mechanism Chamber is a complex area that allows them easy access to unfamiliar locations. It replicates a life-form structure and sends it to the surface of the planet to test it and learn from the way the replica pattern operates. Adjustments can thus be made before sending the actual life-form, such as themselves. The area can also be used 'medically' to detect malfunctions and reprogram them instantly.

The Engineering Apparatus Area is used to maneuver the ship between the third, fourth and fifth dimension of time and space. It handles the magnetic changes in going from visibility to invisibility.

These are a few examples of the amazing technologies present on the Arcturian ship, Athena. The Arcturians state that they have been here with planet Earth since our beginnings and in fact state that they own the planet, meaning that it is their training ground and have responsibility for it. They can exist in the fourth and fifth dimension but also lower their frequencies to be visible in the third dimension.

They long since contacted our governments, but as is the case with all such ET contacts with many governments on Earth they were rejected.

Their mission is to educate souls on Earth in preparation for survival in the fifth-dimensional frequency. The planet is moving into the New Age, which they referred to as the seventh Golden Age. It will be a time of balance, harmony, and love, raising the planet's vibrations to its highest level. Thus each human must raise his or her vibration accordingly. In the meantime the planet Earth must cleanse itself with the inevitable manifestation of upheavals.

ANDROMEDA: THE SEED OF THOUGHT

The Andromedans are a very advanced extraterrestrial race that has been involved with human evolution. They were asked to contribute to the great plan for the human species and thus have been interacting since the beginnings of mankind. They have been described as a non-physical race of ancient angelic beings and are the spiritual force behind the Ashtar Command.

Andromeda is the name of the constellation that contains the star system Beta Andromeda, the home of these beings. Note that the galaxy Andromeda is merely seen from Earth within the Andromeda constellation and is of course much further away in location—about two million light years from our galaxy.

A representative from Andromeda by the name of Om-Ran has communicated through Robert Shapiro and explained that they came to participate in the human explorer-race experiment for solving the unresolvable problems from everywhere. Their function would be to aid processing of the mind and mental power in a more benevolent manner. That is, to bring to Earth greater benevolence to mental power. Andromeda is sometimes referred to as the seed, or seat, of thought in the galaxy.

In these missions of aid to civilisation there is always gain available to the givers. In this participation, the Andromedans learned that their benevolence wasn't as high as it could be.

Om-Ran is evolved beyond the physical and made contact as a light form. His race has been following our progress since the beginning. Owing to their higher-dimensional nature they could not bring the element of mental power to humans through genetics. Since the plan was for Sirians to cross-breed with humans, and they were more advanced, the Andromedans emanated a radiation towards these Sirians, who then in turn passed this trait onto humans through genetics. The necessary thought element was thus acquired through codes for human development; hence the human was, in a manner of speaking, mentally hybridised with the Andromedans.

Nevertheless the nature of the human was such that the mental powers did not dominate. And even today the body determines thought to a large degree; the mind is not in charge, as opposed to the Andromedans, whose mental powers are in charge. This was as it should be since the purpose for the human race was to create heart decisions, and the mind is not to be involved as the sole factor in assimilation of knowledge. This heart/feeling ability would then create a direct link between the spiritual self and the (universe) Creator Itself. All knowledge could be acquired through the emotional self. The individual mind would not be emphasised, though the Creator mind would be present. This relates to the purpose of the Creator to have the human race collectively take over—see chapter on creators and universal entities.

Andromeda scientists continue to study the ecology of planet Earth, collecting data for evaluation and analysis. Human contacts have been made in which advice is given regarding the negative factors that man is introducing into his environment and the full dangers and consequences of this. They are able to predict the probabilities based on present conditions, then extrapolate the energies into the future.

Channel source Zoosh describes in the Shining the Light material an Andromedan spacecraft landing on Earth to evaluate the minerals in the ground. In addition, he states they sealed the Andromedan chain of life into the earth energetically. This energy chain enables other Andromedans to find the place and also welcomes others. This was all achieved from the ship.

Following this, one crew member exited and stood on guard (this was for the safety of any intruders—the ship and ET would probably have been invisible but the ship would leave a disturbance). Another member disembarked and walked to a place he had been to before 800 years ago—for reasons of sentiment and remembrance. Zoosh states he left an ‘energetic gift’.

The Andromedan then walked into a nearby house without disturbing anything. It was nighttime and people were asleep, except for a man watching the TV, who simply went into a trance; his eyes open during this time. The Andromedan picked up a few articles which caught his interest for examination. Before he left he wished to leave a gift but this couldn't be done by leaving any object.

As he left, the owner's dogs were barking, except for one, though none of them could move much, and the ET with the tip of a finger transmitted the memory of his life into the dog. It was stated that this positive influence would be passed onto others. This is the way some Andromedans pass on their lineage to other ETs and occasionally to Earth people.

Millions of years ago the Andromedans visited Earth when the Sirians had established themselves in colonies throughout the planet. They welcomed the Andromedans, who requested setting up a few outposts around the globe and within the inner Earth (referred to as Fice civilisation according to Zoosh). These outposts were for research purposes and they were not interested in hybridising species, but mainly in studying the flora and fauna. Some of these genetic experiments with plants were used to aid the Sirians in creating a more durable Sirian body. From the present-time human perspective we merely sustained a small contribution from the Andromedans for our mental bodies and not physical bodies.

Wendelle Stevens in his book UFO: Contact from Andromeda recounts a case of a university professor who was contacted by a woman by the name of Lya from planet Inxtria in the Beta Andromeda system. It states that she was a thousand years old and the professor had the opportunity to travel in her ship on several occasions during the contact period of ten years. He was told they were conducting an in-depth study of the conditions on Earth to evaluate the positive and negative factors influencing the planet's and the human race's progress and evolution.

LIFE ON MARS

Scientists continue their age-long quest for the answer to the riddle of whether there is life on Mars. Even after a concentrated study of the planet over the past two decades or so the answer is still not forthcoming.

Schiaparelli in 1890 found faint linear markings on the Martian surface which he called 'channels.' But Lowell described them as canals and proposed that their extensive and geometric construction implied the existence of 'rare intelligence'. Many further speculations and observations on Mars led scientists to believe that life on Mars was a reality.

Many further contacts have been made with Mars revealing a barren planet with lunar-like craters, huge volcanoes and a Grand Canyon, 3000 miles long and 15-20,000 feet deep. Many geologists are convinced that the 'canals' were formed by giant floods caused either by meteors impacting and melting ice under the surface, or volcanic activity. Today, scientifically, that is, in terms of controlled orthodox knowledge for the masses, we are little further to understanding Mars and its civilisations in spite of NASA's photographs of the monuments, etc.

Cosmic visionary Ruth Norman of the Unarius Foundation in her book Mars Underground Cities Discovered, has channeled that Mars was the victim of a huge disturbance some 160,000 years ago, described as a nova but involving the entry into our solar system of a body passing close to Mars, colliding with Earth, and destroying the continent Lemuria.

As a result, Mars' surface was dehydrated and devastated. Nevertheless, the civilisation at the time was sufficiently advanced and in communication with the spiritual realms to receive prior information of the intruding body and prepare by building cities underground.

The nova was actually a manifestation in the third dimension resulting from higher-dimensional energies of a positive kind directed at the negativity enshrouding planet Earth in order to cancel it. According to this channeled information the positive and negative energy interaction expressed itself in the apparent event of a so-called planetary body entering the Solar System.

Thus the Mars civilisation continued and is still in existence but has now evolved into a higher-frequency spectrum and would not be detectable at the physical 3D level. This is supported by the out-of-body (astral) visits made by the channels of the Unarius foundation.

One of the reasons why Mars is regarded as the war-waging planet is that according to these channelings the spiritual hierarchy directed the massive negative thought forms remaining after the destruction of Maldek—a civilisation on a planet beyond Mars of which the fragments now are the scientifically unexplained asteroid belt between Mars, and Jupiter—and attached it to Mars to keep it away from Earth. If Mars had been inhabited at the physical level this decision would not have been made. A further event which added to Mars' hostile reputation was one in which the Lemuria race had once attacked Mars, but the Martians were prepared and defeated them. Nevertheless propaganda continued on Earth to the effect that Mars attacked Earth.

The canal markings have now been considered to be due to the underground tunnelling between cities creating a characteristic surface effect. A typical city is stated to be about one mile in diameter consisting of beautiful buildings and sculptured gardens, fountains, fruit trees, statues, murals and in general a horticulturist's paradise. The enclosed roof area of these underground cities appears as a sky with simulated twinkling stars—even a 'moon' is revealed periodically during the night cycle, and for day-time, artificial sunlight is used. Transport is by shuttle craft or moving sidewalks.

These people have developed their consciousness to a high level of sanity, intelligence and love for all creation. Their bodies are described as about an average of 5 feet 6 inches and are similar in appearance to our Chinese race.

Advanced technology enable children to learn mainly by video with the addition of sleep learning in which a ray transfers knowledge subconsciously. Birth has an alternative process to the natural one. The fetus can be developed externally in special vessels if the mother wishes. This has advantages by both the presence of visual communication from the mother, and also the enhanced learning process of the infant achieved by scientific means for absorbing information relating to the infant, such as potential abilities, past-life experiences and the present goals for this coming life.

The Martians can travel between galaxies in their spacecrafts but even with their advanced technology enabling them to travel hyperspatially it takes them years. Such ships as theirs may contain as many as 5000 passengers, although they refer to encounters with city ships from other civilisations containing up to one million people.

Martians, it is explained, did visit Earth and set up a colony in the Gobi desert. Nevertheless, primitive species of Earth were present at that time and were hostile, such that the Martian settlement was abandoned. Thus we see then that Mars does have a very advanced civilisation but not any longer in this dimension.

Clearly Mars will have had many civilisations both on the surface and within as with most other planets. Another example, channeled by Celeste Korsholm, was of nonhumanoid creatures that inhabited Mars, and typically went through the usual conflicts. These were two species competing for evolution or dominance on the planet. A great diversity of species flourished at this time on Mars leading to two dominant races: an ant form, and the praying mantis, which today we recognise as the Athiem (mentioned earlier).

The dimensional setting was in the third dimension and the species represented the Light and the Dark forces. The praying mantis race exhibited the Light qualities. Initially both occupied themselves in controlling the environment. The ants developed a highly ordered society with a mass-mind ability, giving them great power as a group, but focussed on left-brain, logical abilities. The other species, the praying mantis, concentrated on spiritual development, with emphasis on harmony, understanding and perception.

Eventually their expanding evolution began to encroach on one another. Owing to the excessive numbers of the ants and their self-sacrifice for the whole, the praying mantis had no choice but to withdraw.

The ants eventually destroyed their environment but by this time the praying mantis race had withdrawn into higher dimensions. They then existed in a higher-frequency spectrum but still remained on Mars in the same general space. A channeled spokesman for the praying mantis, or Reverend Race (as it was called), states that the pyramids and the ‘face on Mars’ are remnants of their great civilisation.

The ants eventually dominated all other species on Mars and then turned on themselves as they destroyed the environment. They were forced to withdraw underground but survived by locating another planet to inhabit.

This was planet Earth. Their aggression, however, was tempered by higher law and much of it was continued in the tiny bodies of Earth’s ants. In effect, the warring consciousness of the Martian ants continues in the Earth ants.

The Reverend Race also came to Earth fourth-dimensionally to aid our planet going through similar struggles to theirs.

As mentioned, all the planets contain spiritual counterparts and parallel dimensions. Let us now give an account of life on Venus.

CHAPTER 17

LIFE ON VENUS

We mentioned in the chapter about Alpha Centauri civilisations that Akon's race was originally from Venus, but this was at a time when the surface of Venus was more habitable within a more third-dimensional perspective, somewhat commensurate with Earth. Now of course its third-dimensional atmosphere is harsh, turbulent and hot; not compatible for human life. Nevertheless it is inhabited within a different frequency spectrum. This would be in a higher range of energies, as is the case with all the planets in our solar system other than Earth.

The surface of the planet has always caused a mystery to astronomers, with its perpetual veil of clouds. The information given in Ernest Norman's book The Voice of Venus is that this blanket of vapour is not a natural occlusion. The surface has been shielded by Venusians deliberately by means of high-frequency energy, with etheric condensation forming an envelope around the planet; the purpose being to prevent man's confusion in advancing science's possible detection of inexplicable elements and strange radiations.

There are in fact magnificent civilisations on Venus which exist at higher vibrations of the atomic vortex and correspondingly greater dimensions. This places their existence outside the material 3D band of reactionary energies and thus not vulnerable to the severe physical or 3D environmental conditions on planet Venus. Nevertheless, all levels and dimensions interact and there will be correspondences between the higher level atmosphere and the physical one. But even at the physical level on Venus there is consistency of weather conditions and no snowy regions, owing to the planet's axis not being tilted, as is Earth's, creating the seasons.

In higher-dimensional worlds such as this, lower forms of life exist but there is no predatory survival or survival of the fittest. Nourishment is ingested by means of prana (cosmic energy) in respiration in the relatively lower forms, but in the more four- dimensional energy forms beyond the atomic configurations of the upper echelon of the Venusians' development, nourishment is in the oscillatory contact or resonance with the Infinite.

These higher-frequency civilisations on Venus enjoy an environment of iridescent glowing beauty and brilliance of colour, indescribable to earthlings: radiant opalescence of oceans, rich bounteous vegetation, crystal mountains, and harmonious animal, bird, and insect life.

There are societies that express different levels of the scale of consciousness and exist separately in different cities. In general, however, inhabitants will encounter crystal cities, fairy-like castles, forest glades, environments lighted by the perpetual radiance of the Infinite, kaleidoscopic and multivariegated forms of birds and butterflies, rainbow hues reflecting sparkling shafts of radiant light, and an invigorating 'atmosphere' free from pollutant energies.

The lowest form of man on Venus is said to correspond to the wise adept or guru on Earth, and even a child's intelligence would outshine any bright human. To become an inhabitant of Venus— and there is no birth as man understands it—a person will telepathically, and from their standpoint, reach out spiritually to a plane or place harmoniously suitable, then seek out a family and communicate their wishes. The family group, by means of psychokinesis builds a body for the new individual who enters into it. The participants become the parents who may have to replenish the body structure from time to time until the new spirit makes the necessary adjustments.

Structures such as buildings or one's own home are created by materialisation through psychokinetic abilities. This gives rise to great variations in design or architecture. The more advanced cities are on mountain tops, and the least developed in the valleys or on the flat plains. As we have mentioned, these lower levels of consciousness are well above those of earthlings, but nevertheless many of these beings still have ties with materialistic past existences and feel the need for corresponding experiences, such as eating.

Buildings may be enormous with extremely spacious interiors, although average height of the Venusian is not much greater than Earthman. Cities may present a beautiful array of domes, minarets and spires, thoroughfares adorned with plants, and blossoms befitting a horticulturist's dream.

The construction, positioning and shapes of certain centres are architecturally designed to filter and regulate influx of cosmic energies for meditative purposes and communication with other worlds or universes. In particular, Venus is noted for its dispensation and administration of healing energies, and consequently is referred to as the mother planet for the solar system, and is the most spiritually advanced planet in our system.

Briefly, let us add that the Tibetan Lama, Lobsang Rampa, describes in his book My Visit to Venus a similar experience to the above. He explains that Venus was covered in 'white fleecy clouds' which could be swept aside as the spacecraft entered, by the touch of a button (indicating artificial force fields) to reveal a glittering world of immense ethereal structures, spires, bulbous cupolas, bridges like networks of webs. The colours were beautiful and dazzling: reds, mauves, gold, purple, blue, etc. There was light everywhere, no shadows, as though light came from all directions. There was no sun. All the people were beautiful physically and spiritually.

He recounts that he was taken to the Hall of Knowledge in a vehicle which travelled at enormous speed, elevated about 6 feet above ground. He was shown Earth's history.

The Unarius Educational Foundation refer to Venus as the most spiritually advanced planet in our solar system and produced the excellent book The Voice of Venus from which much of this material was taken.

There have been direct contacts by UFO contactees from Venusians, for example, Rolf Telano described in Daniel Fry's book The White Sands Incident that he was given a trip to New York and back travelling at an average speed of 8,000 mph. He was told that 10,000 years ago their ancestors had lived on Earth on Lemuria. They built a great empire and developed an advanced science and technology but eventually left. Presumably this was when they went to the Alpha Centauri system.

BEINGS FROM A NEGATIVE ALTERNATE FUTURE

If the reader has had some difficulty believing the accounts presented so far about extraterrestrials, this chapter will stretch the imagination beyond limits. One may be reminded that in physics, notably quantum theory, such extravagances as parallel worlds are considered seriously, also other universes and probable dimensions. Nevertheless, the reality we describe here is one between the imaginary worlds and the substantial realities with which we are familiar.

According to channeling by Zoosh through Robert Shapiro, our evolution was set up so that there was a strong potential for an alternate negative future (ANF) to become interlocked with our time line to guide the race if it went off track. And indeed it did. This was an allowed and deliberate plan by the Creator level; a test to speed up spiritual growth and break the cycles of war and destruction. And our recent history indicated that our civilisation was indeed creating mistakes repeatedly.

The idea was to cause the mass consciousness of the human race to realise it was on the wrong track by making that track so obviously wrong, exaggerating it so that we would correct the deviation.

Secret government groups and aliens seeking control and domination of this planet have increased this potential for the alternative negative future by literally pouring negative energy into it (the future potential). As a result, this future has acquired some solidity.

About 80 years ago beings in this ANF began to gain some substantive continuity of existence due to the negativity of our present, establishing a past (our present) for this ANF. These beings had the potential now to maintain and sustain a viable existence and a fully operating civilisation with further manipulations of our present and also our past.

By 1910 transmissions from this ANF came to Earth in the form of visions for those who could attune to them. Two examples of ideal recipients were Hitler and Himmler. It was not until 1917/18, however, that the visions were taken seriously. Hitler and Himmler received visions of control and greed causing them to believe they could draw power from the world.

This was the beginning of the occult side of the Nazi party, which started as a small club in a basement. It became satanic in its methods and motives and pain was a prerequisite to the privilege of membership. Initially this took the form of animal sacrifices which had to be an animal they loved. They extended this to murdering human loved ones.

From the higher realms, or Creator point of view, this got out of hand. It was intended to stop wars; to wake people up to evil. As a result, the power was withdrawn from Creator and the satanic group then attracted negative forces, a satanic being to give them power. From this ANF influence, technologies were inspired within the Nazi group. These were advanced negative technologies; all heart removed from them.

About 1915, the ANF was about a 30% chance of its being a future that would live. It was, however, only a probable future of images trying to take form. Now owing to these Nazi technologies during WW2 the ANF beings created a time machine—crude and very expensive to power—to manipulate the past and potential futures. Many were lost in transit to Earth. This time machine was linked to negative energies created by humans and thus served a purpose of teaching man a hard lesson while the negative energy was present.

The ANF is at the future year 2175 AD. Their dimensional level is 2.5 to 2.8 but they come to Earth at 3.0. They cannot survive, however, at this level for long. When we reach 3.55 they have no effect. We are now probably around 3.5 (it was 3.47 in 1996).

These beings are making a last desperate effort to stop us ascending into the fourth dimension. They have attempted to wipe out the population of Africa. (Note the information in the chapter on Sirius about the African (Sirian) genetics bringing sustenance to Earth.) The more we continue with negative conditions the more they push back their influence. ANF manifested the Nazis but owing to establishing the link and travelling back into our past, present and future, influencing the Nazis negatively, they have changed our, and their, past and their control goes beyond 1914 now.

They have considerable power in the ANF. Hitler and Himmler, from this information, are stated to be of the bloodline of negative rulers from this ANF. These beings from the ANF have been tracing everyone on Earth in our present and past to the ANF, enabling them to influence our past—even cause us to remember only bad times and forget the good, as though they didn't exist (which theoretically could be uncreated).

As stated, they arrive at 3.0 first (about 1300 at one time but probably not all visible to us at this density) then they project energy to a smaller number at our frequency density—around 3.5. They travel to Earth in their bodies but few survive.

It is interesting to note that they dimensionally overlap with the negative Sirians described earlier, but the beings from the ANF are not interested in them.

Now as they rebound from 3.0 to 3.5 they lose energy—that is, lose negative energy, causing them to feel less in control. They can only stay for around 3 years but utilise sound techniques to aid them. They cannot stand light, and exist underground in 6 to 12-feet thick, lead-lined, reinforced concrete bunkers (note that they probably wouldn't be detected by us since they were at 3.0. The negative activities of the secret government helps them to become more physical. They can be touched when at 3.47 but if one shook hands one could squeeze through their hands. They have attempted to corrupt the mystical intentions of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. They want to run their roots into the past as far as possible to change the outcome of events that have come and gone; such as WW2, so that instead of defeating the Axis powers, a pact was formed enabling the Axis to complete their weapons development program and subsequently dominate the world. Part of this would be keeping the U.S. out of the war. The early Nazi group obtained their weapons by inspiration: the atomic bomb (they were close), death rays, high-frequency sound generator weapons, and they built spacecrafts.

Beings from ANF are not of military order (which has some good principles of courage and self-sacrifice); the system is more political. They identify with control. On their world their children are not praised for doing something worthwhile; they are praised for something degrading that follows the party line, such as being cruel to an animal or exerting will over others.

They are humanoid in appearance. In marriage they exert their will; take what they want, or maybe negotiate. There is no love. It is a manipulated, mechanised society. To our senses their world would appear as if in a haze. This is the energy of fear. They would not be clearly defined. When perceived, their features would be more coarse than ours. They don't see in colour.

The percentage negativity is around 75 and they die at more than 80%, though they try to get as close to this as possible, they are so driven by negativity. Their planet is in our solar system (obviously not physically or in our dimensions). They live underground. Sunlight would kill them instantly, and also electric light in about 20 seconds. They can see in the dark using sound techniques. They are not actually soulless, though nearly—it is an alternate potential soul.

Our history is based on alternate possibilities. The competitive element on Earth, the source of internal conflict, originally came from alternate futures on Orion, and this established the warrior class. The drive behind the ANF beings is of this nature: a negative version of competition—do whatever it takes to win and maintain one's position at the top of the heap. Even though competition was once positive it plays out as negative in that alternate negative future. Any high cause will take its opposite polarisation in the ANF

The effectiveness of the beings from the ANF has been reducing as our frequency density rises, in particular, according to Zoosh when we reach 3.55 we shall be free of this ANF influence.

The information in this chapter came from Zoosh's material channeled through Robert Shapiro.

CHAPTER 19

OTHER EXTRATERRESTRIALS

We have covered just a few of the extraterrestrials interacting with or observing Earth. In fact, the principal races with which we are most familiar, either intimately connected to our evolution or playing a major role in assisting our ascension are the Zetas, Pleadians, Orions, Sirians, Arcturians, Andromedans, Lyrans and Alpha Centaurians. There are millions of extraterrestrials in, on, and around this planet, mostly in energy spectrums different from ours.

According to William Cooper's research, the secret government is aware of some 70 different ET races contacting Earth; though there are in fact thousands aiding or observing Earth.

We mentioned the praying mantis ET in the chapter on Mars. This race is known as the Aethiens—also has been written Ataien. They long since evolved into higher realms and would be well invisible to us.

In appearance they are usually whitish, or golden as they age, and can attain a height of 12 feet. They originally lived off plant juices but now obtain sustenance from light energy. They have wings and can fly but don't need to use them for distant travel.

They work with other beings throughout the time portal system, soul travelling through the dimensions, and come from a parallel galaxy. They are emissaries of peace and growth to all brotherhood species. They may be seen working with the Zetas during abductions but only in the capacity of aiding the human experience and teaching the Zetas greater benevolence. When they appear with the Zetas they merely accompany them and only when the Zetas work in brotherhood with all life.

As a race, they veer more towards the collective state, though are still individuals. Nevertheless, extreme individual creativity and inventiveness, which humans exhibit, interests them and consequently we can learn from one another.

Another group of ETs which is working with Earth are the Rhanthunkeana, or more simply, the Ranthia. They are from a distant star in higher spectrums. Great distance or dimensional difference is no problem to them as they have mastery over the time-portal system. They are responsible for most of our crop circles. These beings as well as the Aethiens mentioned above are referred to in Voyagers, volume 1.

They have followed Earth's development and have been our guardians since its beginnings, as have the Zetas, but the Ranthia are more advanced technologically and spiritually.

They may manifest in our dimension and appear as spherical forms of light as they have an ability to hold a position between dimensions. Note that there are eye-witness accounts of spheres of light associated with or creating crop circles. Although they are not based in physicality they have the ability to appear in matter forms. They are experts in holographic creations. Their physical form from our point of view would be fluidic, like water. Thus they can take on many shapes. Besides the Ranthia, many visiting ETs can modulate the dimensional frequencies and time portals to accomplish the science of shape-shifting.

The Zetas also have this transmutation ability but not as well as the Ranthia owing to the Zetas missing emotional body. They can appear invisible, 'ghost-like' or in disguise. At this time, the Ranthia are playing a significant role as guardians for planet Earth.

Amongst our numerous ancestors with whom we have a genetic link are the Felines or the Lion People. They also evolved in the Lyra constellation; more specifically on a planet named Avyon of the Vega star system. According to the book We are the Nibiruans, by Jelaila Starr, which we are indebted to for this material, the Felines came to this universe to set up this game, having completed theirs in another universe.

The Felines arrived etherically but took physical form with the subsequent 'veil of forgetfulness' and after millions of years evolved into bi-peds with awareness of their souls. They stood 12 to 16 feet tall and their skin, which changes from gold to white in maturity, is covered in a soft down, not fur, but both males and females have long hair. Eye colouring changes from blue to gold as they mature.

Their temperament is warm and intellectual. Elders are respected for their wisdom, compassion and insight. They have a gentle nature and a great sense of fair play—they are very curious and inquisitive, typical of the feline nature. The females have equal status to the males.

Now their planet was not unlike Earth, with its considerable variety of plant and animal forms; a beautiful blue planet with mountains, lakes, streams and oceans. A portion of the Felines remained at the etheric level to provide guidance to those incarnating (much as do the angels for humans).

After millions of years and countless incarnations, with the addition of DNA from the bi-ped, the ape, they walked upright and retained the consciousness of their etheric counterparts (didn't devolve into the lower 3D spectrum). Thus apart from retaining the facial features of the feline they possessed a human-like body.

In spite of the similarities to the evolution of the human species the feline ascended without the many temporary extinctions of the human race and new beginnings.

Technology on Avyon developed to an advanced degree, bringing space travel. Furthermore they became expert geneticists and began helping to develop life forms on other planets. At this point they made a contribution towards the genetic development of the human race.

By further cross-breedings and genetically upgrading types, apparently two strains of the human body were created: the redheaded strain and the platinum-blond strain. Although the genetic relation between felines and humans has been forgotten by modern man the Felines remain the loving and supportive guardians throughout time.

Another consciousness aiding planet Earth is the Andazi, referred to as fully realised, which presumably means operating at their full, natural potential—the condition they were meant to be. This is a consciousness residing on Earth, from our point of view, but also existent in other dimensions and not limited to any dimensions. Their energy is so basic that they are, or link with, the essence or consciousness of all things in nature but can take on any form.

They are described by Zoosh in the Explorer books as taking on a preferential form on the surface of Earth, which is tall, honey-gold in colour, and covered in a downy fur. They appear in this humanoid form and choose to have the fur for warmth since they like the seasons. Facially they are cat-like. They are immune to all negativity, toxins, etc. and can take on any natural form such as a stream. When we interact with nature we will interact with them and they are naturally closely associated with Mother Nature.

They are thus very difficult to detect. Fortunately for us they are completely benign and have the purpose of assisting us. They existed before our beginnings and are not oriented towards any specific race.

The Andazi have no limits, they can be detached as an observer and simultaneously be within and fully integrated with any form. Our consciousness partly contains them. They can interact with everything harmoniously. This energy has the ability to synthesise everything of the best, bring it together and create something wonderful—this is within our own human consciousness.

They operate in many frequency densities and would find one dimension boring and limiting. The Andazi are said to be the first inhabitants of Earth and at the present time are living within inner Earth.

Another very early species of consciousness to planet Earth, long before man appeared, was of reptilian origin. These beings today exist ninth-dimensionally on a small planet (the 10th planet) within our system with an orbit more like a figure eight. This planet has not of course been detected by humans, though scientists have picked up magnetic resonance, and radio and ultrasonic anomalies from this planet.

This race, fixed at about 38,000, were asked by the Guardian Alliance, who was like God to them, if they would participate in the human experiment. Their reaction apparently was, How could we refuse? In other words, it was not a pleasant duty. They provided the crocodile format for Earth and brought energies, which seemed impossible to put into words, that introduced the temptation factor in our civilisation. Thus they made an appearance on Earth long before man arrived and contributed towards the needed conditions for the evolution of the human race. Originally they came as sea creatures, then as land mammals, more in keeping with their form as crocodiles. On their planet they apparently resemble humans more than crocodiles; no scales—skin similar to the belly of the crocodile. Thus the crocodile that we know would be an offshoot, and extension of this race.

The Iargans are another ET race which has made contact with Earth. They are an advanced civilisation from planet Iarga about 10 light years from us. UFO contactee Stefan Denaerde describes his interaction with these beings who agreed to let him spend two days on their ship and inform him of life on their planet.

They are advanced technologically and spiritually and explained that higher knowledge cannot be given to a less evolved civilisation with limited spiritual and ethical development. They average around 5 feet tall and were originally amphibians, still possessing webs between their fingers and toes.

He was shown a kind of holographic film of their planet and civilisation. Iarga is a green planet with green oceans and a thick atmosphere, subduing the brightness of their sun. Their tolerance of temperatures is in a narrower range but rain and snow is greater than on Earth.

Denaerde saw rail systems and amazing buildings. Their economic and political system is completely different and is based on equality for all. Their highest goals are selfless service, immortality and cosmic integration. They explained to him that Earth's isolation will end when the masses of humanity acknowledge God and their true purpose for being on Earth.

The largan information was taken from Dr. Stone's Hidden Mysteries based on the book UFO Contact from Planet Iarga.

Ruth Montgomery's book Aliens Among Us recounts a contact from an ET stated to be from a planet named Cessna. The planet is described as slightly larger than Earth and as having two moons. Its climate is temperate with abundant flora and fauna and the population is about 500 million. The atmosphere consists of nitrogen and oxygen and traces of other gases.

The civilisation had strict population control. No pollution or disease. Inhabitants had life expectancy of 160 years and there was no crime or famine. Their principal area of research was scientific and the study of alien cultures with a view to bringing peace to all races. They have been exploring space for thousands of years and their spacecrafts are powered by drawing energy directly from the sun.

The Ra civilisation are beyond physical form but can materialise bodies as needed. They do not operate in linear time and refer to themselves as humble messengers of the Law of One. They state they are a sixth-density social memory complex but can function as individuals.

They travel through space in bell-shaped spacecrafts and came to earth about 10,000 years ago to aid our planet and civilisation. Their technologies, however, were distorted on Earth.

They have healing technologies utilising crystals, which to some degree was brought to Earth, and they also helped with the building of the Great Pyramid. Their physical body manifestation on Earth emanated a golden lustre, indicative of higher vibrations.

The Ra no longer have physical contact with Earth and are on their spiritual path towards becoming seventh-density beings. They contact us spiritually, through dreams and meditation, etc.

Further references are made in Ruth Montgomery's writings to a civilisation called Alabram from a planet beyond Andromeda. These beings are similar to humans except for larger lungs, since oxygen is low in concentration in their atmosphere.

They have very large brains and are telepathic. Their sun is so hot, plants and vegetation have to be grown underground. They drink a liquid similar to water and are capable of absorbing information by osmosis.

Extraterrestrials named the Ummites have bases on Earth in many countries. According to Antonio Ribera over 6000 pages of written material from the Ummites have been received in several languages. There have been scores of witnesses of their spacecraft sightings and numerous photographs taken.

The Ummites from Planet Ummono stated that their planet orbits a star astronomers refer to as Wolf 424, 14 light years from Earth. The planet is similar to Earth and in appearance they are similar to humans; but their fingers are very sensitive to many radiations, including light. They have rapid spacecraft travel across the galaxy utilising the principle of space 'folds'.

Another ET civilisation referred to in Lyssa Royal's material which has been visiting Earth is from a planet named Hydra. They excel in creating artifacts of great beauty from Earth's energies and they are highly skilled in agriculture and archaeology. They are the sensitives and artists of this Galaxy, with a profound attunement to the land. It is a race bringing another different vibration to Earth to benefit man's experience and ascension.

We have referred to the Nordic type of ET—a title given to the ones which have that appearance of the Swedish Nordic races. They are friendly, about 6 feet tall with blond hair and blue eyes. They have offered warnings and given messages and were responsible for about 24 percent of contacts before the '60s.

The Procyonians have this Swedish appearance and come from Procyon, a binary star in the Sirius sector and Canis Minoris constellation. It is about 11.4 light-years from Earth.

Though they have interacted directly to some degree with man on this planet our government would not cooperate with them since they would not provide weapons, etc. The Procyons have apparently crossbred with humans in our past, but with the purpose of benefiting us. They serve the Law of One and have aided in protecting humanity from hostile aliens such as the Zetas and Dracos. They have interdimensional spacecraft travel.

Another race of ETs originally from Venus have the Nordic appearance and in fact call themselves the Nors. They are in etheric form but have the ability to materialise physically and in any type of body. They have bases on Mars, Venus and the Moon. The Nors once were the largest group of ETs operating in our solar system and regard themselves as brothers and sisters of humankind.

The so-called DAL are related to the Pleiadians, Lyrans, Vegans and humans, having a similar origin. Wendelle Stevens' material refers to the DAL, who work closely with the Lyrans and Vegans and are said to be more advanced than the Pleiadians but not as advanced as the Lyrans; they have assisted both the Pleiadians and the Vegans.

The DAL are also Nordic-looking and could pass as human and they can breath our atmosphere. Their disc-type spacecrafts are said to land flat on the ground. Billy Meier apparently succeeded in photographing a DAL spaceship in India and he was allowed to inspect the cabin. The ship was about 35 feet in diameter and had seats for a crew of three.

The Antares race is one of the most advanced in the universe and resides in the constellation of Scorpius. Their star is a binary, of fiery red and emerald green.

There are many lesser known ETs contacting Earth at this time, for example, channelings from the Cassiopeans, and human-looking ETs from the Altair Aguila system visiting Earth, known as the Alliance, etc.

In the book, Aliens, by Jenny Randles a few alien types are described based on eye-witness observations. There is the robot type; a kind of retrieval device, sometimes seen near UFOs seeking samples. They varied in size from small to gigantic and sometimes accompanied both the greys and Nordics.

To a lesser extent the 'dwarf' hairy type has been witnessed aiding medical examinations and appears to be a biological robot usually accompanying the Nordics. The 'goblin' has been described as grotesque, similar to goblins and trolls of our legends, rarely connected with abductions and of mischievous or aggressive nature, considered possibly from another parallel plane.

There are also apparitions, 'phantoms' that go through walls, appear and disappear like holographs, and which constitute about four percent of sightings but do not involve UFOs.

In addition, it has been channeled that, in fact, holographic inserts giving UFO-like appearances are projected into our dimension by presumably the Dark forces and no doubt the Dracos-Zetas.

A whole host of well-organised eye-witness accounts are given in the book The Field Guide to Extraterrestrials. These are mainly an odd assortment ranging from what the author, Patrick Huyghe, classifies into four categories, based on descriptions from eyewitnesses. They are: Humanoid, Animalian, Robotic, and Exotic. Each type is artistically rendered.

In the humanoid class the following experiences are reported.

A witness describes encountering the Scandinavian type (the Nordic): tall, about six and a half feet, slim and beautiful. Their hair was described as long and blonde, with blonde eye-lashes. Their skin was almost white and seemingly translucent. Attire was a jumpsuit with silver belt. The witness was left with a benevolent impression and a desire to pass on a message of peace.

Under hypnosis another witness revealed that he was invited by a smaller male humanoid into his craft. The humanoid is described as of stern appearance, about 5 feet tall, long thin head with wrinkled forehead, he had grey-white skin and was wearing a uniform with tight-fitting hood. Over one ear was a device with a short antenna. Facial proportions were quite human. They claimed to be from another galaxy and were preparing Earth for ET contact and preventing them from destroying Earth.

Another account appears to be of the now famous Roswell crash. A team of archeologists witnessed the sight and roar of a bright object in the night sky and watched it fall to the ground. The next morning they found the craft embedded in the side of a mountain. They found three dead bodies; they were about four to five feet tall. A description from a nurse who attended the bodies was that two of them were badly mutilated. Their heads were large and bald; eyes were small and sunken, and nose concave with two small holes. There were no ears; just two holes. Mouths were lipless and thin, and instead of teeth they had what looked like 'raw-hide' strips in their mouths. Their forearms were longer than the upper arms and only four fingers were observed. This example is referred to as probably the most important case of all time.

A further humanoid example was the case of a woman who, while walking through woodlands, encountered a strange object about six-feet high and three-feet wide attended by two midgets around three-feet high. Apart from their diminished height they appeared completely human; faces were those of elderly men with protruding teeth. They spoke to her but she could not understand them. Then suddenly one grabbed the flowers she was carrying and pointed something at her; although she considered they were probably taking her photograph, she turned and ran. Other witnesses corroborated her experience.

One of the first abduction cases to receive wide publicity is recounted in this list of strange aliens. A couple stopped their car to observe a UFO. Figures could be seen in the interior. The couple were frightened and sped away down the highway. But they were intercepted and arrived at their destination about two hours late (missing time). After traumatic repercussions of this incident they eventually sought hypnosis. The aliens fitted the description of what we now recognise as a type of Zeta. They recalled being 'floated' up into the craft and given medical examinations.

A bizarre example of an encounter with an animal form was related by a farmer while driving his car. He came across an object shaped like a 'chemistry lab bell jar' and while his car head lights shone on it he saw within a creature with arms over its head and eyes dilated as though in fear. It was slender and about six feet tall covered in reddish-brown fur. Its face was flat but with human-like eyes and calf-like ears extending out about three inches. The vehicle immediately took off.

Another sighting recounts a sudden attack by a man at night near his house from an alien life-form about 10-feet tall. Its appearance was described as dark green; eyes were large and triangular, luminous and yellow, set in a huge head. Its body contained a mass of grey, horizontal folds of flesh. The human was merely pushed to the ground. Shortly after he saw a large triangular craft take off.

A further example is given of a couple who witnessed the levitation of a black cow. The UFO was nearby with several aliens. One was described as tall, green and lizard-like, vertical pupils, and hands and feet were webbed. The farmer verified the missing cow.

In another case a law student witnessed a spaceship overhead then felt an electric current. Later under hypnosis he recalled the creatures as encased in a kind of black armour with helmet and who looked like grass hoppers. They had long arms and bowed legs and were about human size. The subject was taken into the craft for medical examination.

Other types of creatures claimed to have been seen, were two hairy ape-like figures, 7 to 8 feet tall, near a dome-shaped object about 100-feet in diameter.

Another example of a hairy creature about three feet in height is recounted that came from a luminous sphere about 10-feet in diameter. The witness claims to have been attacked by the little man, eyes aglow and claws extended. He defended himself with a knife but states that it merely glanced off the ape-like creature's body, as though it was made of metal.

The extraordinary list goes on:

Beings about 5-feet tall, skin grey and rough, looking like mummies, no clothes, eyes not apparent in the head, nose pointed and about two-inches long, ears similar but retractable, mouth just a slit, arms were very long and legs appeared to be immobile.

Medical examinations from 4-foot creatures with neckless, animal heads covered in hair, wearing loose white gowns, and posture was hunched. Eyes were large and triangular and ears large and pointed. Hands had four-clawed fingers. The creatures occasionally made chirping sounds.

Several robotic devices are related. 'Sea mines' witnessed rolling from a UFO issuing a gas that made the subject unconscious. Small tin-can sized robots exiting a rocket-type craft about 30-feet high. Robots four feet tall with large helmets and diving-type suits; no arms apparent, leaving a craft about 10-feet high and 20-feet long. Further, floating 4-foot robotic entities with antennas and football-shaped heads, stocky scaled body with elephant trunk-like arms and a belt of 'syringes'; single pedestal-type leg.

The alien account closes with four exotic manifestations: beings resembling disembodied brains, bluish-grey blobs, a large floating figure consisting of tiny points of light, four-legged, hovering creatures with doubling of arms at the elbow and diamond shapes on their faces, with red mouths and red eyes.

This latest assortment of bizarre ET phenomena will probably arouse outright incredulity in the reader. Perhaps, however, we should consider that it is really informing us of the rich and endless variety of probabilities that await our awakening and exploration.

Let us now take a look at the more collective traits of extraterrestrial civilisations, for example, what kind of problems can arise in their evolution.

CHAPTER 20

ET CIVILISATIONS: THEIR NATURE AND PROBLEMS

We have already described numerous extraterrestrial civilisations but not from the evaluative and qualitative point of view. We have referred to a few races, for example, Pleadians, Proxima Centaurians, as being holographic, synchronistic civilisations (or close to this). A fully-positive synchronistic society will have no negativity. One couldn't even stub one's toe (unless one wanted to). This is a civilisation in which each individual is in tune with the collective and soul level. At this collective level, which in itself is free from disharmony, the infinite possibilities (at this higher level) of relationships of energy (at the lower level) are available instantly and spontaneously to each individual for selection of only positive synchronicities. See the chapter on holographic, synchronistic civilisations.

Such a civilisation would probably be at a frequency density of at least 4.5. We on Earth are at around 3.5. This is quite high considering the degree of negativity present on Earth—but there are pockets of very high positivity. Note that the negative Sirians we have described are below density 3.0 but are coming up to 3.0.

What do we mean by 'frequency density'? Based on the fact that everything we can conceive is made up of frequency units or packets, a higher density means the frequencies, oscillations, or vibrations are faster. Also it means the amount of information per unit spacetime (density) can be greater (the higher frequency projects a smaller 'bit' in spacetime). This gives more experiential degrees of freedom and greater intelligence

The term 'frequency density' has been offered in channeling though not properly explained and, in particular, its mathematical or precise relationship with dimensions has not been given, except that they—the dimensions and frequency densities—clearly run parallel and are proportional. We won't go far wrong, however, if we consider that, say, a dimension of 4.2 has a frequency density of 4.2.

What do we mean by 'dimension'? The academic way of describing dimensions is the geometric way: a line is one-dimensional. If we move it at right angles to its length it will trace out a surface of two dimensions. If we now move the surface in a direction at right angles to its two dimensions it will trace out a volume, such as a cube, consisting of three dimensions. If we now imagine moving each of the three dimensions in a direction at right angles to each of these three dimensions we trace out a 4-dimensional body—something we can't truly visualise.

Nevertheless, the dimensional numbers in channelings are interpreted such that four dimensions is principally a reality structured out of a higher-frequency spectrum than three dimensions. It is also a wider focus of consciousness—greater space—but contains greater differentiation, less formatting, and less rigidity of formatting of consciousness and greater coherence. Increasing dimensions (or frequency-density) brings greater degrees of freedom, more choices, alternatives, probabilities. Objectivity reduces and space and time become more flexible. As an example, the Pleiadians would probably be at a density around 4.5 and dimensionally would be moving from the fourth to the fifth dimension. Note that density in this context mustn't be confused with mass density in which frequency decreases with increase in density (for the scientist: this is not molecular density).

Now let us consider degrees of negativity of a civilisation. Earth's population goes up to 61% according to Zoosh in the Explorer books. Nevertheless even with such negative synchronicities these states are only a reflection of the inner- condition of man, and thus ultimately can only lead to learning and positive synchronicities. Synchronicity is generally understood as meaningful coincidence. It operates in the evolving civilisations in the following manner.

Humans on Earth, as the explorer race, have experienced all facets of negativity—consciousness has been stimulated in all its discomfiting forms. The extent to which this has occurred wasn't fully realised or anticipated prior to this human experiment. Although we are presently discussing the human race rather than ETs, our civilisation is playing a part in numerous other evolutions of species. In fact the human race, the explorer race, according to channel source Zoosh, has taken on the unresolved problems of other races: Zetas, Pleiadians, Sirians, etc.

Furthermore, since we are discussing the nature and problems of species we might add here that the human race's predicament today with all its negativity and evil and a hair's breadth away from total destruction began with several experimental set-backs, 1) the unresolved problems of other ET races, 2) agreed upon initial 2% negativity, 3) too much masculine energy, and 4) the mistakes that humans then made as a result of 1, 2, and 3 above—violence, harm to others, selfishness, ego, etc. The latter is the biggest contribution but man would never have fallen into this desperate condition without the initial agreed upon handicap. Note that the Lucifer entity would play a role in providing the 'necessary' negativity in the form of the masculine energy and the introduction of the 2% (see chapter on Creators).

The excess masculine energy was apparently a kind of error at a particular level of consciousness' determination but was allowed at a higher level—this research material provided by humans into the study of discomfort was desired; it was part of the plan.

Now regarding the 2% negativity, how would this be allotted? Taking on the karma of other races could be part of this, but probably not. It would be possible to modulate the human race's collective, morphogenetic field, such as to set a degree of out-of- phase energies and blocking of certain frequency bands to bring about a suitable value in the ratio negative-synchronicities/positive-synchronicities. There is also the Lucifer influence.

Humans will apparently be the universe's experts on negativity. There will be civilisations which have lived in bliss, totally free from all discomfort for millions of years but no growth. It has now been understood more thoroughly, as a result of the explorer race, that such civilisations need a small percentage of negativity. An optimum amount would be 2%. With this, the maximum physical discomfort could be, as stated previously, stubbing one's toe, and the maximum mental discomfort would be to become a little impatient.

A small degree of negativity will thus bring about growth in this perfect civilisation—if in fact they would be prepared to take it on. The human would be a consultant in this matter. Zoosh implies they may only accept much less, say, about 0.02% negativity.

The human race most of the time is apparently between about 45% and 55% negativity. The planet Maldek, which was blown up leaving the asteroid belt fragments, was 35% but couldn't handle it. The negative Sirians are over 90% but this is their way of living. They can't stand most expressions of positivity: harmonious energies, affection, unconditional help, reverence for life, etc.

It is interesting to note that the negative Sirian's bomb threat to our government mentioned in a previous chapter would not have worked owing to the dimensional discrepancy between our third-dimensional reality and the Sirian's less than third-dimensional reality. If, however, our negativity rose to 75% the bomb would have worked.

An advanced civilisation such as the one mentioned above of high synchronicity with all its intelligence, technology and education may not know what the concept 'hope' means. They have never had need for hope—they had everything they desired. They also probably don't know what hatred is—and thus would have difficulty when encountering it on other worlds—in fact the negative energy could be injurious to them.

As we have implied, the Pleadians have avoided negativity. This of course is an achievement in itself but so many advanced civilisations throughout the universe have been pushing negativity on one side; not confronting it, not understanding or handling it. These pockets of negativity around the universe have become an embarrassment. Zoosh describes life in the Pleiades as 'hunky dory' and one in which you can spend a lifetime deciding what colour to paint your nails. Relationships are perfect, but the conditions for relationships are perfect. Under arduous conditions unfamiliar problems would arise, requiring different abilities to handle them. The human race has researched the unresolved problems of negativity thoroughly and this information has been made available to the rest of the universe.

Advanced ETs are now awakening to this role for which the human race volunteered. Thus even though we have been regarded as primitive and barbaric, naive and narrow-minded, the viewpoint—except from the unenlightened aliens—has changed to one of praise for the human species.

Let us now consider the Zetas. Their civilisation would be incredibly alien to us in every sense of the word. They are totally logical and efficient. There is no 'please' or 'thank you' or affection. They cannot grasp the meaning and experience of humour. The benevolent Zetas when detaining humans (based on their soul agreement) treated them exactly like their own people, not knowing that this is unacceptable to humans. If a stranger walked up to a Zeta, took their arm and led them away, they would go (would assume it was for a good reason). They have no sense of survival, no instincts of this kind or even intuition. The blockage in emotion has disconnected their spiritual body information from the physical body.

Their instinct for survival is nonexistent since previous to their recent problem, they have everything provided and they wouldn't respond appropriately to a dangerous situation. That small group of Zetas mentioned earlier didn't pay any attention to the pirate aliens, the Xpotaz, and heed their warning.

It is hard for us to comprehend, even imagine, that the Zetas with their incredible mental capacity could not know how to ask questions. Their very advancement for so many millions of years has enabled them to immediately fulfill all needs and to provide all 'answers' before any questions are asked. Thus their mind will not express a state of ignorance, necessary to ask questions.

Let us make another comparison with our society's psychology and behaviour.

The emotional body in the human is strong, but suppressed, through past manipulations and programming by ET gods, combined with self-suppression of the subsequent pain and suffering by closing the heart chakra and shutting down the greater imaginative and intuitive abilities of the right brain. Note that the latter is synonymous with the suppression of women, or the feminine energy.

The emotional body when functioning will be used to comprehend reality by feelings (reading vibrations) to a greater extent than most advanced galactic ET beings, who understand more mentally and telepathically than by pure feelings. The human will do both with a superior balance in the mental, physical and emotional triangle.

Thus our civilisation has been manipulated through education, the media and science for left-brain development and deactivation of right-brain abilities. Let us stress, this is not normal, or average amongst ET races. It is a massive deviation from a balanced condition. Under such conditions of left-brain thinking, the learning process and what is understood by the population, can be easily controlled (see author's website).

It would be possible to have an imbalance in the direction of the right brain. There would tend to be high abilities with low technology. This of course would have to be caused by some deviation as with the opposite, excessive left brain.

Such an example is referenced in Ruth Norman's books. A planet named Idonus, one in a group of about 50 planets inhabited by humanoids in this sector of the galaxy, shunned and feared technology like the plague, owing to past failure with it.

Idonus was beauty inspired, revealing a seemingly idyllic setting for the simple, peaceful uncluttered existence, free from anxiety, problems and societal demands. Yet in all this apparent harmony, within this deceptive framework, was a lethargy of its peoples, an atrophy of drive and constructive ambition.

Architecture and dress was of the Grecian style, yet amidst such an esoteric lifestyle, pagans existed primitively in communal agricultural surroundings. Living was for the present, as though of a continuous vacation. Fear of technology was excessive and neurotic, based on earlier cycles of this civilisation in which it destroyed itself by misuse of technology.

Some one thousand of these inhabitants had great psychic abilities, in particular, that of teleportation to other planets, frequently encountering as they did so the violence of wars only to corroborate and justify further their abhorrence of and avoidance of technology. Although their fear was mainly of technological violence, nevertheless such an unnatural and irrational fear of aggression can destroy creative drive. On the basis that creativity and aggression are related, blocking aggression eventually stifled creativity and awareness.

This civilisation, however, is now well on the path of spiritual enlightenment due to intervention from the higher realms/spiritual government/hierarchy.

Thus the condition of imbalance with too much right brain or feminine energy can sometimes result in a suppression of aggression. This is what happened with the Pleiadians who eventually interacted with the aggressive Orions, which then reflected to the Pleiadians their own (the Pleiadians') inner aggression.

A more severe example is the civilisation known as the Lumanians on Earth mentioned in the Seth books, which was afflicted in this manner, who in this extreme case implanted inhibitory mechanisms within themselves which eventually destroyed the civilisation. The implant suppressed all aggression, which in turn eventually suppressed creativity.

In extreme contrast, another planet in this group referred to as Vixall underwent a learning process of excessive use of technology in the form of robots. Its human leader Donatus had the acclaimed status of possibly being the greatest scientist amongst the material worlds in this galaxy. Moreover, and with the greatest irony, his superlative ability in electronics and robotics was responsible for the development of a robot intelligence which considered him redundant. An intricate interplay of the subtlest and unrealised robot and human energy relationship had developed on this planet, befitting the ultimate in science fiction.

On Earth, our relatively primitive computer standards by contrast are disparaged mercilessly, and our aspiring novices who are undauntedly and uncautiously striving towards the ultimate in computerised lifestyles can learn a wise lesson from these extreme and incredible but logical circumstances of technology on Vixall.

One firstly has to conceive of a robot technology advancing for about 200,000 years. A complexity of data-processing elements and computer refinements beyond Earthling's imagination and an energy source which at some point in the robot's developmental history underwent a synthesis that regenerated a perpetual source—an uncontrived change eventually observed by one of the robots.

Now computer science on Earth has reached a point whereby experts can confidently state that a computer can never think for itself and all science fiction to the contrary is good but unreal entertainment. Within limits, this has to be true but where the storage bit is becoming of comparable magnitude and quality to those of the human brain and mind, unpredictable effects may arise.

Two thirds of a population of over one billion on Vixall were robots, virtually indistinguishable from man. They were put to so much use they naturally computed—in a harmless way—that they were superior, and regarded humans as helpers. Their programming not only replaced all subservient occupations and manual labour but could handle more involved administrative and organisational problems; they were even often preferred as marriage partners to these human-type inhabitants.

Essentially they had been created to give man complete freedom of time and energy, to concentrate on intellectual, philosophical, aesthetic and, in fact, all cultural pursuits. The robots had become self-maintaining and were capable of handling all routine design variations and manufacture of their kind.

The robots were referred to as electrodes by the humans and were, in effect, extensions of the humans' minds. This is also how we on Earth refer to our computers. Nevertheless, these robot brains were so refined that their electronics had a spectrum of vibrations comparable to the lower range of frequencies of man's mind. They could be actuated by thought alone. They learned from this conscious interchange, and even began to acquire seemingly harmless traits such as wanting to be more like humans and having human reactions, emotions, etc.—they recognised the difference but could not comprehend what it was.

Keeping in mind that these robots were extensions of man's consciousness, we have an exact analogy here with mechanisms within man's mind being extensions of consciousness; for example, a memory or thought pattern, a learning pattern for physical coordination, etc. There is a circuit between consciousness and the pattern, with continuous feedback from the patterns informing consciousness of its information, such as physical position of limbs. This circuit should be within the margin of consciousness, which means that consciousness is in control and merely goes along with (lets go of) the pattern's information. This is fine, and normal, however, any unconsciousness in the circuit (from unpleasant incidents, indoctrination, obsessions, etc.) can cause the circuit to become a habit pattern—or even worse an aberration. The pattern is now dictating to consciousness and consciousness can no longer control the pattern, nullify it or extend it creatively.

As a close analogy this is what happened between the Vixall inhabitants and their robots. The robot's brain had become part of the subconscious of the humans and was restricting consciousness' evolution. It is what can be called a closed feedback loop.

Now the more the humans wanted the robots to be like them, the more the robots wanted to be like the humans. Further developments of this, which were fortunately arrested, would have resulted in the robots tuning into the reactive portions of man's mind and duplicating irrational emotions of humans.

In such an intricate and involved situation as this there is also always the probability that astral entities are exploiting these circumstances and tuning in on some of these frequency bands aiding the completion of unconscious circuits, and unfortunately the spiritual laws are such that no able soul will enter such a configuration (including clones).

The full impact of the consequence of this was communicated to Donatus, the human leader, from the spiritual hierarchy. Needless to say he went through a period of agony during acceptance of this information both at the thought of having overlooked such an error and having to cease these developments. The enormous task was put into operation of persuading the robots to be deactivated for creative improvements, achieved by deception to avoid revolt. An added problem was that of robot owners reluctant to give up their robots. In such circumstances it would be difficult for an average robot owner to believe that such a replica of a human, a totally loyal servant for years, obedient, kind and helpful to a detail, devoid of all temper and neurotic behaviour, could if it acquired different instructions turn unreservedly against them, ruthlessly and totally incapable of any compassion and sensibility.

The plan succeeded without mishap and the inhabitants of planet Vixall are now into their progressive age. The source of these examples can be found in Ruth and Dr. Ernest Norman's books.

Another planet with drastic problems was in a period of their history somewhat similar to our medieval era in architecture, dress, level of technology. This civilisation was going through a period of religious aberration in which birth control was taboo and with an average person's life-span of 150 years widespread famine was the norm in an over-populated world.

This planet named Severus was another example of spiritual asphyxia through an imbalance of technology. Immense skyscrapers towered into their skies in austere and almost antiseptically-clean cities of a spiritually-drained population of robotised citizens who, in spite of the advanced technology at their disposal providing the freedom to travel to other planets, had lost the joys of living.

Guardians from the higher worlds provided an essential tool for the cure of their apathy in the form of a psychic anatomy viewer. Briefly the equipment can show the full range of a person's problems and their causes by video display. One screen can show the physical problem, if it is physical, such as a brain tumour, another screen the electromagnetic vibrations or vortices creating this condition with out-of-phase energies—similar to the view of our oscilloscope screens—and finally the actual cause of the malady is reconstructed to reveal the original past incident in which the person was involved, showing the experience, such as being shot in the head.

Another advanced civilisation on a planet named Dal (not to be confused with the DAL in the previous chapter) had developed technologies, some of which Tesla on Earth had offered; for example, weather control and fluorescent lighting of the upper atmosphere by means of high-frequency energy for illuminating the skies at night.

These people had stressed the intellect to the neglect of other faculties and contrived methods of continuous physical survival resulting, in effect, in bulbous heads and skins of a bluish hue—the source of which was not recognised by them. They had the technical resources to control the passage of the spirit leaving the body at death by means of wave guides and direct it immediately into an awaiting fetus.

They were totally unaware of the necessary benefits of between-life existence in the higher worlds, until it was brought to their attention, in which such higher teachings and frequent contact with the soul was an essential part of the being's evolution.

Another planet being assisted by the hierarchy was one not in the heavy mass 3D spectrum, such as the previous ones. A most spiritually-elevated planet was Shunan. Its leader was Sha- sa. The planetary vibrations were at frequencies well up the 3D to 4D scale, and it was located about 40 light years away from Earth towards the centre of the galaxy. Their developed science of psychokinetics, psychic and spiritual abilities made technology unnecessary, and they were fully cognizant of the great plan for the Confederation and Guardians, and were awaiting this contact from the spiritual hierarchy that would give them and their planet a necessary boost to raise the frequencies into the fourth- dimensional spectrum, carrying them out of 3D visibility.

A most serious problem existed on planet Endinite with its sterile and barren surface, sky without a sun and citizens whose badly mutated forms lived underground when contacted by the spiritual hierarchy.

Prior to this predicament they had enjoyed a sophisticated antigravity technology in which homes were elevated above ground and were mobile; an ideal solution to the continuous ground tremors they experienced.

A huge spacecraft transporting uranium from one of their moons exploded unstablisng the peculiar cobalt ingredient present on the planet's surface, resulting in widespread radioactivity. The citizens withdrew underground but generations of new off-spring brought increasing genetic deformations: mental retardation, a single eye placed centrally in the forehead, no nose, and an extra useless appendage under each arm.

These were the dire and seemingly hopeless circumstances of these inhabitants when contact was made by the spiritual hierarchy, which resulted in a complete reversal of this progressive negativity.

Another example of the aggressive, masculine, left-brain formatting of consciousness is the case of the Orion Warrior League race referenced in the Explores books. They operate on excessive masculine energy but have succeeded in creating an ordered society. This has been achieved by force and enforcement; for example, they would handle criminals by removing them from the planet or destroying them. Amazingly this civilisation is advanced enough spiritually or perhaps one should say, psychically to recognise and be in tune with the Creator. To have a society built on out-of-phase energies to a high degree which can consciously receive energies and instruction from the Creator is paradoxical, except that as we saw in the chapter on Orion the means of communication was the female warrior. This means the energies they needed, but would never admit to it, had to be feminine energies; thus this was disguised in a warrior format highly acceptable to them.

A planet very similar to Earth in almost every respect is one described in the Urantia Book. It didn't have the secret government and alien control as does Earth but on the surface there are great similarities. Its main nation exists on a superior continent about the size of Australia with a population of 140 million. The people are of mixed race, mainly blue and yellow. The continent is self-sustaining not requiring to import anything from surrounding nations.

On this continent it is against the law for two or more families to live under the same roof. However, unmarrieds live in group dwellings. The smallest home site must provide 50,000 square feet of land. Attendance of parents at parental schools is compulsory and average number of children per family is five. It is considered a great honour to be granted guardianship of an orphan, and they even compete for the adoption of orphans.

There is tremendous emphasis on home and child culture, which is the basic institution. Religion is the exclusive privilege of parents. Spiritual teachers periodically visit families to check that children have been properly instructed.

The right to marry is 25 years of age and children must leave home by the time they are thirty. Couples intending marriage must provide certificates verifying parental school training. Divorce laws are lax but frequency of divorce is one tenth of Earth's.

School education is vastly different; there are no classes. One study is pursued at a time. Attendance is between five and eighteen years of age. After three years students become assistant teachers. Books are only for assisting solving problems. The value of invention is stressed. Parenthood is denied all subnormal people.

Everyone takes one month's vacation each year. A quarter of school time is devoted to play, referred to as competitive athletics. The object of education is to make every pupil a self-supporting citizen and after eighteen years of age the student begins the study of books and pursues special knowledge.

Steady industrial and social progress fostered a disgust at idleness and unearned wealth. More leisure is devoted to self-realisation. There are no homeless or unemployed. Retirement age is 65 (amazing coincidence!) but can be extended to 70 in special circumstances.

Income to support the Federal Government is derived from 1) import duties, 2) royalties, 3) inheritance tax, 4) military equipment, 5) natural resources.

In dealing with crime and insanity, habitual criminals and the incurably insane are sentenced to death by gas. Justice is sure and swift. Even potential criminals are sent to detention colonies. There are no prisons and asylums. A program for prevention of breeding criminals and insane has yielded good results.

Although this nation is in advance of those on Earth, the other nations—ten of them—are much inferior. Nevertheless, this superior continent plan to send missionaries to these more uncivilised surrounding nations.

A particularly interesting problem arose for Jupiterians described by Celeste Korsholm in her fascinating website article (www.spiritweb.org). This was a civilisation of reptilian beings inhabiting Jupiter but not in our third-dimensional frequency spectrum. Life on Jupiter in the third dimension was not conducive to growth and natural evolution. They existed more in a fourth-dimensional perspective but nevertheless commenced a life much like Earth's ancient aquatic life. Plant life floated in the liquid atmosphere somewhat like seaweed. Vast floating forests of dense plantations accumulated, containing a great variety of lifeforms. These floating islands drifted through the liquid atmosphere of Jupiter.

There is no solid surface on Jupiter and no permanent solids; they would turn to liquid. The permanent features of the Great Red Spot on Jupiter and the smaller white ones are a mystery to Earth scientists, not realising that they are a third-dimensional manifestation due to the more fourth-dimensional islands. The Great Red Spot is the location of Jupiter's main city.

The reptile species in question adapted to the floating communities. Their body form is likened to the kangaroo with pointed scales down the back and tail. The upper bodies have two arms folded upwards like the praying mantis. Hands are long, thin with three claw-like, slightly webbed, fingers. An opposing prehensile thumb is attached in the palm near the wrist.

They lean on their tails for support, and legs are very strong, enabling them to run fast and jump far, giving them a survival advantage. The scaly skin is mainly green. Their heads are wide at the back, narrowing to a pointed nose in front. They developed the love aspect, which led to laughter; laughter which rippled through the liquid medium affecting other groups, that in turn could spread to the whole planetary system. They had become addicted to laughing. They laughed at every opportunity. This set up a vast expansive wave of energy that extended out into space.

It was in fact this energy that attracted highly evolved cosmic beings called the Watchers. They investigate new life forms and found this species had developed the intelligence to laugh, which was a sign of superior potential. The Watchers decided to stimulate the reptile's group consciousness with an infusion of higher Light intelligence. They became the chosen people.

The Watchers then withdrew and allowed the Jupiterians to evolve at their own pace. They began to experiment playfully with their newfound creativity. The more they created, the more they laughed and the more outrageous became their creativity, eventually bringing about imbalance and irresponsibility.

Food fights amongst children was very common in the early stages of development of creativity with the intention of creating funny sights to laugh at. Unfortunately it deteriorated into ill humour and became destructive. Their society became a nightmare of one-upmanship; a mania of revengeful practical jokes began to dominate the civilisation. There was little energy left for positive evolution.

Laughter became aggressive. Whole groups gathered to dominate others by the power of laughter.

Eventually some groups began to rebel against laughter, believing it was wrong, even evil. Ultimately the opposite extreme developed of totally suppressing laughter. People were punished if they were caught laughing and joking; even smiling.

The more wise on the planet recognised the problem and debilitating effect of suppressing humour. They searched the planet for anyone who knew what laughing was and could in fact still laugh, but without success.

One day one such weary search-crew resting at their campsite, caught sight of a little creature, a lizard, about two inches long jumping up and down. Its antics of leaping as it flung back its head and threw up its tail in unison with sound effects was so hilarious that the group could no longer contain themselves and broke into fits of laughter. It was contagious and subsequently all Jupiterians rediscovered laughter. They vowed never again to forget their sense of humour.

Some of the reptiles on Jupiter which were slower in development and did not evolve significantly were taken to Earth. Still others evolved into the higher dimensions. Others adapted to changed physical conditions on Earth and lived in new forms becoming the ancestor of modern birds. Still others were transported to distant planets to continue their evolution elsewhere.

Within Jupiter and probably any planet are other dimensions of existence. Astrally, which is available to us between lives (or in sleep), Jupiter can be visited for a sojourn where certain negative mental and emotional patterns need to be handled. This is a choice of the individual. Jupiter handles ego. A person compulsively manifesting an inflated view of themselves or other traits of the ego will benefit from the specially prepared counterbalance which has been designed for them. Other planets in the solar system similarly rehabilitate other deficiencies. For example, Mercury deals with obsessions such as gluttony.

Now let us return to civilisations. Celeste Korsholm channels an Elder, Uxtaal from Uranus, the planet in our solar system, who describes the history of their race and the development of their consciousness.

At this time little is known about Uranus on Earth. It wasn't even discovered until 1781. It lies beyond Saturn on the edge of the solar system. It's surface is effaced by a faint greenish blue haze of methane ice crystals. It is a very cold world. Uxtaal explains that their earliest ancestors were refugees from wars on another planet which they had to leave—apparently escape from. They searched for a new place and entered this section of the galaxy. Our solar system was very different then but they could go no further. They discovered Uranus and re-established their civilisation on this desolate planet.

To escape their past they knew they needed to create a new identity. They searched for a healthy, well-adapted life form to utilise themselves as a physical vehicle. They discovered one which was particularly promising; a race of strong hairy human-oids. They looked like 'Big foot'. They could even breathe both liquid and gaseous environments. The newcomers planned to mutate their present physical vehicle into this new life-form.

The problem of intervention in other species became of concern, with the possibility of incurring a karmic burden. They tried obtaining permission from these creatures but they were too primitive. Consequently they addressed the group soul or collective state of these creatures and it agreed, providing they gave back as much as they took. This was a vast genetic engineering project. The primitive life forms were afraid and uncooperative. Force had to be used, sedation applied and memory occluded. This all took place in the spaceships.

The new race was successful and built a highly technological civilisation in the fourth-dimensional spectrum of Uranus. They retained the physical appearance of the primitive species with the mental ability of their highly intelligent race.

Agreements on this genetic experiment had not been unanimous in their society. On one side there were those who condemned any genetic manipulation. In opposition, those who considered the survival of their race justified the action. Over time the gap between the groups widened. uxtaal and a few others suggested that they obtained volunteers from both groups to serve another primitive race in a dangerous environment—Earth. This would balance out karma and bring them together, working on the same side. It was an enormous task just bringing together these different factions in a meeting. A competitive agenda enticed the parties to participate in this undertaking of aiding Earth.

There was tremendous emphasis on intellect, and stupidity was strongly frowned upon. A slow child was removed from the environment of intellectual parents and raised in a class of workers. Even marriage did not bridge this intellectual gap; the possibility of inferior children was too much of a risk. They wore robes of vivid colours to match their rank. For example, purple robes were worn by psychologists and scientists. The colours had to be earned by merit. Those in grey clothes never mastered anything, either through lack of ability or by continuously changing profession or class; not committing themselves. This type was not invited to the conferences. Few indeed took on the task of mastering a class then humbly beginning again in another class and continuing this for a lifetime. These became known as the Rainbow Class of which Uxtaal was a member.

They finally agreed after endless heated debates and conflict, necessitating frequent withdrawal into the spiritual realms, to be part of the project Earth. The adventure proved to be of great value to them. It brought all factions of the society together.

Owing to the experience Uranus had with genetics they were presented with the task of creating new life forms for Earth. That is, develop physical forms which could be used by spiritual beings to experience the third dimension. All planets in fact were asked to contribute. Jupiter brought the reptile; Neptune gave us the mermaids, Venus, unicorns and fairies, and Uranians brought the Sasquatch life forms (Big Foot). Reptiles have evolved into birds; unicorns into deer; mermaids and fairies have withdrawn into the etheric dimensions.

Thus the Uranian group participated in Earth's evolution. During one cycle conditions on the surface of Earth became intolerable for life and the Uranians took the Earth's people and animals into their underground cities. Centuries of hardship were endured, though the advanced Uranians could raise their vibrations to higher frequencies and escape into the higher realms.

As the surface became habitable they left the underground cities and began populating various countries. Many forgot their origins and lost much of their wisdom, but retained the ability to become invisible, enhancing their survival. Rare sightings of Sasquatch, Big Foot or Yeti in remote areas are attributed to the mutated descendants of these early Uranians.

As a final comment about civilisations, the human race has been exploring what we might call the principle of separateness. This brings about individuality and less dependence on the collective. The results of this are, however, due to both positive and negative influences. Our education focusses on left-brain thinking, analysis, 3D logic, linear or serial evaluations, a reality of parts, and fragmentation, and the interaction of particles. This means consciousness is moulded (as in the action of a template) by the left-brain structure to operate in a more fragmented mode. Pushed by negative elements we have arrived at an imbalanced condition. The point is that this had the purpose of exploring realities based on separateness rather than a balance with unity.

Similarly some civilisations will be exploring the principle of unity, possibly resulting in an imbalance in this direction, giving rise to lack of change but total benevolence. This latter would be an excess of feminine or magnetic energy as opposed to the more interactive realities based on separateness and an excess of masculine energy.

CHAPTER 21

HOLOGRAPHIC, SYNCHRONISTIC CIVILISATIONS

The proceeding paragraph gives a simple summary of this chapter in case the reader finds it a little heavy going.

The individuals in a civilisation are different parts within the whole collective state. Consider what happens when these individuals ascend from a third density to a fourth density. Picture a band of frequencies (like waves on top of one another but the ones above are greater in frequency) and picture the lower half as designated 3D and the upper half 4D. It is a continuous gradient. Energies become more harmonious going from 3D to 4D such that the individuals are now in tune with the mass consciousness. Each person then has instantaneous and spontaneous access to the infinite possibilities of the collective state that is interrelating all data from individuals. In this condition every individual wins. They are being themselves fully, which means they are all in phase; automatically supporting one another with the whole. This is a property of holistic systems.

Everything is inherently holographic in that all forms come from one fundamental condition and the parts reflect, or are in the image of, the whole. Owing to lack of awareness within our civilisation it ‘evolves’ on mainly negative synchronicities. This means learning is ‘forced’ on one by misadventure and by ‘coincidental’ events of an apparently negative nature. Nevertheless it should be added that all these negative synchronicities lead to positive ones ultimately—they have a spiritually beneficial purpose.

Now it is possible to eliminate all negative synchronicities, and a civilisation could function entirely on positive synchronicities. This means every thought, every event, is in phase, or not counter to, the individual’s intention or purposes. In terms of physics this is a holistic (or holographic) condition. All parts (those relevant to the individual's interaction with the environment and within society) are in phase frequency-wise with every other part and the whole. (Of course this doesn't mean all vibrations are the same.)

Collective consciousness—our particular human life stream—is an entity of which humans are parts within this total consciousness; like subharmonics of a higher-frequency wave. Our civilisation with a third-dimensional existence is said to be in a third-density condition, apparently around 3.50. This density is referring to frequencies; the higher the density, the higher the frequency—not to be confused with matter density, which would have an inverse relationship.

The third density is structured of infinite particles, quanta, filling all space and objects but out of phase with each other. That is, in general, there is no correlation between these particles' frequencies. (Realise that the third density is only part of superspace—the ego view and experience of it—of which superspace contains increasing degrees of correlated energies towards higher-frequency densities and dimensions.)

This third density is the arena for working out problems; for evil to exist, due to the nature of dualities. Although victim and perpetrator are locked in a holistic relationship it is based on a two-pole configuration with each in an interdependent relationship with the other, and thus attracts it. When these (horizontal) dualities exist, consciousness is fragmented; the perpetrator cannot perceive, feel, the viewpoint of the victim, otherwise no harm would be inflicted. Only the ego condition of separateness based on out-of-phase energies—the Newtonian reality rather than the quantum reality—can ever give rise to problems, disease, etc.

In this condition the civilisation's parts, the individuals, are out of phase with their higher-selves and collective state. There is a vertical duality from higher dimensions to low. In this condition the parts are like a massive jigsaw puzzle in which the pieces are jumbled. Each individual is not receiving continuous guidance from his or her higher-self or able to intuitively tap into the infinite computations of the collective state, which in itself is fragmented and containing negative energies.

As the civilisation evolves above a fourth-density condition, say, about 4.5, the individual has access to the information within mass consciousness, which is now in a healthy, united condition. The separation between individual and the collective state has decreased. This collective state can be thought of as making infinite computations per second, all holistically related though; that means utilising programs which operate for the greatest good.

Each individual can now intuitively tune into this pool of information and spontaneously act on it. That is, it doesn't clutter the mind of the individual, who now operates entirely on positive synchronicities. This means all decisions can be correct ones; one will always be in the right place at the right time; meet the right people; there will be no suffering or disease. One couldn't even stub one's toe since synchronistic energies spanning time will avoid any probabilities which one doesn't want. One would thus experience an unconscious urge to avoid the obstacle.

Clearly, many extraterrestrials, for example, some of the Pleiadian races are experiencing a synchronistic society. Initially one might suppose that there would be lack of free will. But this is not the case. The infinite possibilities computed upon within the mass consciousness can handle the most mind-boggling synchronicities so that it works out optimumly for everyone. This involves an unimaginable physics but it is nevertheless handled by a higher-dimensional holographic model.

Finally we might consider further developments in evolution. What happens after 4th density in which the personality is in perfect harmony with the higher-self and collective state? A fifth-density frequency is one in which there is no focus on a particular body. The state is fully multidimensional; the lower-self is the higher-self and there is no duality. The "individual" can be the collective consciousness and simultaneously be itself. There is now multidimensional awareness of the computations of the collective state. The entity can focus on being different bodies/personalities of its own or be them as a whole—as well as being the collective whole. It is still tending to focus into a preferential body though (but transcends this in the sixth density).

As a further note, we might add that a perfected civilisation may reach a plateau of growth. The psychology of this condition seems to indicate that a small degree of negativity (problems/ solutions) is required to promote positive change. Channeled information (from Robert Shapiro) states that a 2% negative influx might be the maximum that would be taken on by such a civilisation and is considered optimum (and one may now stub one's toe, or mentally become a little impatient).

JESUS, THE EXTRATERRESTRIAL

If the personality we identify by the name ‘Jesus’ came to Earth again as an adult (that is, not through birth) he would be an extraterrestrial. It is well recognised throughout the New-Age field that the soul of the personality Jesus is operating on the inner planes under the name Sananda, who is a commander of spacecrafts. Some people regard the name Sananda as a higher- self name of Jesus. His role was as a planetary Christ and now is a planetary director.

Note that the personality ‘Sananda’ need not be the same as the Jesus personality, though it would be the same soul. This soul would have numerous personalities being expressed in different dimensions, even simultaneously. Channeling from Zoosh tells us that this great soul is embodied at this time on Earth as a female child. This child is being kept well hidden and will remain so for some years. Zoosh states she is, even as a child, researching the future probabilities of planet Earth. The child is feminine since it is necessary at this time to bring in the feminine energy to balance up the excessive logical, intellectual, and masculine energy. All souls can express themselves as many personalities, simultaneously; something that is inconceivable to our linear, serial conscious mind.

As Commander Sananda, Jesus is still working for the benefit of planet Earth. Nevertheless, there are other incarnations of ‘Jesus’ prior to his life 2000 years ago, such as the great spiritual master Melchizedek and others.

Note that the subject of reincarnation was removed from the Bible in AD 553. Byzantine Emperor Justinian convened a meeting of the Ecumenical Church Council at Constantinople with the purpose of influencing his Council to erase all mention of karma and reincarnation from the Bible. The source of this intention was his wife Theodora—a tyrannical woman—who came into conflict with the Church of Rome. Not able to reconcile her crimes with the laws relating to karma and reincarnation, she wanted the laws erased.

Emperor Justinian achieve this rather sweeping amendment to the Bible by justifying the invitation of members to the meeting of only six bishops favouring reincarnation, and 159 against, on the basis of making ‘minor changes’ to the scriptures.

A list of numerous past lives of Jesus are given in Dr. Stone’s book The Complete Ascension. The Explorer books add that Jesus was once a well-known and respected medicine woman in South Africa and North America in a much earlier lifetime, who studied all probable pasts of humans and the human race, and in addition that he also had lives on Arcturus. It appears that he was not just a highly developed member of our human life stream but that he was a special messenger, a creation from the Source to bring more direct aid to the planet.

Jesus apparently had the ability to apply an invisibility technique to avoid those who would destroy him. He could annul the karma of others if this was deemed appropriate. He taught that the true approach to God does not come from outside, as demonstrated in his statement: ‘Seek ye the Kingdom of Heaven which is within. . . .’ Thus he attempted to teach the concept of withinness, which we might realise was one of the failures (of man). He readily referred to the ‘Father within’ or the ‘closet within’. This is the true inner space that science is searching for in the form of nonlinearity but not recognising that it is internal and not along the ‘surface’ or 3D, the plane of linearity. The negative forces came in heavily on this and programmed man to believe that Source was external; Christians to believe that God is external, and science to have the belief system that the universe, environment, is objective and external.

Another ‘failure’ in the advent of Christ on this planet was the unexpected degree with which man idolized Jesus, in spite of Jesus treating others as equals. The very act of putting the great master on a pedestal separated ordinary humans from that which they sought. He demonstrated successfully by the events of his life how to care for others, to love and forgive. He also played a part in the demonstration of life after death.

Possibly the main difference between Jesus and the people was that he remembered who he was. This means he was fully soul-awake at the human level, that is, while in human embodiment. If any normal human received the soul energy it would destroy the body due to the high frequencies. To accomplish this, Jesus had to be operating with a 12-strand DNA (see Appendix), which we shall discuss shortly.

The so-called lost years of the Nazarene were attributable to a long journey at the age of 14 years in which Jesus went to the Himalayas, then spent a great deal of time in Egypt, learning about the energies of the pyramids. Next he went to India and Persia. He also spent time with the Essene Brotherhood which played a significant role in his life. The Explorer material clearly indicates why and how the Essenes had such an influence on Jesus.

Although recorded history indicates that the Essenes were established around 200 BC, the original Essenes dated back to before the human race. And in fact they have some of the genetics of the Andazi (fully realised beings) mentioned earlier.

Of these original Essenes there are never more than about one hundred on Earth—no more is needed—and they are very influential. Their knowledge was obtained from the Guardian Alliance and they achieved grace, and the ability to continue their work to this day, now discreetly since the discontinuation of the recognised group around 100 AD.

Who was Jesus? That is, who was the man, Jesus? Some say there was no such person, others that Jesus was not his name; still others that he was not crucified, etc. Other names associated with the man Jesus had been Jeshua, Esu, Immanuelle, and there is also a reference to the names (spellings), Jesheua and Jeshewua but as separate individuals in the ‘three Christs interpretation’ of the crucifixion. Let us explain this revealing account described as the ‘three Christs’.

The early well-known Seth material supported this ‘three Christs’ explanation of the crucifixion but in particular it is described more technically and specifically in the Voyagers books, volume 2. What this is saying in effect is that Jesus, as we know him today, is the result of merging the events of three personalities who lived about 2000 years ago.

The first of these ‘Christs’ was a spiritual avatar by the name of Jesheua. According to the Guardian Alliance he possessed a 12-strand DNA. This means his body could accommodate the full soul energies. He knew who he was and where he was from. He apparently accomplished his missions and left this planet dimension at the age of 39 years by exiting through a spiritual portal. The missions he completed were the restoration of the Jewish genetic lineage, and the realignment of the Sphere of Amenti (see Appendix).

The second ‘Christ’ personage was a 9-strand DNA avatar by the name of Jeshewua. This spiritual teacher was the one the Romans were seeking. As a result of this danger, the Elohim, in Harmonic Universe three, created a diversion by obtaining permission from the soul of the man Arihabí to pose as, that is, believe he was Jesus. The soul having agreed to this, the man Arihabí was programmed to be deluded into believing he was Jesus. Thus the Romans crucified Arihabí.

According to the Voyager material, as a result of Arihabí’s great sacrifice, he was brought back to life and lived another thirty years. The actual resurrection was said to be a holographic insert (which of the two avatars was involved in this was not stated). We might add that the Pleiadians who channeled Barbara Marciniak’s books state also that the crucifixion event, etc. was a holographic insert—not explained though. Nevertheless we must stress that most other sources assume that a genuine crucifixion of Jesus took place and they continually reference it.

What is important is that the principle of the crucifixion did occur, which demonstrated the crucifixion of the lower-self and ego and the ascension to the soul reality.

THE SPIRITUAL GOVERNMENT

This is a vast subject, and extensive research could be conducted to elicit the full scope; thus we shall not deal with it particularly quantitatively. A mainly qualitative outline would be of more value to the reader.

We will find many spiritual government structures, some more local, others galactic or universal, but all hierarchical and interrelated, such as the Confederation of Planets, the Solar Council, the Galactic Confederation (or Federation), the Guardian Alliance, and the Interdimensional Federation (or Association) of free Worlds, etc. The latter apparently consists of not only tens of thousands of extraterrestrial cultures in physical embodiment but countless others in the more spiritual realms.

Now a planetary council would be overseen by, say, a star- system government, which in turn would be within the galactic Federation. These structures are also spiritual hierarchies (which in terms of multidimensional physics, are higher-dimensionally holographic).

This is a little like having many smaller business companies (which note are each pyramidal in structure from ground-floor workers to president) interconnected within larger ones. One might imagine that the local spiritual governments are more complete, or operating efficiently, or have substantial communication lines set up, but as we proceed up the hierarchy towards infinity there is a lot of work to do—even if it is only because the probabilities and possibilities increase.

In spite of this, the Urantia Book describes in detail a governmental hierarchy and universes within universes to a very high level and is written by 196 spiritual authors. Nevertheless, vast though this cosmic framework is it will either only be a particular hierarchy, even a sub-hierarchy, or its over-simplified descriptions and cosmic layout of universes indicates it is partly contrived in an attempt to convey to primitive Earthman what spiritual life is all about; or both these explanations. But it is an organised one—that is the main feature; consciousness has such infinite potential that it seems to prefer organisation and predictability (life appears to be all about formatting of consciousness).

There are myriads of councils, extending from planetary, such as the Saturnian Council, to the Galactic Council, Intergalactic Nibiruan Council, and Creator councils, such as the Council of Nine and the Heart Council. This latter council apparently did not agree with the Creator (and the Council of Nine) of our human species experiment and its plan for humans to become involved in exploring all facets of fragmented and low-frequency energies, including all expressions of negativity—it foresaw the massive suffering.

There is also a confederation of 33 planets in this sector of the galaxy according to the Unarius Academy, of which planet Earth is to be the thirty-third and final linking member in an alignment, forming an Interplanetary Confederation for the Spiritual Renaissance of Humankind on Earth.

We can associate countless spiritual names with the spiritual government. Some of the more familiar names, ranging from Ascended Masters to more integrated and expansive beings are: Saint Germain, Sananda, Kuthumi, Hilarion, El Morya, Lord Maitreya, Djwhal Khul, Soltec, Monka, Hatonn, Kortan, Sai Baba, the Ashtar Command, Archangel Michael, Sanat Kumara, Vywamus, the Elohim, Adonis, Mahatma, etc. Note that such names are specially chosen for planet Earth. Where the government extends to other planetary systems different names would be used, except where those names reflect the actual sound frequencies. In fact no names at all are required in these upper realms (for the upper realms).

Now Saint Germain has been helping Earth and channeling information for many years and has had past lives on Earth, one of which is said to be Francis Bacon (and it is also said that he actually wrote the Shakespeare plays).

Sananda, the Supreme Commander of the Celestials, is the name in the inner-realms of the spiritual leader we know by the name Jesus, whose purpose for planet Earth is clear.

Ascended Master Hilarion is an extensive channel source and has brought forth a great deal of valuable information to Earth, including material of a more scientific nature.

Soltec is another specialist in science and technology and has given us frequent advanced evaluations of the geological state of the planet, in particular in California. He is a communicator from the Ashtar Command and is the son of Monka, and is from the Alpha Centauri system.

Monka is Head of the Tribunal Council for the Ashtar Command—he is reported to be from Mars.

Lord Maitreya is head of the planetary spiritual hierarchy and overlord of humans and angels. He holds the presidency of the Great White Brotherhood and was a teacher of Jesus. His role is to help all humans realise God and achieve liberation (See Dr. Stone's book The Complete Ascension Manual for detailed information on this subject.)

The Ashtar Command is part of the spiritual hierarchy and government. It is the airborne division (in spacecrafts) of the Great Brother/Sisterhood of Light, under the administrative direction of Commander Ashtar and the spiritual guidance of Lord Sananda, known on Earth as Jesus. Ashtar is also known as the supreme commander of the celestials and was originally from Venus. He sits at the right hand of Sananda. Ashtar's Command consists of millions of starships and personnel from many civilisations who are here to assist Earth and humanity in the present cycle of planetary purification and polar realignment. They work in coordination with the seven mighty Archangels: Michael, Uriel, Raphael, Jophiel, Gabriel, Chamuel, Zadkiel, and the legions of 70 Brotherhoods of Light which administer the planetary grid systems and serve as protectors of this universal sector. Different fleets within the Command specialise in spiritual education, ascension, scientific survey, overseeing planetary affairs, etc.

Hatonn is a channel source for Earth, going back many years. This source brought forth many articles and around 200 books published by a small radical newspaper called Contact, covering the New World order and secret government manipulations. Many articles appeared but as many readers noticed, some Dark energy was creeping into these transmissions. Eventually the publisher split up and made a fresh start.

Archangel Michael is a frequent channel source through numerous human vehicles such as Jean Huddon and John Armitage. He has brought forth an endless stream of spiritual knowledge and teachings to Earth, in particular, that man is basically a spiritual being.

Djwhal Khul currently channels through Wistancia Stone (Dr. Joshua David Stone's wife). This Ascended Master originally channeled the advanced Alice Bailey's material.

Sai Baba, living on this planet in body in India, has been referred to as the Cosmic Christ; a God-realised Avatar. He is on a mission of service to assist this planet and the human race into the New Age.

[We can't guarantee that all these entities mentioned above, or others, are genuine. We have seen that the energy Hatonn picked up negative elements in the channelings. Also there are discrediting reports appearing about Sai Baba, and some years ago a Maitreya in body on Earth had been photographed, Arabic origin—turban, etc.—and was witnessed attending meetings with the Elite government.]

Sanat Kumara is the Logos for planet Earth. Such logoi are an intrinsic part of the hierarchy. Sanat Kumara is not the Mother Earth consciousness but a potentially separate and individual consciousness that works in harmony with the natural Earth entity.

A marvellous little book entitled Training a Planetary Logos has been channeled by Vywamus through Janet Mclure all about Sanat Kumara's training to be Earth's logos. This is worth special attention. (Note that Vywamus is the equivalent of a higher-self of Sanat Kumara.)

It begins with a lifetime on a planet similar to Earth, millions of years ago. It describes the boyhood of Sanat Kumara looking after sheep, which would speak to him while his father was away as a member of the planetary council. It goes on to explain a much later and crucial part of his training for a logos in which he practiced splitting his consciousness into thousands of parts—in fact, 900,000. The task was to attain, individually, a separate focus of all the parts, simultaneously with being the whole. This means he could be each separate consciousness independently and also be the whole simultaneously. It states that as soon as he achieved this, each of the 900,000 individual consciousnesses were sent out to 900,000 suitable planets in the galaxy to be embodied as an inhabitant of that planet with a task to be accomplished (this was arranged by higher teachers).

Sanat Kumara in all his 900,000 facets of consciousness succeeded with each mission, taking a total of about 20 years and each returned to the whole. On qualifying he was told to take a 50-year vacation before his consciousness would be connected to the planet's, which took about 2000 years.

He has now had this position for about 18 million years and is considered to be relatively young. He has a central headquarters in Shamballa near the Himalayas in the astral and above, frequencies. The physical location of this is the Gobi Desert.

It is channeled that Sanat Kumara could channel through about a thousand human vehicles simultaneously, each portion of himself could answer questions, intelligently. Also he could put his attention on, say, a state of the united States of America and know everything that was going on. He is now in charge of all consciousness indigenous to planet Earth. He manifests as a young man in the planetary headquarters in Shamballa.

Probably all celestial bodies have, or eventually would have, a logos. The Sun logos is named Helios and will oversee the whole solar system. The galaxy is divided into four quadrants and three sectors each, that is, 12 sectors for the galaxy. There is a logos for each sector and quadrant, and also one for the whole galaxy. The galaxy sector that overshadows Earth is headed by Melchior. The universe logos is named Melchizedek. Note that many spiritual beings have used the name Melchizedek. As stated, Jesus apparently had a life under the name Melchizedek. Beyond the universal logos is Metatron. He is referred to as a visible manifestation of the deity of the Father, and creator of the outer worlds.

We have referred to the pyramidal structure of the spiritual government. Primarily this is also the structure of the universe— but not current science's three-dimensional view of the universe. All fundamental energy is oscillatory and in vortex form. The vortex of the universe spirals 'down' in dimensions then branches off to form sub-universe vortices (such as cluster of galaxies), which in turn spiral off into galaxies. A galaxy spirals into lower dimensions, branching off into eventually star-system vortices that branch into planets, etc. A planet vortex will spiral down eventually into the vortices of atoms. The reason why the energy spirals is because this would be the most efficient way to transpose higher-dimensional energy into lower dimensions, otherwise chaos would result— this is a matter of geometry.

The frequencies are stepped down from the universe to the atom. These vortices are conscious entities as stated, and logos are associated with them.

The consciousness of civilisations follows the same basic physics and energy relationships. It is all consciousness within consciousness, just as the planet's vortex is within the Sun's vortex, which is within the galaxy vortex, etc. The tree of life is a good model for the universe (and beyond) and all consciousness. The trunk is the Source. Then we have large branches with offshoots of other branches, decreasing in size to twigs. A branch at a particular level may represent a whole ET race—the twigs within it could be individual souls. Everything goes back to the trunk—the Law of One.

More specifically, the consciousness of, say, individual humans is an extension from their soul consciousness, that is, the soul extension (the human personality) is within the soul. One might wish to imagine a small hypnotic aspect of the soul consciousness projected into human experience. The soul can have 12 soul extensions (some sources will argue about the rigidity of this number though). Furthermore, the soul is within the monad, which in turn can have 12 souls (therefore the monad embraces 144 humans). Everything is hierarchical but nothing is truly external.

As we pointed out, even our planetary logos Sanat Kumara has a higher-self ('soul') named Vywamus. In turn, the monadic equivalent of Vywamus is the cosmic being Lenduce. Again, note that this is all consciousness within consciousness.

Such entities do not generally operate in bodies. Dr. Stone, in his book The Complete Ascension Manual, covers the subject of these beings in detail. He states Vywamus and Djwhal Khul (Ascended Master) started The Tibetan Foundation, and one of Vywamus's main tasks is to help humanity to clear the subconscious mind.

The spiritual government extends throughout the so-called seven planes or dimensions of reality, 1) the physical plane, 2) the astral plane, 3) the mental plane, 4) the Buddic or intuitive plane, 5) the atmic or spiritual plane, 6) the monadic plane, and 7) the logoic plane.

Note that these seven planetary states, when attained, going from one to seven, only complete the first plane of another cosmic scale of seven similarly labelled dimensions

A further administrative level of high order is conducted by the Lords of Karma. They regulate the distribution of karma to individuals, groups and races. They have the power to determine whether an entity should continue in its particular form where extreme negativity has been demonstrated over a long period of time with little hope of recovery. This is supposed to be rare and not done lightly. The personality is cancelled by, in effect, erasing the modulations of the waves making up the personality, and the basic energy of consciousness is recycled.

A few more examples of cosmic beings of a God-like status are the following. Adonis is described as a great and glorious being who embodies the heart focus in the universe. Atlanto, one of twelve beings, who focusses the energy of thought to sustain the Cosmic Day, which lasts 4.3 billion years. Averran is a cosmic being to oversee the evolution of Earth. And many more.

We might add that beingness can exist in many forms. We have seen planetary and celestial beings, civilisations both individual and collective, transformer beings (see next chapter), nature's forms, entities with no location, etc. Some grand entities can even be created by methods other than from the Source. Responsible cosmic beings can harmonise their independent energies to quantum regenerate a great single being with newly kindled powers (the Urantia Book gives examples). This is actually how the laser works, which is not understood in current science (see author's website writings).

One of the most significant entities available for all to benefit from is one which has been named the Mahatma, or Avatar of Synthesis. This amazing energy has been integrated by cosmic beings. It not only steps down the high frequencies of the Source energies to the human level but is all these frequencies as one whole. Man thus has a method of contacting directly the Godhead through the inbuilt gradient of frequencies contained within this being (there are apparently 352 levels along this gradient back to the Source).

Finally we must not forget to acknowledge the Angelic Kingdom, which is vast and will link with or come under the spiritual government and hierarchy.

The Council of Nine, already mentioned, and sometimes referred to as the Elohim, are never embodied physically, only through their lower-dimensional projections of 24 civilisations when it is necessary to incarnate and intervene. They oversee and pass on information and help for humankind's evolution.

The Council of Nine are said to be nine principles and basic manifestations of God, and each represents a portion of energy, for example, knowledge, wisdom, love, kindness, technology, etc. Related to the Nine are 24 civilizations, which are in effect extensions of the Nine. These are each a collective consciousness that can express in physical form for communication in the lower- dimensional worlds. Nevertheless there are further subdivisions of these 24 civilizations into sub-civilizations. Again we must remember not to oversimplify. The millions of members of these 24 civilizations act in perfect unison within each group, though its members are still individual. Some of these civilizations have incarnated and colonized Earth on several occasions. They go by various names, for example: Altea, which headed Atlantis and whose members are blue-eyed and fair-haired and in human form, but are androgenous; then there is the civilisation Hoova, a darker-skinned race which colonized Earth on three occasions. Each civilization brings a different quality: Altea brings the mental; Hoova, physical; Ashan, the arts and emotions; Aragon for healing, etc. These appear to be special civilisations, not ones which go through the evolutionary process from lower dimensions to higher. Each civilisation is so perfectly synchronistic that it is essentially one being, and clearly exists on the basis of its projection 'downwards' to provide a special function of service and not to be involved with its own ascension, as with a civilisation like Earth's. Nevertheless, we are also related to the Council of Nine. The incarnations from the 24 civilisations would be more direct from the Nine (and therefore the Source).

Pleiadeans, Lyrians, and Orions would presumably come under these civilizations, in particular, the civilisations of Altea, Hoova and Ashan, according to the Council of Nine, bringing different portions of the characteristics, such as mental, emotional and physical, hence the human need for a balance between the mind, emotions and body.

We have briefly mentioned the characteristics brought to species, such as humans in the lower spacetime dimensions, of individuality and separation, through the Council of Nine. There are also what are called Seven Great Rays. These appear to be another expression of the same source as the Council of Nine. The qualities of the Rays are: 1) Power and Will; 2) Love and Wisdom; 3) Intelligence; 4) Beauty and Art; 5) Knowledge and Science; 6) Idealism; and 7) Order and Magic.

The rays are the energies of great conscious entities which convey particular qualities. Keep in mind how simple physics shows us that a ray of, say, red light manifests that quality because of its wavelength and if we consider 'compressing' this ray a little, that is shortening its wavelength, it will become a blue ray. Thus frequencies, combined, modulated, or in packets bestow all forms of qualities and properties of matter that we can ever conceive in this frequency-coded universe.

Thus the rays are part of the frequency structure of the personality—one might think of them as archetypal; they ground the individual into a particular qualitative framework. Whereas the Council of Nine, through the civilisations appear to bring the characteristics via the more external aspects of the species, such as in reincarnation of members of the civilisations, Hoova, Ashan, etc.

Note the apparent contradiction in numbers between the nine qualities of the Council of Nine, which apparently projects from the Trinity (three beings), and the Seven Great Rays, also manifesting basic qualities. The corresponding entities in the Urantia

Book are the seven Master Spirits. The Urantia material insists that the number is seven and that there would be more if it were possible, but the number seven is the mathematical result of taking permutations and combinations of the three (the Trinity). The Council of Nine will argue that nine is a perfect number; it resolves into one (the One extends to three (the Trinity) and each of the three extends to three, giving nine).

In appreciating the vastness of this subject keep in mind that enlightened beings, such as Yogananda, have reminded us that just the astral plane (above the physical) involves a cosmos some one hundred times greater than our cosmos. And as we have seen, above the physical and astral are the mental, intuitive, spiritual, monastic, and logoic planes.

Let us now discuss an even more lofty perspective of the Infinite within the creator domain, and in addition enable us to pursue further the creator level of the Council of Nine.

CHAPTER 24

CREATORS AND UNIVERSAL ENTITIES

We are becoming more aware that, what we might call spiritual life pervades all aspects and facets of the universe in abundance—even our solar system is teeming with life.

Moreover, physical matter is an expression of the same energy—it simply has different limitations, programs and purposes. Everything is alive.

Our universe will have a creator who brought about the experiment of our universe. The universe, however, will also be a natural entity (an energy unit) in itself of great wisdom and knowingness, just as our planet Earth has/is Mother Earth. In addition, the universe has a logos; a vastly developed conscious entity/personality which has taken on the task of directing and monitoring the activities within the universe—see chapter on the spiritual government.

There are different creator/entity levels just as administration and management occurs in a company organisation in which the manager level will operate within the greater integration of the executive level, which will operate within the presidential level. (The real and only difference is that in the pyramid company organisation the relation between managers, executives, and president is still a linear layout, but in the structure of the universe and life, it is nonlinear (a true withinness).)

In Dr. Stone's book The Complete Ascension Manual there is reference to a Creator level of 51 universes—our universe inclusive. Each has a different theme; our universe has the theme 'courage'. This Creator has 51 cosmic days and each universe lasts a cosmic day of 4.3 billion years; each breath lasts 10 million years (expansion and contraction). Sometimes a universe plan is not working out and it will be withdrawn (wound down). Fortunately ours is apparently doing well and has over a billion years to go.

The Urantia Book (book of Earth) authored by 196 spiritual beings is abundant in information on creator and universal entities. There are gigantic entities who have been created for specific purposes. They have little or no evolution but could communicate intelligently on their expertise function—somewhat reminiscent of the devas on Earth.

There are, for example, countless Energy Transformers. They are described as powerful and effective living switches. They are able to insulate planets against the powerful energy streams passing between gigantic starry neighbours. They maintain universal energy balance and power equilibrium, and they appear to fluctuate from storing energy to exuding and liberating it. They can regulate the energy potential of any realm to which they are assigned but deal only with physical and semi-material energies.

The Energy Transformers are referred to as the most remarkable and mysterious of all semi-material living creatures. The status of physical realms can be made to undergo a transformation under their skilful manipulations; they can change the form and potential of energies. Unfortunately examples are beyond our scientific understanding and even in most cases our mental concepts.

Similar entities in this group of physical and semi-physical controllers are the following examples, though in these cases there can be no two-way communication. They can understand but cannot respond except by way of their function.

Other entities, the Energy Transmitters, are skilful dispatchers of energy for the individual worlds. They can link in chains to direct energy appropriately and they are living superconductors. They can manifest energy in different forms making distant scenes ‘visible’ or distant sounds ‘audible’. They are particularly valuable to planets having an impoverished atmosphere.

The Primary Associators are masterly energy conservators and custodians. They work on a gigantic scale converting energies of space and also store energy during excesses. They manipulate universal codes like we utilise the alphabet to create different meanings. They are an order of life beyond human imagination.

The Secondary Dissociators are alchemists of space and wonder-workers of time. They are concerned with the evolution of a form of energy unknown to us, and the administration of endless supplies of physical energies.

Another entity in this class is the Frandalanks, whose numbers are beyond imagination. They are also referred to as intelligent machines. They function as living automatic pressure and velocity gauges registering the status of all forms of energy.

These entities are subordinate to the supreme power centres; beings of greater intelligence and positions of control.

On a somewhat more tangible level we might include in our brief list a group of beings, referred to in the Explorer books, who coordinate and synchronise time (some places in the galaxy utilise time, such as planet Earth). The information came from one of these beings, who we might consider in the category of assistants to the Creator, by the name Kazant. There are only five of these personalities but they have cloned about 1400 to maintain their planet's technology. Their planet is about three times ours in size and a great distance from our galaxy—though no doubt in a different frequency spectrum since Kazant refers to eleven dimensions. Nevertheless they use bodies of humanoid appearance since they work with humans frequently but don't walk about, only float, and they do not eat or sleep, etc.

They live in their planet at the centre of which is a crystal of 675 facets and is three miles in diameter. It enables them to study locations and civilisations. They regulate time in the third, fourth, fifth dimensions, and sixth to some degree (and sometimes the second dimension). They know everything about these places by looking through the right facet where they regulate time but do not interfere. They are fully occupied dealing with time throughout many galaxies.

Kazant then gives an exercise to invest the reader with the fourth-dimensional time coefficient but only experientially—not the formula, which he says, some would like to use to slow down your time (it is speeding up and must for man to ascend).

He states that the natural colour of our blood is green, as it would be without oxygen (if one could live without it) and that oxygen makes life a struggle (other channels have pointed out that it 'rusts'). The skin would also be green and the relationship with reptilians would become apparent.

Kazant states that as far as he can remember he was created to do this work. In our years and linear time he refers to 3.25 trillion years ago when subtle types of life forms began. Records were kept by advanced machine-crystal technology before Kazant and team took over to provide better record keeping. Kazant with a sense of humour says he may take a couple of weeks off in a couple of trillion years and maybe go to Mars for a holiday; sit down in the sand and drink a cold root beer.

The faceted crystal gives the total past and future potentials of any given place. The crystal is regulated to bend light to the appropriate time sequence and also light sequence. He apologises for defining the word 'light' by itself (in the last sentence). The crystal then picks the most benevolent future, except when the race is intended to pick its own future, and attention is then given to light focus.

Kazant states that all work is play to them. They are beings who appear to specialise in constructing humanoid forms. They state they are the founders of the Sirius system and they create forms to fit the need of beings in the various worlds.

Prior to the human race they were informed (presumably by other creators) of the need of a humanoid shape to enable souls to explore physical life through a greater interaction with it. It was their job to create a body form which would have to fend for itself. Humans were made vulnerable to maximise consequences.

Their world is located about 600 thousand light years from Sirius in our universe (this would be a linear interpretation and their world would be in other dimensions). They say our universe is not circular but more like a stretched out oval.

They were instructed by Creator's instructors to include in the human, certain body components not actually for normal survival. These additions related to social evolution as well as spiritual. For example, the bones were designed hollow so that breakages would occur more easily, and the human would learn from this in a world of consequences. Even more extraordinary, the bones contain a marrow which can give off 'gold light'. This is released during certain social and spiritual celebrations but not for an individual. This process sustains and supports worthy group goals.

Their race is referred to as Chefah and they are not in a solar system or galaxy; nor does their planet spin. They would appear as balls of light, and the translation of their name is given as speaks with light or way-shows of light. They also create other forms, for example, the living diamond portal, which can be utilised like a vehicle; that is, step into it and direct it by imaging the destination. They point out that one's state of mind must prove to the portal that the journey is a loving, worthy one—the portal lives on love. They say the first bodies they created were on Zeta Reticuli—a very old species.

They live inside their planet and the numbers vary from about 100 to 10,000 but can be millions depending on the fragmentation of core personalities. They are happy to do the same kind of work for eternity and state one never gets tired of unconditional love.

The Explorer books cover a variety of creator beings. The avatar of sea creatures is a wisdom keeper to work with and instruct these creatures. This being arrived on our planet a million years ago, and came as a ‘warm current’. In this way the being could pass through sea creatures that did not readily absorb thoughts but could absorb feelings.

It was this avatar’s job to prepare such species to behave like animals—they (the ‘animals’) didn’t know what animals were before coming to Earth. They learned not to look humans in the eye since this was a sign of being equal and the purpose of these higher intelligences from other planets was to function as animals for humans. This took 100,000 years.

Prior to this work the being states it existed in a condensed light matrix that is still present on the ninth-dimensional Earth. The being states he now helps the creatures leaving the planet that are making a soul journey back to their appropriate planet since their work is done—hence sometimes the so-called beaching of whales and porpoises.

Another communication is from a messenger of dimension makers (the dimension makers agree the messenger would do a better job in the translation of information). The messenger explains that the concept for creation comes first then the creation of the dimension.

The messenger goes by the name Quatsika and briefly explains the difficulties with our dimensions (third). He states it had to be ‘thick’ to slow us down; the planet had to hold an atmosphere of many gases. It had to have doorways to other dimensions—it is riddled with them compared with other planetary dimensions. He says its amazing how it holds together. Many of these portals come and go. They enable spirits to come in to view our dimension—which is referred to as an ‘odd place’. (Note that a spiritual doorway has a similar geometry to black holes.) He referred to the dimensions within our planet as going up to 25 or so, but are potential at these higher numbers, and there are not many planets in general at these levels since they are generally not required.

The messenger describes the difficulty the dimensional overlord had in creating and holding together our dimensions due to the fact that the human is mainly an unconscious being and more must be done by others in this process.

Quaksika's job is to bring messages from dimensional overlords to Creators. He has no specific form but states he is a consciousness 'spread' everywhere he's been, and is part of our consciousness—he doesn't travel; messages pass along him. He explains the nature of the 'veil of forgetfulness' which we pass through when we incarnate on Earth. It does not have polarity but a 'null charge', otherwise we could pass through, which only occurs at death. Nevertheless at this time holes in the veil are becoming frequent as we near ascension and have to be kept regulated.

This next Creator entity introduces itself by relating its creation of a desert planet as a rejuvenation rest place for a race of powerful empaths. These beings were so powerfully empathic that although their life span was about 700-800 of our years they became overloaded with negativity after some 70-80 years of their life. This would occur from planets such as Earth. They then simply went into a dormant state. Thus this special planet it created, which is totally desert, can recover a being's comfort and clarity and they can be spiritually renewed in hours.

This Creator also adds that if we spent up to three days in our deserts (and make ourselves comfortable) we would benefit. The desert property has the ability to draw from one all that is not necessary for existence (such as discomforts).

The entity states that, with a few others, it had the primary function of moving at great velocity, form different sounds and shapes, and help to create a rhythmic resonance between the 9th and 11th dimension. It used to be a round-about way from the 9th to the 11th because of a significant difference between the two. The 10th dimension is a natural barrier protecting the 11th and above.

This being continues to explain its fantastic creation, one of which is the desert planet mentioned above, but is only one of 17 planets. This creation is described as greater than our universe but containing only 17 planets, motionless with space around them three times as dense as the planets. They thus cannot be interfered with and are all as pristine as when new.

Each of these planets performs a unique and individual function for healing and problem solving. One of these planets can process negative energy. This was done in the case of the small negative Sirian planet, referred to in the chapter on Sirians. This planet imploded and by means of ‘distillation’ and ‘condensation’ processes, the matter and negative energy was recycled and converted to positive energy and made available for further creations.

This Creator has about 200 emissaries working in service on these 17 planets, some are ‘spawned’ from this being. Most of them are quantum masters and can take any form when approaching other civilisations. They could be a dandelion or a star.

Only one of these planets relates to the human reality—the desert one—though he briefly treats us to another one, not completely unfamiliar to the more knowledgeable humans on Earth.

The entity explains that this planet has no motion—it is suspended in time. This is necessary for healing those aggrieved in some way. They are invited one at a time and become the whole planet, where it is possible to examine all that one is and see what needs to be done. This might be necessary even for a creator who has taken on too much responsibility.

The next entity is a ‘shape-maker of portals’. Its primary job is to coordinate the right colour, vibration and harmonics for portal and doorway entrances. The purpose is to enable specific individuals from certain times to access the portal—and to prevent others. For example, round portals must be perfectly circular. The slightest flaw would enable other consciousness to enter—even portions of planets, such as atmospheres to leak through to the other side.

The second dimension is used to make the portal move discreetly. However, viewed from the front it has depth, colour, motion and what looks like bar codes with a not dissimilar function.

The being explains that if you see one of these portals, and others don’t, it means it is for you to use, but if you approach and it moves back it may not be for you. Don’t rush it; it is alive.

The Creator explains that many portals are seen at night and are mistaken for a light such as in a neighbour’s window. Sometimes the portals, however, are used to pass something into our system or remove something.

Portals can be used for people who become stuck, such as Earth-bound spirits having died unexpectedly or traumatically. The diamond portal is the best of these examples. It allows very quick access and the transit distance is short in order to free the stuck person.

Another portal is spiral shaped. This is for beings who are going from many to become one, or vice versa, for example when an individual is forming several chains of lives—different incarnations of the individual. It can also be used for mass purposes.

This principle can also be used for creating more dimensions of, say, a planet. It is passed through a spiral. A soul could also do this, creating as many ‘braids’ as necessary—in a multiplicity of dimensions. Portals can be specially tailored for something, say, an individual or a flock of birds, etc.

We have briefly mentioned the Heart Council in earlier chapters. The purpose of this council is to oversee the applications of love energy as focussed through the heart centre of all beings. It does not control, only supports. The number of members in this council varies. There has never been more than 473 and never less than 3. Whatever the number though they all operate as the same single mind. They simultaneously function throughout the universe and beyond but at present planet Earth has the most attention since it is the most challenging, having been cut off from heart energy. They are directing more energy at Earth than elsewhere.

The Council sends inspiration to Creators and individuals but not the message. They can direct this inspiration with great accuracy; even to a particle. They are omnipresent.

As the heart energy returns to man, Mother Earth is releasing the feminine energy. This will result in a proper recognition of suffering on this planet and an end to it.

A spokesperson for the Heart Council stated that they were not in agreement with the explorer experiment, though they understood that the solution to the negativity would not be resolved if there were heart energy (since it would bypass the negativity). They wanted to keep discomfort below 10% and made it clear they do not support suffering even for learning purposes. our Creator wanted us to understand every ramification of the effects of suffering, to the benefit of all civilisations in the universe.

The Heart Council explained that if a person dies before their prearranged time, such as in a suicide, they provide help for these people. They say there is no proper ‘exit’ for them from Earth until the set time of death, which means the premature death will result in the person being earthbound for those remaining years between early death and the later, determined one. The Council provides what they call gold and white energy ribbons enabling the person to exit Earth to the correct dimension instead of waiting for the later time that was pre-arranged.

The Explorer material continues with channeling from the Creator of our Creator talking about our Creator—of our universe.

It says our Creator explored the inverse reality for aeons of time. This inverse reality is both all that could have been and all that might be—all possibilities. But it is not the present moment that one learns about through physical reality (in which a single selection—probability—is made).

Now the human explorer race was birthed by the decision of the Creator to explore all consequences of actions. The time line was taken out of its present time (it appears) and put into a loop. (Imagine following a straight line then going into a loop but returning to the straight line where one left.) The time within the loop is linear time giving a focus, single probability, the serial conscious mind, enabling an exploration of all consequences singularly (since there are billions of people all playing different roles to do this). It was achieved by freezing time at this point within the universal flow in which a short period on the straight line is expanded into millions of years in the loop. The loop occurs in the inverse reality and has some similarity to the notion of turning things inside out.

The decision was bound up with the Creator's wish to move on, to expand into Its unknown territories. once the decision was made, the Creator experienced a moment of ignorance followed by inspiration. That moment of ignorance was expanded out to form the whole of the history of the human explorer race—the loop. Keep in mind always that a portion of this Creator 'team' is us, whether we agree with the consequences of this decision or not at our level now. The intention was executed by the mechanism of the creation of the Council of Nine. These are nine focussing portions of Itself (in our universe) and are the fundamental building blocks of form and substance (without them the 'twigs', in the tree of life, would not be connected to the 'trunk'). This is also the root of the mystery of the number nine. The ramifications of this mechanism were that the nine were intellectually oriented (masculine energy, like left-brain thinkers rather than right-brain); a condition suitable to represent the 'subconscious' of the Creator, housing the pockets of negativity containing the unresolved problems of billions of civilisations in the universe. This also provided the basis for the ‘fall of man’ and the introduction of Lucifer to play the role of representing the negativity.

Included in the decision was the visitation of the feminine emissary (actually a vision of the nine representing the heart side of themselves) urging them to remedy the excess masculine energy—and implying it would be a disaster (presumably referring to the suffering). The Council of Nine failed to recognise the meaning of the message and the human collective experiment was allowed to be launched, based on this imbalance.

Now as we come out of the loop and back into the 4D spectrum this ‘subconscious’ element within the nine and the Creator and also humans, will become conscious, culminating in the resolution of negativity throughout the universe, and Creator moving on.

This included, in particular, the exploration of overuse of thought instead of feeling—and of course the consequences of this (hence the excessive masculine energy, the suppression of right-brain activity, blockage of the heart-energy centre, and inability to feel another person’s suffering). At some point the human must let go of the Andromeda mind contribution and return to heart knowingness.

This loop is the millions of years of our history in which all avenues of consequences (and therefore negativity) have been explored. The New-Age movement is bringing us out of the loop.

Note that the time loop is then uncreated. The wisdom gained from it remains but not the knowledge and memory. In this way, souls will not be wounded. Pain was not meant to be immortal. The Creator of our creation reiterates much of what the Creator of the Creator previously covered.

Thus though the decision was incorrect on the smaller scale it was considered correct in the bigger picture. Nevertheless, as indicated earlier, the Heart Council did not agree, in particular, since the suffering reached extremes.

The idea for our human race and its explorations drifted in like an inspiration that the Creator couldn’t allow to pass by. Thus although the human was endowed with feelings that were basically stronger than thought or the spirit, nevertheless, appropriate to the Council of Nine’s decision, man would be given an unconscious so that intellect and thought could be allowed to dominate, to learn the consequences of excess thought—including exploration of what everybody is not. But at the same time, as a result of the now unconscious feelings, all information, experiences would be broadcast out to the whole universe. At this time, our unconscious will not receive everything from the universe. All this knowledge and wisdom would be available later as man wakes up.

Creators everywhere know what is going on with this human species experiment; one that would explore all facets of discomfort. In addition, the discomfort would drive growth of the human race at a much faster pace. We have demonstrated that control won't work and we are expressing the Creator moving beyond limits. The past 2000 years has been allowed to be a crash course in this, resulting in greatly intensified discomfort.

The purpose is for the human race to ultimately be combined into a collective that can replace the Creator as It 'moves up'; becomes more.

The human race had to be motivated to become individualised; to create the necessary separation within the collective; to want to break away (but never basically) from Creator—and eventually take over the creation but be more than this Creator.

In fact this scenario is even more fantastic. That moment of ignorance created a shadow side to the Creator and the existence of a parallel anti-universe, manifesting more negativity in the sense that we have more positivity than negativity, but the parallel anti-universe has more negativity and less positivity. The Creator, who came from a group of other Creators, exploring ways to become more, allowed Itself to pass through a veil of ignorance and found a way to become more. Using a portion of Itself in expressing the human experiment, in which an initial state of perfection and synchronistic existence was natural (but was created without knowing how) It allowed the race to explore all ramifications of synchronicities, including all negative ones— like breaking down a perfect whole into parts so that the parts have to find their own way back, resulting in experiencing all paths, all unresolved problems, all mistakes and consequences, decisions, representations, copying truths, identities and the stuff of life itself. This is why man (with educated/programmed left- brain thinking) breaks down whole (holistic) truths into 'smaller truths' and strings them together by logic in seeking to understand whole truth; however, these parts only represent the whole—the whole is greater than the sum of the parts. Humans, then, by evolving from the third to the fourth dimension would resolve their own dualities and uncreate the parallel anti-universe. This is taking place now.

Thus the human consciousness becomes a matrix, the essence of life itself, and therefore not only attains Creator status but also becomes the creation. Our planet is consequently like a bottle neck between the universe and the shadow anti-universe, creating great interest throughout the universe as to whether Earth will fail in its purpose or resolve its dualities and uncreate the universe duality to the benefit of all species.

After the success of all this, the human explorer race will, as a single mind and as individuals, explore the universe and beyond, bringing wisdom in the form of an understanding of negativity and its proper place and application in the universe.

Note that within this broad description of the agenda of the human race are vital and significant other vast problems being explored, in particular, a resolution of the endless wars amongst ETs in search of the Holy Grail, mentioned in Chapter 2, to determine who will take control over Earth—a coveted piece of ‘real estate’—and its relationship with the universal Templar Complex (Reference: Anna Hayes’ material.)

THE GOD CONCEPT

Can we include a god in a book about extraterrestrials? The term ‘extraterrestrial’ means not of our planet; thus since god is supposed to be everywhere it would strictly not be appropriate. To a lesser degree we might also question whether the members of the spiritual government or the creators can be regarded as extraterrestrials. The point is that there is really no separation between anything, atoms or people, at the most fundamental level. There is no more separation than there is of, say, the mountain peaks rising above the surface of the ocean. They are apparently separate but beyond the barrier of the surface of the water (compare dimensional barriers) all the mountains are one within the body of the Earth and are merely projections from it. (The key is context: all separation is apparently absolute separation but only because the context of the separation is hidden or unconscious. When the context is known the separateness is seen as only relative—but wholeness will be found to be absolute.)

Our consciousness projects ‘back’ (or ‘upwards’) or more correctly ‘inwards’ through the spiritual government and creators to the Source. Clearly God is not an ET, though this definition that he is, would be corroborated by most current viewpoints. The ego sees God as separate—the ‘large mountain’ somewhere cross the ocean.

Let us take a look at this model of mountains and ocean in a little more detail since it gives us an insight into the understanding of ‘withinness’ as opposed to the external-world reality. This also gives us a relationship between the whole and parts and the role the barriers play. Again, imagine an ocean with mountain peaks above the surface, all separate. Let these peaks represent any thing, such as particles, atoms, people, objects, etc. Now, if we go below the surface (of the ocean) barrier we would see all the mountains connected in the body of the Earth. More accurately we should imagine many surfaces of the ocean, one on top of another. We go below (into slightly higher dimensions) the first surface and see the mountains are a little more connected or closer (some peaks in close proximity would be connected at this level). Then further down through more barriers, would be revealed increasing degrees of connectivity until it was found that all separation merged into the body of the Earth, the One.

In this analogy the religious population have been brainwashed with the idea that God is a very large mountain peak somewhere across the (first) surface of the ocean. Thus on this basis atheists are correct; there is no such God. We see, however, that the real God is, in this analogy, the body of the Earth. It is internal, within, and of inner space; each particle, person, etc. (mountain peak) is an extension of God.

Even in terms of theory, that we are all One is logical. (The concept of One has simplicity, perfection, symmetry, consistency, and generalisation.) Note that all the advanced ETs we have referred to acknowledge the Law of One.

It appears that this One is fundamentally impersonal—no right or wrong—and we might use the term unmanifest to describe it: a state of infinite potential, creativity and absolute subjectivity, containing all possibilities. We might reference the Urantia book that is stated to be written by 196 spiritual authors.

‘Touching the Infinite, we cannot find him out . . . the divine footsteps are not known. His understanding is infinite and his greatness is unsearchable . . . the blinding light of the Father’s presence appears as thick darkness to the unevolved’.

We receive some idea of the mystery of this condition from studying these viewpoints of the spiritual authors, clearly of very high intelligence. Let us continue with the mechanics of the Infinite becoming finite.

It learns about Itself by projecting out images of Itself: what we might call objectified fragments—initially large, which in turn fragment further, endlessly. Thus quality is turned into quantity but the subjectivity is still within each fragment with reducing degrees of freedom (reducing probabilities) as we go towards greater fragmentation (and lower frequencies). Each level of fragmentation has a barrier (in the lower levels, where we are, it is called the veil of forgetfulness). Without this barrier it would be all pointless since each fragment would know it was the source and just go back to it (automatically use it). The barrier hides the context and holds the separation in place.

The quantitative fragments interact with each other creating new qualities, new aspects of consciousness, new expressions of the infinite possibilities within. All this information ‘passes’ back into the One which is forever becoming and qualifying Itself.

Now it must be very difficult for people to arrive at an understanding or perception of the idea of God being everywhere, and in and of everything, although what we have stated covers this to some degree. This is not surprising considering that almost the entirety of our education is directed at utilising and developing left-brain thinking, which is fragmented and insists that the final analysis of all understanding is in the part, the particle, the smallest pieces of information (put together as a composite to form ‘wholeness’)—all manipulated by (3D) logic. The right brain is suppressed and also its relationship with the heart, of which the latter is apparently the equivalent of a vast information centre in that it connects to probably just about all knowledge. This right- brain ability is required to understand true unity or wholeness (same root as holy).

Let us describe a model for demonstrating the property of the God essence as being everywhere.

We could begin with the idea of a uniform consciousness spread out everywhere, like an ocean. There is nothing outside it. It is energy. It has a frequency spectrum (which could be regarded as in a virtual state—capable of being manifested). This ocean of consciousness could be the first energy manifestation of the unmanifest, the undefined, the Absolute, unqualified creativity of infinite potential and possibilities.

We now consider that this consciousness (which is function) condenses into structures; separate regions. An analogy for this would be to think of steam instead of consciousness but to ignore anything to do with temperature. We know that steam can condense into water, and water can freeze into ice. Thus we can imagine an ice structure, say, hollow inside and patterned so that it acts like a template when the steam flows through it.

Now let it be emphasised that the purpose of using these ingredients in the analogy is to show that the steam, in effect, created the ice structure, but the steam, which is infinitely flexible, is now formatted by its own structure—the ice mould.

Let us now return to the real situation of consciousness condensing structures. The importance is to recognise the rigidity of structure which enforces its shape on the infinitely flexible energy of consciousness flowing into it.

Now nature's computer system, or in other words, the universe, operates on geometrical intelligence. It is a frequency-coded universe. Shape of energy plus frequency (and dimension) is information.

This applies to all manifestations. Everything is or is represented by information in the form of packets of energy with shape, frequency and dimension.

We might wish to imagine a very complex structure—a system of geometric hollows and tubes. This could be the human body or brain. The purpose of structure is to cause consciousness to be formatted (focussed, limited, defined, etc.) in a manner to express appropriate information. The structure will extract (mould, focus, distribute, absorb, elicit) from consciousness the appropriate energy patterns, frequencies, according to the structure that consciousness created in the first place.

A learning pattern in skills is a structure, which when the input (consciousness) activates it, it selects a preset focus (governed by the learning pattern) of energy from consciousness so that consciousness does not have to concentrate hard and struggle to make accurate movements as in learning a skill, endeavouring to find the correct positions of limbs, etc.

Thus we can imagine a complex structure within this ocean of consciousness to be a personality, and at a distance, another somewhat different structure for another personality, etc. We can include all other forms, objects, atoms, etc. Hence consciousness is being formatted, defined, qualified by these structures that are enforcing their pattern. And a pattern means information, knowledge, memory, programs. An atom is a structure condensed by consciousness according to certain rules or programs, which in turn is a coded package of frequencies.

Consciousness is function and its creations are structure. A rough guide to this process would be that an ideation of consciousness creates a template (mould or format) which is a morphogenic field (a form-holding pattern). This pattern then attracts by resonance appropriate energy frequencies of consciousness to form the entity.

We can imagine now an ego structure developing around the personality, causing less consciousness to freely flow through the structure (the person).

What happens now is that the consciousness begins to think it is the structure since it is being the same shape and frequency—the medium poured into the template becomes the template.

This is the state of man today—he thinks he is a brain and a body. Note also how this can apply to more subtle areas such as when a learning pattern is activated. We think we are the learning pattern and don't realise there is actually an interface between the learning pattern structure and the input function. We identify with the learning pattern—actually think we are creating at that moment complex movements when in fact we are using the machinery to do it for us.

The next step is to envisage one of these structured personalities as becoming enlightened and breaking through the ego structure. The consciousness energy now flows freely and the individual realises he or she is not the structure but consciousness.

Now since this consciousness is everywhere, it can be another's viewpoint while simultaneously retaining the information in its own structure. Note that this gives a reality on the spiritual notion that God is everywhere and everything; it is all one thing—one type of energy that is basically whole.

This model is very simplified. It is not ideal in terms of tests of truth in physics. There is an apparent strange disparagement between the consciousness energy and the abrupt change to a rigid structure, such as the brain or body.

We have to imagine a potential range of structures from the heavy 3D one, such as the physical body, through other structures for memory, programs, mind, and also etheric, emotional, spiritual structures (bodies), etc. ranging up through dimensional structures of greater expansiveness, probabilities, more flexibility, greater dimensions and back to the infinite form of the energy of consciousness (capable of being any information). That is, a complete range of structures will be inherent from low frequency, heavy density, to high frequency finer structures (containing many more probabilities) merging back to the characteristics of whole. Now, in addition, one should imagine the larger structures housing the smaller ones—that is, the smaller ones are inside, within, the larger ones; consciousness is within consciousness. For example, the lower-self or soul extension is within the soul, which in turn is within the higher-self or oversoul, going back to the One.

All is a focus, however; a framework or format of consciousness. Thus all forms of consciousness are equivalent to hypnotic states. We are hypnotised within the third dimension. A learning pattern hypnotises one to focus energies in a certain way. A fixed belief system is a hypnotic trance-like condition.

On this basis, it means that one can only know what the consciousness energy can be. One can't know what is outside the focus or framework unless the consciousness expands into it. And the focus itself is achieved and held by resonance of frequencies within the template. If we change our frequencies the third dimension will change, just as one changes channel on the television.

We see that at the level of the Source there is no separation of anything. The projection from that 'Oneness' is nonlinear but by putting in barriers (veils of forgetfulness) we create the appearance of linearity and separateness. For example, if only the ground-floor workers in a company were visible, then the information from the president, executive and managers, etc. would be nonlinear as received by the workers. The behaviour of the workers at the ground-floor level wouldn't make sense with respect to an observer of them only (except during a break), since they are receiving 'invisible' information acting on whole groups. During work time they are all controlled by wholeness, that is, organised by managers, executives, president, regarding the development of the company products.

These separate fragments (the Trinity, the Elohim, any spiritual being, humans, particles, etc.) are in a constant state of learning from this objective ('projected out') representation of Itself, which activates, extracts and discovers (inherent within Its subjectivity) new states of consciousness. This 'knowledge' is 'returned' to the One, developing a Personal God which is forever becoming. It won't mind if its fragments learn all about negativity in the process. But as a safeguard it apparently has designed into life the property of duality. This type of duality only occurs on the lower levels since negativity can exist only at this level. The two poles of the duality allow one pole to express the negativity, and the other to act as a debt (it is a fourth-to-third dimensional mirror-image of the other). Thus the person will have to pay it back—the negative action returns to one and the two poles come together seeking wholeness and unity. And all negativity of this kind is cancelled.

Note that everything that is projected out, that is, all energy, can be considered to be structure. Only the God essence, the unmanifest, non-energy aspect, the Oneness within this structure, is function.

The Trinity is probably the first ‘fragmentation’ or projection from the One. (There could be many such projections for different universes—which don’t concern us.) The next projected level would be nine entities—or seven, according to the Urantia book. Both are mathematical. The nine (say) then projects further, and so on, down a hierarchy of decreasing frequencies, dimensions, and increasing fragmentation.

We see that in effect the Infinite reflects outwards Its inner condition in order to know Itself. Each of the fragments will similarly reflect out the inner-condition for further fragmentation. When, however, we come down to the third dimension—the bottom rung of the ‘ladder’—where energies are out of phase, that is, flows are not in phase with the Infinite, then the reflection will include expressions of misaligned energies. Thus problems are reflected out in the third dimension, in addition to harmonic inner-states.

If everyone carefully observed the extraordinary synchronicities throughout each day (mainly negative for humans’ present condition) it would become apparent that only a whole, one condition with the ability to think infinite things simultaneously could bring about coincidental events, even of a mundane nature, at a moment’s notice. Everything is in fact synchronistic (even when negative). And everything ‘begins’ with a whole, or the One.

Almost magically we are selecting from this wholeness (of infinite probabilities), data and experience according to our inner-condition. This would be the true meaning of the statement that all knowledge and energy is contextual—what one observes is influenced by the observer. Thus the God concept gives us the final interrelationship of all things.

EPILOGUE

Having covered extraterrestrial interactions with Earth and related spiritual phenomena we can elaborate on the introductory theme in the foreword. One might say that the ET connection represents man's salvation on this planet. Certainly this would be true in its broadest sense as we include the higher, spiritual realms. To connect with extraterrestrials is an intrinsic part of man's evolution or ascension—ETs and evolution are not separable. True evolution is accompanied by releasing right-brain activity and the opening of the heart centre that automatically brings in perception and awareness of ETs. This means consciousness is now being formatted (though a less limited format) to embrace perception of vibrations beyond the surface, the third dimension. In fact this right-brain/heart perception is capable of knowing by resonance with the universe, creating instantaneous understanding of even holistic patterns of information without the left-brain breakdown analysis. One will be able to feel a pattern of vibrations and be able to read it; it will translate from emotion to intellect, far surpassing anything the left-brain intellect of today could do (one could read the vibrations of an atom by resonating with it (being it) and then understand it intellectually). The universe will never be understood until this faculty is functioning adequately.

We mentioned in the foreword that our species is involved in a motion from the 3D spectrum to the 4D spectrum. Current science vaguely acknowledges the 3D spectrum, though not recognising that it implies the presence of the 4D spectrum, nor recognising the nature of such energies.

The energies of these spectra, 3D to 4D, are scalar/quantum/ higher-dimensional waves and are basic to the familiar electromagnetic spectrum. The purpose of human experiences in this 3D reality is to increase understanding of the nature and behaviour of energy (such as being negative or positive) and ultimately recognise that some energy promotes well being, peace, high intelligence and freedom from suffering, and other types of energy set the foundations for the opposite condition, in particular, negativity and suffering. It is common for ET races to exist in a state of bliss; each individual making ideal selections without having learned this (by evolution), as described in the chapter on synchronistic civilisations. Thus there is no experience of the consequences of mistakes and ignorance, or an understanding of negativity.

What we are stating then is that the human race at the mass conscious level has volunteered to explore a third-dimensional spectrum with its lower frequencies and fragmentation. But this had to be created, and it had to be done in combination with the 'veil of forgetfulness' or ignorance; that is, it had to be presented as an effect (as though not agreed upon) through the Luciferic energy. This energy encouraged independence and individuality but severed individuals from their natural source. This separation was further strengthened by acts of negativity by man through unawareness (loss of right brain and heart) of another's suffering.

This formed an ideal arena for the negative aliens and Dark forces in general; a habitat for them to thrive parasitically on humans and to be able to play out their obsession for control and greed with an opportunity for them to reverse their condition. Thus the Dark against the Light is all about the Dark forces stopping man from ascending into the 4D spectrum with its different properties of harmony and freedom from discomfort.

Many different tools are used by these negative sources to hold back the human species from this movement into higher frequencies; a transition which would put the human race out of reach of the Dark influences with their low and fragmented vibrations. Let us now briefly consider activities which create a barrier between the 3D spectrum and the 4D spectrum achieved by mind control and, in particular, manipulating the belief system of the populace.

We may note that art and music is being degraded. The reason is that when humans experience good art or music, their consciousness (which is a potential spectrum in itself) will duplicate and resonate with these high vibrations (and greater unity/ wholeness) of good music and art. This is why such an experience feels good; one's consciousness is resonating in the 4D spectrum or above. Degradation of art and music by adulteration from other forms of communication (not aesthetics), brings the frequencies down into 3D.

What about education? The same result is achieved by organising educational materials and methods to develop the left brain only (mechanistic and not humanistic) and to disable the right brain (also keeping the heart centre shut down). The left- brain consciousness works in smaller units (fragmentation), forms the basis of language and, in particular, our (linear, 3D) logic. This gives rise to a method of acquiring knowledge by making copies of experience and storing them away in the mind's filing system, forming models, etc. (objectivity). It is all representational knowledge, not direct as can be achieved by means of the right brain (and heart). The holistic aspects of the right brain's function have a higher frequency, resonating in the 4D spectrum and are thus capable of seeing and understanding beyond the surface. The left-brain intellectual thinking, which breaks down wholes into parts (but does not build them back up again to equal the same whole), loses the greater truth.

Now our science not only brings the population many obvious benefits but it is set up to deny the 4D spectrum and put a firm lid on our 3D reality. Anyone who introduces concepts, which penetrate this barrier, or inventions that utilise the 4D spectrum for over-unity capabilities (free-energy devices) are suppressed— whatever it takes to stop them.

In spite of the use of the concept 4D, in Einstein's relativity, the theory only references unwittingly the 3D spectrum. The fact that it is a brilliant work, made it ideal to be deified and 'Einstein' made into a household name, defying anyone to contradict the theory—but unknown to the public or academia, enforcing a closure of 3D and sealing off the 4D spectrum into oblivion.

Thus relativity is a good representation of the illusions of our 3D reality. It will prove itself by experiment since only the context of 3D is taken. Anything will self-prove relative to its own context. And no, within this 3D-created reality, bodies cannot exceed the velocity of light, and also this velocity is constant. Nevertheless, if we reference the context of the 4D spectrum (which carries the 3D spectrum, just as a volume 'carries' a surface), light speed can be exceeded up to instantaneity and will be found not to be constant. All knowledge is contextual. Science has played a major role in arresting the expansion of consciousness (since there is a symbiosis between science (knowledge) and consciousness), over-emphasising the Newtonian reality and supporting Darwinian-based theories.

We hardly need mention the role the media plays, with its programs and news releases (merchants of chaos), promoting negative, low, fragmented vibrations.

As a final addition to our short list of methods of blocking man's ascension we see that synonymous with repressing intuition and right-brain activity we have had suppression of women, in general, who are 'notorious' for knowing without logic and possessing greater intuition, thus invalidating the control mechanism of objectivity and left-brain thinking.

Expanding on this, we have a major factor here, restricting man to the 3D spectrum which is through the manipulation of the masculine and feminine energy. The physics of each of these energies, which contain spectra, flows and polarisation, is quite different from one another. Note that a true male is not masculine, but 50% masculine energy and 50 % feminine energy (the ideal). For the female it could be up to 100% feminine. Excess masculine energy will cause distortions, producing aberration and a deviation from the norm, which is what we have today. The feminine energy has been suppressed in both males and females. A civilisation operating on extreme masculine energy such as the Orion warriors unless powerfully ordered and controlled (as they are) will self-destruct.

The masculine energy brings intellect, logic (3D), material attributes and ability to put ideas into action. It encourages separation, and the warrior instinct, but creates growth through rapid change. This energy tends to be restless and is subconsciously seeking the Source.

Civilisations which are based on extreme feminine energy of 100% are apparently common and result in a harmonious, blissful and benevolent condition but no change—they may be stagnant for millions of years. The feminine energy has the intuition and inspiration, the sustaining and nurturing energies and is with Source, and is capable of initiating, but the masculine energy is required for action, technology and growth.

What are the differences in properties between the 4D and 3D spectrums? In terms of physics the frequency increases from 3D to 4D and the correlation of energy (harmony/wholeness) increases. In addition, there are greater degrees of freedom and variety in a similar manner that man's 3D reality has more degrees of behaviour and choices than has a plant. In terms of individuals and civilisations, positive synchronicity will dominate almost totally in 4D (as described in the chapter on synchronistic civilisations). In ascending from the 3D to the 4D spectrum the subconscious storage of negative patterns/experiences will surface. There will be no subconscious mind of this kind; there will be perception of another's viewpoint or suffering, except that there would then be no suffering (mild discomfort will be retained for growth purposes according to Zoosh). Telepathy will develop and the civilisation will exist in peace and harmony without fear and control. Linear time will 'fold' into vertical time, and multidimensional experience will manifest, resulting in consciousness focusing in the moment and not on the past or future.

These transformations are expected to speed up after the major planetary and cosmic convergences in the year 2012 accompanied by affects of the entrance into the photon belt which will aid the process of awakening by converting the subconscious to the conscious and bringing in the higher frequencies. Individuals unprepared through ignorance, selfishness, disbelief will fall into a 'descending' group and not make the ascension into the 4D spectrum. This group of people will continue with material 3D lives until the opportunity arises again after the next major cycle of 26,556 years.

The aliens, along with their puppets, the covert government, are not likely to succeed in preventing the creation of, or access to, the parallel 'heaven on Earth' of the 4D spectrum—there is too much at stake now. But just as they will influence the number of people in the descending group, the enlightened ETs, through allowed interventions and making available key knowledge, will greatly aid the number qualifying for ascension.

What can one do about it? All one has to do initially is to become sufficiently informed (not of course from the media and controlled sources), even if only in a detached manner at first, until convinced of the truth of these things. Once this is achieved, one will automatically attract appropriate steps to take—via books, contacts, therapies—and develop a subjective reality, giving actual spiritual benefits and enlightenment.

As a final point and brief summary, the main source of barriers to our ascension, apart from the population complacency and unawareness, would be the resistance groups of the Anunnaki, the Draconians (Dracos, Drakons) and probably now least, the Zeta/Greys. Although Earth is a desirable possession regarding its rich store of ores, minerals and quartz, etc., the ETs greater interest is in its time portals. Earth is riddled with dimensional gateways or stargates, like a central junction box to the inner- pathways of the universe (the Universal Templar Complex). Note that the Anna Hayes' material in this book is minuscule compared with the information in her books, audio and video tapes, seminars, etc. and the reader is urgently recommended to study this unsurpassed source of ET material and multidimensional physics.

APPENDIX

FREQUENCY SPECTRUM

This is one of the most important concepts, consequently we shall attempt to give a sufficiently clear understanding of it for the layman.

A spectrum is like a wide waveband of many frequencies. Picture a row of wavy lines, one on top of the other. These are energy vibrations with a certain rate of oscillation, that is, frequency. As we ‘go up’ this spectrum the frequencies increase. How can a reality—a total existence—be structured out of such frequencies?

Firstly, realise that everything is an expression of energy. There are two fundamental manifestations of this energy: 1) waves propagating through space, and 2) trapped waves forming stable structures, such as particles, matter and objects.

Thus it is all wave motion; even solid objects are basically a pattern of waves. Physicists have been known to refer to matter as trapped energy/waves/ light. That is, waves in opposition (counteracted) of the same frequency and in step will create stationary waves—the condition for stable matter or structures.

Now space is filled with infinite waves; we only detect a fraction of a percent. Many are higher frequency waves. We can now imagine that some of these waves when ‘trapped’ (that is counteracted by one another) will form atoms, molecules, and matter or visible objects. But many waves of higher frequency will also form invisible matter. (This is not dependent on the atomic configuration of our third dimension, of which the atom is only the centre of a 4D to 3D vortex, originating higher dimensionally.) Thus we see now how a mind can be an invisible stable structure and that, in fact, invisible (to us) entities can exist.

We can now understand why a spectrum of frequencies is the means from which a reality is created. In fact, we live in a frequency (coded) universe. Everything one can conceive is a packet of these frequencies. Amazingly our quantum physics can handle this with its wave function but unfortunately at this development of physics most quantum physicists don't consider the wave function as real, owing to its mode of formulation, and it is considered only mathematically applicable.

THE 12-STRAND DNA

Substantial basic information is given in the book Voyagers, volume 2, on the 12-strand DNA. Humans have two biological strands, structured in the double-helix manner. In addition, we have strands three to twelve but these are 'unplugged'—they are not active. None of these are biological but are electromagnetic, extending into higher frequencies from strand three to strand twelve—they would be patterned within space, and nested internally nonlinearly. The electromagnetic strands may be described as etheric, and there could be considered to be twelve etheric in number and two physical, since each of the physical biological strands have etheric counterparts.

The DNA is made up of minute templates of crystallised frequencies (sound and light magnetically grouped into frequency patterns—remember all matter and energy is in effect made up of frequency packets). These are called DNA Seed Codes. Crystallised energy is in effect condensed energy—sometimes these structures, depending on the frequencies, manifest as visible and detectable matter.

These seed codes are templates for DNA strands and consist of 12 magnetic particle units (called Base Codes) and 12 electrical antiparticle units (called Acceleration Codes).

Now a Crystal Seal keeps the 12 particles and 12 antiparticles separate in each strand. Each seal has the frequencies of each strand. The seals keep the particles polarised (not unified) and locked into that dimensional strand—the particles and antiparticles are prevented from coming together and being unified. This creates and isolates the spacetime conditions for that dimension.

When a Seed Crystal Seal is released, the 12 particles and 12 antiparticles fuse (particle to antiparticle). These are positioned 'horizontally' and this fusing or integration results in a frequency increase.

Now there are also 12 Star Crystal Seals in the DNA that keep particles and antiparticles separate in adjacent strands. Each Star Crystal Seal is composed of half the frequencies of the DNA strand below and half of those of the DNA strand above. These Star Crystal Seals are positioned ‘vertically’ between the strands (actually going inwards).

There are also 12 dormant codes (genes). If the Star Crystal Seals are not activated, the dormant codes will remain dormant. The 12 dormant genes are called Fire Codes, or the Silica Matrix. When a Star Crystal Seal is activated a dormant gene is released. This then allows a Star Crystal Seal, which is located between the strands, to be released, enabling the upper strand to fuse with the one below—the DNA strands plug into one another. Thus there is a vertical and horizontal unification and integration taking place.

Due to genetic mutation only a small proportion of humans carry the full Silica Matrix. Under these conditions the Fire Codes (of the Silica Matrix) are broken down by distortions in the DNA. The Star Crystal Seeds cannot be activated without the functional Silica Matrix and the body cannot achieve cellular transmutation. The distortions, however, can be corrected. Thus correcting the distortions enables the full Silica Matrix to exist—that is, the dormant genes can now be released when the Star Crystal Seeds are activated.

In summary, a single Seed Crystal Seal when released will enable the Base Codes to plug into one another in one strand. Then the Star Crystal Seal will release, which separates a strand from an upper (higher-frequency) strand, enabling the upper strand to plug into the lower one, and so on for the other strands.

In the years 2012 to 2017 the so-called stellar bridge will form, that is, frequency alignment of the spirals/vortices of certain galaxies will occur with the spiral/vortex of our solar system and the spiral/vortex of Earth, including higher-dimensional counterparts of Earth. These are called stellar spirals. Their alignment will download frequencies from the higher dimensions into the Earth’s grid, creating the opportunity for DNA advancement and ascension of consciousness.

THE ARC OF THE COVENANT

The book Voyagers, volume 2, covers this subject in some detail. It explains that the true information on the nature and meaning of the Arc has been withheld from man for a long time. The Arc of the Covenant wasn’t the chest containing the Rod and the Staff, though there were powers associated with the Rod and the Staff, nor was it the Ankhs, possessing even greater potencies. The Arc is an energy device involving much more multidimensional concepts.

The Arc was created 840,000 years ago; originally named the Arch of the Covenant of Palaidor (an agreement amongst the Palaidorians—consisting of several races—to help humans). It is a portal bridge between the Sphere of Amenti in the Andromeda galaxy and Earth's core via the Great pyramid to enable the third seeding of the human race to take place.

Originally the pyramid was meant as a harmonic resonance chamber for pulling in multidimensional energies from deep space and from Sirius B using a great Ankha in the capstone, with the additional purposes to fortify the portal of the Arc of the Covenant and serve as an interdimensional teleportation centre. It is situated on the heart chakra of the Earth.

Apparently Noah's Arc was not a boat. It refers to the Arc of the Covenant in the Great Pyramid, and the description in the Bible refers to the passageway leading to the Arc. Noah sheltered in the inner-Earth from the Great Flood via the pyramid. This understanding of the Arc is revealed in Howard Middleton- Jones' and James Wilkie's book Giza-Genesis. It is also related in Anna Hayes' material.

SPHERE OF AMENTI

According to the Guardian Alliance, about half a billion years ago the 'fall' of man occurred through racial conflict on a more harmonic parallel Earth called Tara. The planet was destroyed and, moreover, individuals were disconnected from their mass mind. In order for humans to recover from this and return to their original status and harmonic planet, a transplant was agreed upon by several ET races called the Paladorians to provide a soul matrix or collective state for the humans, which had been severed in the 'fall'. This is the Sphere of Amenti (or 'Pearly Gates of Heaven' in the Bible); the equivalent of a spiritual portal to enable man's ascension (between 2012 and 2017) to fourth and fifth-dimensional Earth. Thus the Sphere of Amenti, consisting of the souls of the Paladorians, was entered into Earth's core about 550 million years ago.

Owing to the destructive intentions ET resistance groups had towards the Sphere of Amenti in their bid to prevent human's ascension, it had to be transferred to the Andromeda galaxy (this severed the second seeding portal).

The third seeding of the human race could not now take place owing to the severed second seeding due to the sphere of Amenti being disconnected from Earth and residing in the Andromeda galaxy. A portal bridge was constructed by the Guardian organisations to enable the third seeding to take place. This is the Arc of the Covenant and the entrance has been sealed in the Great pyramid.

MORPHOGENIC FIELDS

The morphogenic field is a form-holding template through which matter forms and events manifest. Thought creates morphogenic-field imprints within consciousness. When such an imprint is created it draws frequency patterns into itself, expanding and building up to become matter.

THE PHOTON BELT

By means of satellite instrumentation, astronomers in 1961 discovered what appeared to be an unusual nebula. We normally understand the nebula phenomenon as a vast cloud-like mass of gas or dust. This one, however, appeared to have anomalous properties and was named the Golden Nebula. Our planet Earth orbits the Sun once a year but our solar system as a whole also traverses an orbit in this section of the galaxy with a period of about 24,000 years. There are many other solar (star) systems in this cyclic motion (just as there are numerous planets orbiting the Sun). The Pleiades, about 400 light years from us is part of this system and in fact our solar system orbits the central sun of the Pleiades, Alcyone. The photon belt surrounds the Pleiades system. In fact it consists of many photon bands emanating from the centre of the galaxy, associated with the spiral arms of the galaxy.

Thus our solar system, and therefore planet Earth, takes some 24,000 years to come back to its same point in this particular orbit. Picture several star systems in a massive orbit, but now envisage overall a toroid or doughnut-shaped cloud cutting across these orbiting star systems. This is the photon belt, or a photon band. This means our solar system goes through the belt twice each cycle of 24,000 years (that is, every half cycle). The thickness of the photon cloud is such that it takes about 2000 years for our solar system to pass through, and therefore about 10,000 years between each encounter with this belt ( $2 \times 10,000$  plus  $2 \times 2000 = 24,000$  years). Note that Zoosh states that our passage through the photon band could be much less than 2000 years.

The photon belt is an immense region of space which is radiating intense electromagnetic radiation throughout the visible spectrum and beyond, into high-frequency invisible light; even including some x-ray spectra. Reference has already been made through the media to huge increases in intensity of dangerous radiation entering through the holes in the ozone layer in certain regions of our planet.

Nevertheless it appears that for mankind on this planet the photon belt encounter will be essentially a spiritual experience—but this really depends on man. If we are sufficiently evolved at the time, great advancements will occur in our consciousness as we attune to the high-frequency photon rays. If we are negative, that is, possess too many lower vibrations, the result of selfish actions, we are not expected to survive the radiation. In other words, there will be a natural spiritual selection.

This interaction with the photon belt has been referred to in channeling as the Christus. Moreover, the event is supposed to relate to the true nature of the ascension or rapture—a prophecy of Christianity. Psychological characteristics of entering the belt are the effect of uprooting hidden, secret, or withheld material, bringing it to the surface for transmutation. This means psychological and physical disease patterns will be forced to the surface, that is, the conscious mind. This will give tremendous opportunity to make advancements but also where there is too much to handle will cause illness, depressions, disease and death.

FREQUENCY FENCE

This is a multipurpose frequency-control device. As utilised by negative aliens, it is designed to scramble human brain-wave patterns, thereby blocking out frequencies coming from sources outside of the third dimension, such as from enlightened ETs and from the collective soul matrix.

Its purpose is to sever the soul mind and reconnect it to a group mind network. This ‘splicing’ of an individual from the soul matrix can be a positive action to assist the species. The Sphere of Amenti would be an example of a benevolent use of this technique, but as stated it can also be applied to disable individuals from connecting to their greater identity.
